How Big Is Texas?

HENRY FORD does not like war, he's for peace. In fact, he financed a famous peace ship—now he is financing airships that will be useful if war comes to this country. Every Ford commercial airship can be changed into a fight airship in three hours.

AND Ford says that war is coming. War against the United States. We are deeply hated and envied by foreign countries. Envy and hate are not far apart.

QUEEN MARIE says she wants to see "Texas," where there is enough space to give almost every human being in the world one square yard of territory to stand upon.

HER majesty of Rumania has still something to learn about the size of Texas. All Europe's people could live there comfortably and raise enough with intensive cultivation to feed them all.

All of the sixteen hundred million people on earth could stand, at the same time on Staten Island, in New York harbor.

PROF DAHLGREN of Princeton has discovered the astroscopus fish, which shoots a 50-volt electric shock from its eyes.

Astroscopus means "star gazer." The fish lying on the bottom has eyes on top of its head, [illegible] prey or enemies. The shock charge keeps enemies away.

Men have become star-gazers, scientists say, after thousands of centuries of evolution. It was partly the desire to look up at the stars, partly watching for enemies above the high grass that made us finally stand erect on our hind legs. They say so, but you need not believe it.

A SOCIALIST member of parliament says many British statesmen are drunk in parliament, which makes members of this ancient body angry.

Not so long ago drunkenness in the British parliament, especially on the side of the Tories, who dined late and well, was extremely common. T. P. O'Connor, oldest member of the house, remembers it well. And the rule by which the members sit in parliament with their hats on, is supposed to have started because it was a nuisance to remind all the drunken members to take their hats of when the speaker entered. A story tells of the great Pitt, who had kept his hat on and was asked whether he was aware of the presence of the speaker. Instantly taking off his hat he replied, courteously, that he repretted to say he was aware of the presence of two speakers.

FIRST COLD DAY

Cleveland and Other Ohio Cities Expect Increase.

Coincident with the fall of snow and the first cold day of the autumn season, coal prices soared to wartime levels in East Liverpool today.

Retail dealers here quoted Pittsburgh district coal at 32 cents per bushel. Up until the latter part of last week deliveries were being made at 23 and 24 cents.

Wagon Mine Prices.

On the other hand, wagon mines in southern Columbiana county were accepting orders for run of mine at 20 cents and for lump coal at 22 cents per bushel, delivered in East Liverpool district.

East Liverpool coal yard owners said their 32-cent price is largely due to a shortage which has developed with cold weather, when domestic demands are heavy and also to the fact that approximately 2,000,000 tons is being exported weekly to England where miners are out on strike.

Operators in the Pittsburgh district gave no reasons for the increased prices on deliveries shipped from the mines after last Friday, dealers said. No intimation was given as to how long the high prices would prevail.

Orders for Limited Quantities.

"We do not understand the increase in coal prices unless it is because of the large shipments which are being made to England," was the statement of officials of the Enterprise Coal company. "Coal is not very plentiful and orders are being received only for limited quantities."

William T. Anderson, East End, who also deals in Pittsburgh coal, said: "We are having trouble in getting shipments and deliveries are being made as fast as the cars come in. We have not one lump in our yards this morning but expect shipments today."

M. G. Martin, who operates a mine about five miles back of Wellsville, quoted coal at 20 and 22 cent prices for East Liverpool deliveries. Until

Mrs. George O. Thurn Will Lecture at Daily Sessions at 2:30 p. m. in Eagles' Temple Next Week.

The Review-Tribune, realizing that the culinary art and how to cook foods the best, the easiest and daintiest, is most important, today completed arrangements for a free cooking school to take place next week, beginning Tuesday, Nov. 2, with daily sessions at 2:30 o'clock in the Eagles' temple, Broadway.

The cooking school has become a necessity and not a luxury as most people thought when first it was presented. The housewife was quick to realize that she could obtain great results and knowledge by attending these cooking schools. And now she finds it part of her yearly business to go to the cooking school and get all the new wrinkles that have come out.

Ever keeping an eye on this modern trend of our fast developing country the Review-Tribune has stressed the importance of bringing this free cooking school to East Liverpool with the idea in mind that it will be of great benefit to all and the housewife in particular.

The lecturer will be Mrs. George O. Thurn, of countrywide fame. Having visualized that the women of America are ever alert to improve their homes. Mrs. Thurn has given much time and thought to the gathering of

G. O. P. MEETING

Greets Electors in Diamond, Then Speaks at Headquarters.

United States Senator Frank B. Willis, Republican, will be re-elected over Atlee Pomerene, his Democratic opponent, by a majority of more then 100,000 at the election on Tuesday, November 23, Senator Simeon D. Fess, Yellow Springs, told an enthusiastic crowd at a rally in Republican headquarters, West Fifth street, Saturday night.

The senator from Ohio was introduced by Attorney W. H. Vodrey.

Fess came to East Liverpool Saturday night from Columbus. The local reception committee met him at Wellsville and brought him to this city by automobile. Following the meeting he was taken to Beaver by motor where he made connections with a train for Pittsburgh where he spent the week-end.

Attorney [illegible] introduced Senator Fess in the Diamond before the meeting at the West Fifth street headquarters. The senator spoke for only a minute, stating that he was under instructions from physicians to make no outdoor talks as he was booked for meeting up until the night before the election.

Cites G. O. P. Achievements.

Fess declared that his feeling toward East Liverpool was more than friendly inasmuch as two of his sons, Lowell and Sumner Fess, were former residents here—the former as a professor in the high school nad the latter as a student and graduate of the high school. He then launched a discussion of the achievements of the Republican administration since 1921.

When President Harding took office less than six years ago, United States war debt amounted to approximately $26,500,000,000, Fess asserted. Since then the debt has been cut to approximately $19,000,000,000 and during the

ALLEGED 'TRIGGER MAN' IN MELLETT SLAYING READY TO UNFOLD PLOT

Startling Disclosures in Murder of Crusading Publisher of Canton News, Who Was Assassinated Three Months Ago, are Predicted by Prosecutor C. B. McClintock.

ELUSIVE SUSPECT IS SURRENDERED AT TWIN ROCKS, PA., BY BROTHERS

Detective Ora Slater, of Cincinnati, and Stark County Official are Believed to Have Made Agreement Not to Seek Death Penalty for Ex-convict if He Testifies.

CANTON, Ohio, Oct. 25.—Pat McDermott will talk before the day is ended.

This was the prediction this morning of Prosecutor C. B. McClintock, in charge of Stark county's investigation into the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher.

"McDermott has admitted that he knows these fellows," McClintock said, referring to Ben Rudner and Louis Mazer, jointly indicted for the murder with Pat, and Steve Kascholk, a Nanty Glo, Pa., miner, held in jail as a state's witness.

Grilling of Pat was scheduled to begin late this morning after McClintock and Detective Ora Slater had completed their rest, following their long auto journey through the rain from Johnstown, Pa., to Canton last night.

McClintock predicted that the Mellett murder will be cleared up by January 1, when he leaves office.

Arrest Clinches State's Case.

"Pat," he announced, "has told us enough to prove convincingly that he is the 'key man' in the case. His arrest has clinched things and before we are through we will have the goods on everyone involved. I think Pat is going to talk freely before we are through without examination.

"Pat did not tell us anything about the actual murder but his answers and his attitude prove conclusively that he knows about it and that he is only waiting for the proper time to talk.

"He was surrendered by his relatives without any promises except that he will get a square deal but he is trying to get more assurance before he tells his story."

Pat apparently has been in close touch with Mazer and Rudner through some unknown source, McClintock said.

"Pat told us," he continued, "that Rudner's brother is running his hardware store in Massillon, a fact which we had not learned yet. Just now we are much interested in learning who was keeping Pat in Cleveland and paying for the apartment where he hid himself and so successfully eluded police and others while the $10,000 reward hung over his head.

McDarmott's relatives are urging him to "come clean." His brother, Bernard, who made the trip here from Pennsylvania yesterday, will represent him for the present. Bernard McDermott has used all his influence to have him talk and tell all he knows about the case, according to McClintock.

"There will be no hurry in arraigning Pat," McClintock said.

Rudner, in Stark county jail with McDermott, was hopeful today after he had learned of Pat's apprehension. Jailers said, he was more cheerful than at any time since his arrest several weeks ago.

Rudner Is Hopeful.

"When Pat talks," Rudner said, "Stark county will lose another boarder."

McDermott, who entered the jail last night, almost in a state of collapse, relaxed during the night and was in fine spirits this morning. For the first time in three months he slept with the knowledge that he was free from his pursuers, both officers of the law and members of the vice ring who might be interested in putting him out of the way.

He is alone on the second floor of the jail, the other prisoners in this section having been transferred to the first floor. He has a large light

President's Right To Remove Federal Officer is Upheld

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The power of the president to remove a federal officer without the consent of the senate was sustained by the supreme court today, thus ending a dispute as to constitutional rights that was waged between the legislative and executive branches of the government for half a century.

The decision was handed down in the case of Frank S. Myers, now deceased, former postmaster at Portland, Ore. Myers was appointed by President Wilson in 1917, and removed from office three years later, without the consent of the senate. Because his appointment had to be confirmed by the senate, his heirs contended, in a suit for back pay, that his removal without the senate's consent was not constitutional.

BY WILLIAM S. NEAL.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Discarding their reported indifference toward liquor referendum the drys have opened a smashing offensive to win in five states on November 2, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League of America, disclosed today.

The drays have named California, Colorado, Montana, Nevada and Missouri as their battle-grounds, Wheeler said. He declared prohibition forces are making no fight in New York, Illinois and Wisconsin.

While the dry "ace' was issuing his rosy forecast, G. C. Hinckley, secretary of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, declared a survey assured the wets of victory in seven of the eight referendum states.

The wet organization has repudiated the proposed Missouri referendum, which is in dispute, as unfair to wets and drys alike, Hinckley said.

Nearly one-fourth of the voters of the country will face the wet and dry question when they enter the voting booth in the referendum states.

"We have entered the fight with local forces in those states where repeal of state enforcement laws is threatened and in Nevada where it is proposed to petition congress to call a constitutional convention," said Wheeler.

"We will win in every one of them."

The drys favor holding a referendum in Missouri, Wheeler said. He hinted at the possibility of court action to force the question on the ballot.

"I have just returned from a trip to the Pacific coast and was in five of the referendum states," said Hinckley. "On the basis of personal observation and reports to headquarters, I am confident the wets will carry seven states. Because of the way the question is framed, wets and drys will vote alike in Missouri, if the referendum is held."

He said the wet and dry fight is particularly bitter in California and Colorado.

Repeal of state enforcement laws is proposed in California, Colorado and Montana and this question is included with others in Missouri, he said.

An overwhelming sentiment for modification of the Volstead act exists in New York, Illinois and Wisconsin, Hinckley asserted.

Congressional Campaign.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The campaign to win control of the seventieth congress turned into its final week today, featured by President Coolidge's abandonment of his previously announced policy of aloofness from the partisan struggle.

While he has largely refrained from giving specific endorsement to any of the Republican candidates for re-election, President Coolidge had made an exception in the case of Senator W. M. Butler of Massachusetts. In a let-

Greets Electors in Diamond, Then Speaks at Headquarters.

United States Senator Frank B. Willis, Republican, will be re-elected over Atlee Pomerene, his Democratic opponent, by a majority of more then 100,000 at the election on Tuesday, November 23, Senator Simeon D. Fess, Yellow Springs, told an enthusiastic crowd at a rally in Republican headquarters, West Fifth street, Saturday night.

The senator from Ohio was introduced by Attorney W. H. Vodrey.

Fess came to East Liverpool Saturday night from Columbus. The local reception committee met him at Wellsville and brought him to this city by automobile. Following the meeting he was taken to Beaver by motor where he made connections with a train for Pittsburgh where he spent the week-end.

Attorney Ben L. Bennett introduced Senator Fess in the Diamond before the meeting at the West Fifth street headquarters. The senator spoke for only a minute, stating that he was under instructions from physicians to make no outdoor talks as he was booked for meeting up until the night before the election.

Fess declared that his feeling toward East Liverpool was more than friendly inasmuch as two of his sons, Lowell and Sumner Fess, were former residents here—the former as a professor in the high school nad the latter as a student and graduate of the high schooi. He then launched into a discussion of the achievements of the Republican administration since 1921.

When President Harding took office less than six years ago, United States war debt amounted to approximately $26,500,000,000, Fess asserted. Since then the debt has been cut to approximately $19,000,000,000 and during the

ALLEGED 'TRIGGER MAN' IN MELLETT SLAYING READY TO UNFOLD PLOT

Startling Disclosures in Murder of Crusading Publisher of Canton News, Who Was Assasinated Three Months Ago, are Predicted by Prosecutor C. B. McClintock.

ELUSIVE SUSPECT IS SURRENDERED AT TWIN ROCKS, PA., BY BROTHERS

Detective Ora Slater, of Cincinnati, and Stark County Official are Believed to Have Made Agreement Not to Seek Death Penalty for Ex-convict if He Testifies.

CANTON, Ohio, Oct. 25.—Pat McDermott will talk before the day is ended.

This was the prediction this morning of Prosecutor C. B. McClintock, in charge of Stark county's investigation into the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher.

"McDermott has admitted that he knows these fellows," McClintock said, referring to Ben Rudner and Louis Mazer, jointly indicted for the murder with Pat, and Steve Kascholk, a Nanty Glo, Pa., miner, held in jail as a state's witness.

Grilling of Pat was scheduled to begin late this morning after McClintock and Detective Ora Slater had completed their rest, following their long auto journey through the rain from Johnstown, Pa., to Canton last night.

McClintock predicted that the Mellett murder will be cleared up by January 1, when he leaves office.

Arrest Clinches State's Case.

"Pat," he announced, "has told us enough to prove convincingly that he is the 'key man' in the case. His arrest has clinched things and before we are through we will have the goods on everyone involved. I think Pat is going to talk freely before we are through withour examination.

"Pat did not tell us anything about the actual murder but his answers and his attitude prove conclusively that he knows about it and that he is only waiting for the proper time to talk.

"He was surrendered by his relatives without any promises except that he will get a square deal but he is trying to get more assurance before he tells his story."

Pat apparently has been in close touch with Mazer and Rudner through some unknown source, McClintock said.

"Pat told us," he continued, "that Rudner's brother is running his hardware store in Massillon, a fact which we had not learned yet. Just now we are much interested in learning who was keeping Pat in Cleveland and paying for the apartment where he hid himself and so successfully eluded police and others while the $10,000 reward hung over his head.

McDarmott's relatives are urging him to "come clean." His brother, Bernard, who made the trip here from Pennsylvania yesterday, will represent him for the present. Bernard McDermott has used all his influence to have him talk and tell all he knows about the case, according to McClintock.

"There will be no hurry in arraigning Pat," McClintock said.

Rudner, in Stark county jail with McDermott, was hopeful today after he had learned of Pat's apprehension. Jailers said, he was more cheerful than at any time since his arrest several weeks ago.

Rudner Is Hopeful.

"When Pat talks," Rudner said, "Stark county will lose another boarder."

McDermott, who entered the jail last night, almost in a state of collapse, relaxed during the night and was in fine spirits this morning. For the first time in three months he slept with the knowledge that he was free from his pursuers, both officers of the law and members of the vice ring who might be interested in putting him out of the way.

He is alone on the second floor of the jail, the other prisoners in this section having been transferred to the first floor. He has a large light

President's Right To Remove Federal Officer is Upheld

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The power of the president to remove a federal officer without the consent of the senate was sustained by the supreme court today, thus ending a dispute as to constitutional rights that was waged between the legislative and executive branches of the government for half a century.

The decision was handed down in the case of Frank S. Myers, now deceased, former postmaster at Portland, Ore. Myers was appointed by President Wilson in 1917, and removed from office three years later, without the consent of the senate. Because his appointment had to be confirmed by the senate, his heirs contended, in a suit for back pay, that his removal without the senate's consent was not constitutional.

Chief Justice Taft delivered the opinion.

BY WILLIAM S. NEAL.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Discarding their reported indifference toward liquor referendum the drys have opened a smashing offensive to win in five states on November 2, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League of America, disclosed today.

The drays have named California, Colorado, Montana, Nevada and Missouri as their battle-grounds, Wheeler said. He declared prohibition forces are making no fight in New York, Illinois and Wisconsin.

While the dry "ace' was issuing his rosy forecast, G. C. Hinckley, secretary of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, declared a survey assured the wets of victory in seven of the eight referendum states.

The wet organization has repudiated the proposed Missouri referendum, which is in dispute, as unfair to wets and drys alike, Hinckley said.

Nearly one-fourth of the voters of the country will face the wet and dry question when they enter the voting booth in the referendum states.

"We have entered the fight with local forces in those states where repeal of state enforcement laws is threatened and in Nevada where it is proposed to petition congress to call a constitutional convention," said Wheeler.

"We will win in every one of them."

The drys favor holding a referendum in Missouri, Wheeler said. He hinted at the possibility of court action to force the question on the ballot.

"I have just returned from a trip to the Pacific coast and was in five of the referendum states," said Hinckley. "On the basis of personal observation and reports to headquarters, I am confident the wets will carry seven states. Because of the way the question is framed, wets and drys will vote alike in Missouri, if the referendum is held."

He said the wet and dry fight is particularly bitter in California and Colorado.

Repeal of state enforcement laws is proposed in California, Colorado and Montana and this question is included with others in Missouri, he said.

"War Coming," Ford.

Drunk in Parliament.

HENRY FORD does not like war, he's for peace. In fact, he financed a famous peace ship—now he is financing airships that will be useful if war comes to this country. Every Ford commercial airship can be changed into a fight airship in three hours.

AND Ford says that war is coming. War against the United States. We are deeply hated and envied by foreign countries. Envy and hate are not far apart.

QUEEN MARIE says she wants to see "Texas," where there is enough space to give almost every human being in the world one square yard of territory to stand upon.

HER majesty of Rumania has still something to learn about the size of Texas. All Europe's people could live there comfortably and raise enough with intensive cultivation to feed them all.

All of the sixteen hundred million people on earth could stand, at the same time on Staten Island, in New York harbor.

PROF DAHLGREN of Princeton has discovered the astroscopus fish, which shoots a 50-volt electric shock from its eyes.

Astroscopus means "star gazer." The fish lying on the bottom has eyes on top of its head, looking for prey or enemies. The electric discharge keeps enemies away.

Men have become star-gazers, scientists say, after thousands of centuries of evolution. It was partly the desire to look up at the stars,, partly watching for enemies above the high grass that made us finally stand erect on our hind legs. They say so, but you need not believe it.

A SOCIALIST member of parliament says many British statesmen are drunk in parliament, which makes members of this ancient body angry.

Not so long ago drunkenness in the British parliament, especially on the side of the Tories, who dined late and well, was extremely common. T. P. O'Connor, oldest member of the house, remembers it well. And the rule by which the members sit in parliament with their hats on, is supposed to have started because it was a nuisance to remind all the drunken members to take their hats of when the speaker entered. A story tells of the great Pitt, who had kept his hat on and was asked whether he was aware of the presence of the speaker. Instantly taking off his hat he replied, courteously, that he repretted to say he was aware of the presence of two speakers.

CITY DEALERS ASK 32 CENTS AS SHIPMENTS GO TO ENGLAND

Cleveland and Other Ohio Cities Expect Increase.

Coincident with the fall of snow and the first cold day of the autumn season, coal prices soared to wartime levels in East Liverpool today.

Retail dealers here quoted Pittsburgh district coal at 32 cents per bushel. Up until the latter part of last week deliveries were being made at 23 and 24 cents.

Wagon Mine Prices.

On the other hand, wagon mines in southern Columbiana county were accepting orders for run of mine at 20 cents and for lump coal at 22 cents per bushel, delivered in East Liverpool district.

East Liverpool coal yard owners said their 32-cent price is largely due to a shortage which has developed with cold weather, when domestic demands are heavy and also to the fact that approximately 2,000,000 tons is being exported weekly to England where miners are out on strike.

Operators in the Pittsburgh district gave no reasons for the increased prices on deliveries shipped from the mines after last Friday, dealers said. No intimation was given as to how long the high prices would prevail.

Orders for Limited Quantities.

"We do not understand the increase in coal prices unless it is because of the large shipments which are being made to England," was the statement of officials of the Enterprise Coal company. "Coal is not very plentiful and orders are being received only for limited quantities."

William T. Anderson, East End, who also deals in Pittsburgh coal, said: "We are having trouble in getting shipments and deliveries are being made as fast as the cars come in. We have not one lump in our yards this morning but expect shipments today."

M. G. Martin, who operates a mine about five miles back of Wellsville, quoted coal at 20 and 22 cent prices for East Liverpool deliveries. Until

Mrs. George O. Thurn Will Lecture at Daily Sessions at 2:30 p. m. in Eagles' Temple Next Week.

The Review-Tribune, realizing that the culinary art and how to cook foods the best, the easiest and daintiest, is most important, today completed arrangements for a free cooking school to take place next week, beginning Tuesday, Nov. 2, with daily sessions at 2:30 o'clock in the Eagles' temple, Broadway.

The cooking school has become a necessity and not a luxury as most people thought when first it was presented. The housewife was quick to realize that she could obtain great results and knowledge by attending these cooking schools. And now she finds it part of her yearly business to go to the cooking school and get all the new wrinkles that have come out.

Ever keeping an eye on this modern trend of our fast developing country the Review-Tribune has stressed the importance of bringing this free cooking school to East Liverpool with the idea in mind that it will be of great benefit to all and the housewife in particular.

The lecturer will be Mrs. George O. Thurn, of countrywide fame. Having visualized that the women of America are ever alert to improve their homes. Mrs. Thurn has given much time and thought to the gathering of "I'm ashamed of myself," said Jock. And, momentarily, he was. Johnny Haynes was the kind of new acquaintance to whom you would have liked to be able to say that you were in a brokerage office, or with an advertising firm, or, thought Jock, anything respectable." He listened with avidity to such intermittent mention of his own business as Johnny made, and eyed him with esteem. Newspaper work . . . something pretty fine about that . . .

They parted at 6 o'clock, with resolutions for a soon reunion. "I'll call you up," said Peg from the taxi. "Been meaning to, anyway, but we've only been back from our trip two weeks—we went to Cuba, naturally, so Johnny could drown his woes. We'll give you a buzz—you too, Bill Olmstead—and Jock, you bring Yvonne when you come, and I'll make fudge and fried eggs, my two chef-d' oeuvres—"

"Great pair," remarked Bill, when they had pulled away.

"Yeah," Jock said. He stared after the receding rectangle of glass with the two heads . . . close together. . . . "So darn right, too," he added, almost with bitterness.

XII.

New Year's Eve at Terrace Tavern looked, as Jock put it, "like a futuristic conception of a riot in an insane asylum," and sounded like no known thing. It fairly rocked and vibrated and teemed. It was a cyclone of color, a turmoil of motion, a pandemonium and a hullabaloo. It was Terrace Tavern at its rowdiest, and by comparison with it the average roadhouse evening seemed tranquil, staid, and placid and demure.

Reservations had been made weeks in advance. Every table bore a ticket of green and brown bottles, a flotilla of glasses, a dust of crumbs, an array of women's vanity cases, ash trays full of smoked-up ends, dishes, food under plated silver beehives. Every chair had a flushed and gibbering occupant, wearing a crepe paper hat. There were fat bald heads in blue sunbonnets, and pin-heads in green helmets, and square heads in pointed caps, and flabby pink jowls tied 'round with babyish bows. And women in rather becoming hats. Women always manage that, somehow. Vain, even in wassail.

Confetti lay on the dance floor in little parti-hued puddles, and marked trails between the tables. It flecked the dark-coated shoulders of men, and glistened in women's hair, and stuck like beauty marks to their most warm skin. Colored streamers looped from the central chandelier, bunched about the feet of the dancers and tripped them, stacked itself in corners as though a giant ticket-tape basket had upset. A Christmas tree stood near the stage where the orchestra played, stripped now of most of its ornaments and possessed of such deputy ones as a wisp of chiffon handkerchief, an ostrich feather pompom off a dress, two hats, a corkscrew, and a man's limp string of collar.

Little tin horns whined, and little cardboard horns with peppermint-candy stripes tooted and bleated, and little souvenir hammers, marked "August Schultz wishes you a Happy New Year," rat-a-tat-tatted ceaselessly. And, as though this were not noise enough, there was added to it the nasal yell of the saxophones, the deep boom of the drum, the fret of chairs pushed back suddenly . . . and the screaming talk . . . and the squawking laughter . . .

"It's incredible, isn't it," said Yvonne, "that mere flesh-and-blood ears can stand a racket like this?"

Jock smiled at her adoringly. Almost any man would have smiled adoringly at Yvonne that night. Gasped first—and then adored. She was wearing a creation of pearly white velvet that covered her chest to the throat, where a tight high collar of rhinestones held it, but that had no back whatever and very little side; and the strands of her shimmering ruddy hair were wrapped smoothly around her head and held with a crescent-shaped rhinestone pin. . . . It's incredible," he retorted justifiably, "that mere flesh-and-blood eyes can look at you without blinking. You're so superb that it's—"

"Sh-h! They'll hear you, my dear!"

"They were six in number—New Year's Eve revelers at whose table Yvonne and Jock were seated. The host, Barney Blaine, owner of several cinema theaters, had known Yvonne "when she sold smokes for a living," as he was fond of saying to Jock's chagrin, and had insisted tonight that they "come on over here and be sociable." So here they were. Yvonne. Jock. Barney with his swarthy, smiling face and his restless, unsmiling eyes. Barney's lady, a bosomy blonde who took whisky straight and whose flow of tainted narrative seemed limitless. Charley Kaufman, press agent for what Barney always referred to as "my interests," lean and saturnine. Kittens Mitchell of the almond shaped eyes that flew to Jock like steel to magnet, who had but a moment since asked Yvonne how she ever "found" that unusual shade of hair. And the Kendricks, man and wife, who did a dancing act on the two-a-day and cordially hated each other.

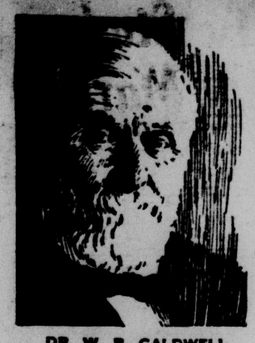

It was 11 o'clock. At the stroke of 12 August Schultz's wee niece, clad airly in cheesecloth panties, would appear, representing the New Year. (That is to say, the management hoped she would appear; at rehearsals she had temperamentally balked, and kicked August Schultz in the shins.) She would, it was hoped, plant her foot triumphantly upon the prostrate back of the trombone player, who, in a long hoary beard, would represent the Old Year now defunct. And among the spectators there would be an increase of din, if possible. And people would kiss one another, and cheer, and bawl felicitations, and whistle, and spit the confetti out of their mouths, and do all the things with which good Americans usher in another first of January.

Preparations for this great moment were even now apparent. Everybody was drinking preposterously — the American hypothesis being, of course, that the drunker one is the better one ushers. Everybody was achieving terms of the friendliest intimacy with everybody else. Convivial souls were roaming from table to table, getting in the way of the distracted waiters, pausing to introduce themselves and to exchange a pleasantry or two. Gentlemen with their ties untied and their hair in their eyes were singing sentimental ballads, heads together. Acquaintances of two minutes' standing were calling one another "ole Joe" and "my frien' Sam, here, he's from St. Louis, yup, big cloak-an'-suit man out there." Streamers were describing graceful parabolas through the air, lighting like lassos around white necks. Girls were laughing shrilly, swaying back and forth. Here you saw a sleeper, chin on chest. There an old man, clenching the arm of a pretty blase youngster so tightly that his fingers dented dimples in her skin. There a woman knobby with avoirdupois, weeping at she knew not what. There a girl trying to climb on to her table, breaking glass, upsetting dishes. There a sophomoric individual being assisted out by two companions, assuring them as he went that "S'll fun." There a whole party owishly intent on making a spoon jump into a tumbler by means of another spoon . . .

Mother! It's Cruel to "Physic" Your Child

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, billious, sick child gladly takes it.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

To these "pro's" for silken attire must be added the irrefutable evidence that silk is a fabric of service and economy. It may cost a little more over the counter, but its wearing qualities and style possibilities—just the fact that today the fabric makes the gown without any expense for trimmings—more than compensates for the difference in price. or these is no greater truth than that quality is remembered long after price is forgotten.

GLITTER

BOOK FOUR—XI.

"I'm ashamed of myself," said Jock. And, momentarily, he was. Johnny Havens was the kind of new acquaintance to whom you would have liked to be able to say that you were in a brokerage office, or with an advertising firm, or, thought Jock, anything respectable." He listened with avidity to such intermittent mention of his own business as Johnny made, and eyed him with esteem. Newspaper work . . . something pretty fine about that . . .

They parted at 6 o'clock, with resolutions for a soon reunion. "I'll call you up," said Peg from the taxi. "Been meaning to, anyway, but we've only been back from our trip two weeks—we went to Cuba, naturally, so Johnny could drown his woes. We'll give you a buzz—you too, Bill Olmstead—and Jock, you bring Yvonne when you come, and I'll make fudge and fried eggs, my two chef-d' oeuvres—"

"Great pair," remarked Bill, when they had pulled away.

"Yeah," Jock said. He stared after the receding rectangle of glass with the two heads . . . close together. . . . "So darn right, too," he added, almost with bitterness.

XII.

New Year's Eve at Terrace Tavern looked, as Jock put it, "like a futuristic conception of a riot in an insane asylum," and sounded like no known thing. It fairly rocked and vibrated and teemed. It was a cyclone of color, a turmoil of motion, a pandemonium and a hullabaloo. It was Terrace Tavern at its rowdiest, and by comparison with it the average roadhouse evening seemed tranquil, staid, and placid and demure.

Reservations had been made weeks in advance. Every table bore a ticket of green and brown bottles, a flotilla of glasses, a dust of crumbs, an array of women's vanity cases, ash trays full of smoked-up ends, dishes, food under plated silver beehives. Every chair had a flushed and gibbering occupant, wearing a crepe paper hat. Little tin horns whined, and little cardboard horns with peppermint-candy stripes tooted and bleated, and little souvenir hammers, marked "August Schultz wishes you a Happy New Year," rat-a-tat-tatted ceaselessly. And, as though this were not noise enough, there was added to it the nasal yell of the saxophones, the deep boom of the drum, the fret of chairs pushed back suddenly . . . and the screaming talk . . . and the squawking laughter . . .

BOOK FOUR—XI.

"I'm ashamed of myself," said Jock. And, momentarily, he was. Johnny Havens was the kind of new acquaintance to whom you would have liked to be able to say that you were in a brokerage office, or with an advertising firm, or, thought Jock, anything respectable." He listened with avidity to such intermittent mention of his own business as Johnny made, and eyed him with esteem. Newspaper work . . . something pretty fine about that . . .

They parted at 6 o'clock, with resolutions for a soon reunion. "I'll call you up," said Peg from the taxi. "Been meaning to, anyway, but we've only been back from our trip two weeks—we went to Cuba, naturally, so Johnny could drown his woes. We'll give you a buzz—you too, Bill Olmstead—and Jock, you bring Yvonne when you come, and I'll make fudge and fried eggs, my two chef-d' oeuvres—"

"Great pair," remarked Bill, when they had pulled away.

"Yeah," Jock said. He stared after the receding rectangle of glass with the two heads . . . close together. . . . "So darn right, too," he added, almost with bitterness.

XII.

New Year's Eve at Terrace Tavern looked, as Jock put it, "like a futuristic conception of a riot in an insane asylum," and sounded like no known thing. It fairly rocked and vibrated and teemed. It was a cyclone of color, a turmoil of motion, a pandemonium and a hullabaloo. It was Terrace Tavern at its rowdiest, and by comparison with it the average roadhouse evening seemed tranquil, staid, and placid and demure.

Reservations had been made weeks in advance. Every table bore a ticket of green and brown bottles, a flotilla of glasses, a dust of crumbs, an array of women's vanity cases, ash trays full of smoked-up ends, dishes, food under plated silver beehives. Every chair had a flushed and gibbering occupant, wearing a crepe paper hat. There were fat bald heads in blue sunbonnets, and pin-heads in green helmets, and square heads in pointed caps, and flabby pink jowls tied 'round with babyish bows. And women in rather becoming hats. Women always manage that, somehow. Vain, even in wassail.

Confetti lay on the dance floor in little parti-hued puddles, and marked trails between the tables. It flecked the dark-coated shoulders of men, and glistened in women's hair, and stuck like beauty marks to their most warm skin. Colored streamers looped from the central chandelier, bunched about the feet of the dancers and tripped them, stacked itself in corners as though a giant ticket-tape basket had upset. A Christmas tree stood near the stage where the orchestra played, stripped now of most of its ornaments and possessed of such deputy ones as a wisp of chiffon handkerchief, an ostrich feather pompom off a dress, two hats, a corkscrew, and a man's limp string of collar.

Little tin horns whined, and little cardboard horns with peppermint-candy stripes tooted and bleated, and little souvenir hammers, marked "August Schultz wishes you a Happy New Year," rat-a-tat-tatted ceaselessly. And, as though this were not noise enough, there was added to it the nasal yell of the saxophones, the deep boom of the drum, the fret of chairs pushed back suddenly . . . and the screaming talk . . . and the squawking laughter . . .

'It's incredible, isn't it," said Yvonne, "that mere flesh-and-blood ears can stand a racket like this?"

Jock smiled at her adoringly. Almost any man would have smiled adoringly at Yvonne that night. Gasped first—and then adored. She was wearing a creation of pearly white velvet that covered her chest to the throat, where a tight high collar of rhinestones held it, but that had no back whatever and very little side; and the strands of her shimmering ruddy hair were wrapped smoothly around her head and held with a crescent-shaped rhinestone pin. . . . It's incredible," he retorted justifiably, "that mere flesh-and-blood eyes can look at you without blinking. You're so superb that it's—"

"Sh-h! They'll hear you, my dear!"

"They were six in number—New Year's Eve revelers at whose table Yvonne and Jock were seated. The host, Barney Blaine, owner of several cinema theaters, had known Yvonne "when she sold smokes for a living," as he was fond of saying to Jock's chagrin, and had insisted tonight that they "come on over here and be sociable." So here they were, Yvonne, Jock, Barney with his swarthy, smiling face and his restless, unsmiling eyes, Barney's lady, a bosomy blonde who took whisky straight and whose flow of tainted narrative seemed limitless, Charley Kaufman, press agent for what Barney always referred to as "my interests," lean and saturnine. Kittens Mitchell of the almond shaped eyes that flew to Jock like steel to magnet, who had but a moment since asked Yvonne how she ever "found" that unusual shade of hair. And the Kendricks, man and wife, who did a dancing act on the two-a-day and cordially hated each other.

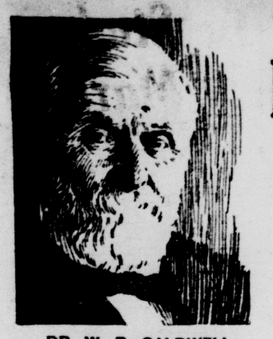

It was 11 o'clock. At the stroke of 12 August Schultz's wee niece, clad airly in cheesecloth panties, would appear, representing the New Year. (That is to say, the management hoped she would appear; at rehearsals she had temperamentally balked, and kicked August Schultz in the shins.) She would, it was hoped, plant her foot triumphantly upon the prostrate back of the trombone player, who, in a long hoary beard, would represent the Old Year now defunct. And among the spectators there would be an increase of din, if possible. And people would kiss one another, and cheer, and bawl felicitations, and whistle, and spit the confetti out of their mouths, and do all the things with which good Americans usher in another first of January.

Preparations for this great moment were even now apparent. Everybody was drinking preposterously — the American hypothesis being, of course, that the drunker one is the better one ushers. Everybody was achieving terms of the friendliest intimacy with everybody else. Convivial souls were roaming from table to table, getting in the way of the distracted waiters, pausing to introduce themselves and to exchange a pleasantry or two. Gentlemen with their ties untied and their hair in their eyes were singing sentimental ballads, heads together. Acquaintances of two minutes' standing were calling one another "ole Joe" and "my frien' Sam, here, he's from St. Louis, yup, big cloak-an'-suit man out there." Streamers were describing graceful parabolas through the air, lighting like lassos around white necks. Girls were laughing shrilly, swaying back and forth. Here you saw a sleeper, chin on chest. There an old man, clenching the arm of a pretty blase youngster so tightly that his fingers dented dimples in her skin. There a woman knobby with avoirdupois, weeping at she knew not what. There a girl trying to climb on to her table, breaking glass, upsetting dishes. There a sophomoric individual being assisted out by two companions, assuring them as he went that "S'll fun." There a whole party owrishly intent on making a spoon jump into a tumbler by means of another spoon . . .

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 93

Mother! It's Cruel to "Physic" Your Child

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, billious, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

Silks For Every Occasion Every Day in the Week.

That we today are a silk-loving nation is demonstrated everywhere in every direction. Why? Because it is the natural aim of every woman to always appear at her best and no influence can give the support, mentally and morally, to a woman, that the right clothes can supply.

We might complete these psychological infuences with the physical satisfaction created by the soothing luxurious feel of silk next to the skin. To these "pro's" for silken attire must be added the irrefutable evidence that silk is a fabric of service and economy. It may cost a little more over the counter, but its wearing qualities and style possibilities—just the fact that today the fabric makes the gown without any expense for trimmings—more than compensates for the difference in price. or these is no greater truth than that quality is remembered long after price is forgotten.

You will find just what you want in the following list.

Satin crepe—39 inches wide—$3.00. Very good quality. In black, navy blue, slate blue, Spanish raisin, grey, Jungle green, claret red and rustic brown.

Hoover Calls Meet To Study Reports On World Markets

Business Organizations Will Send Delegates to Research Conference in Washington Next Friday.

WASHINGTON — Representatives of advertising agencies, industrial and commercial concerns, economic foundations, magasines and newspapers have been issued invitations by Secretary of Commerce Hoover to attend a conference on market research here October 29.

A large number of business organizations requested Secretary Hoover to call this conference which will present an opportunity to those in attendance to discuss and adopt a priority list of fundamental research projects in the field of marketing.

The study in this field of economy will be of partial benefit, in the opinion of officials, in the possible elimination of many serious wastes that occur in distribution. The studies to be undertaken will be only those which possess a common interest and value for all engaged in market research, A. Health Onthank, chief of the domestic commerce division of the department of commerce said.

"The problems of marketing which have arisen as results of the industrial and commercial development of this country are of essential importance to American business interests," Onthank said.

Efficiency in the methods of distribution, the elimination of waste and other important factors plays a vital part in the advancement of the trade of this country.

"The forthcoming conference offers an opportunity for those engaged in the consideration of these problems to plan and put into practice systematic methods for their study."

Officials anticipated that the conference would first draw up a list of the principal problems confronting the mraketing of America's $60,000,000,000 annual production. Committees probably will be selected to carry on these studies following the conference and reports to be submitted later may lay down a series of fundamental principles for the guidance of business men.

Secretary Hoover has always consided the losses occurring in the distribution of American production is one of the industrial wastes which may at least partially be eliminated. The subject never has had scientific consideration.

It was expected that both the domestic and foreign markets would be considered in all their phases.

CLARA BOW IN "KID BOOTS"

Clara Bow, featured in Eddie Cantor's first Paramount starring picture, "Kid Boots," which arrived at the Ceramic theatre today, was born in Brooklyn. Her junior year at high school was somewhat shattered when she was adjudged the prettiest girl in a beauty contest, and offered a movie contract which guaranteed a role in one picture.

Not knowing how to make up, her first screen appearance was a miserable failure. On being told to cry, the mascara ran down both cheeks, none of which helped Clara in "registering." When the completed film had been shown, her entire part was deleted.

Motion pictures were quite different from what she had thought, so Clara entered a business school. Three months later, Elmer Clifton telephoned her, said he was about to make "Down to the Sea in Ships," and offered the girl fifty dollars a week—without expenses. During the twenty-two weeks of production work, she did so well that Clifton built her part into one of the principal roles.

B. P. Schulberg, now associate producer at Paramount's Hollywood studio saw "Down to the Sea in Ships" and signed Miss Bow to a five year contract. Since then she has played in more than a score of films, including "Black Oxen," "Kiss Me Again," "The Plastic Age," "Dancing Mothers," "The Runaway," "Man-trap," and "Kid Boots."

The cast of the last picture includes Billie Dove and Lawrence Gray, both of whom are featured. Tom Gibson adapted Florenz Ziegfield's stage success for screen use. Frank Tuttle directed.

Not knowing how to make up, her first screen appearance was a miserable failure. On being told to cry, the mascara ran down both cheeks, none of which helped Clara in "registering." When the completed film had been shown, her entire part was deleted.

Motion pictures were quite different from what she had thought, so Clara entered a business school. Three months later, Elmer Clifton telephoned her, said he was about to make "Down to the Sea in Ships," and offered the girl fifty dollars a week—without expenses. During the twenty-two weeks of production work, she did so well that Clifton built her part into one of the principal roles.

B. P. Schulberg, now associate producer at Paramount's Hollywood studio saw "Down to the Sea in Ships" and signed Miss Bow to a five year contract. Since then she has played in more than a score of films, including "Black Oxen," "Kiss Me Again," "The Plastic Age," "Dancing Mothers," "The Runaway," "Mantrap," and "Kid Boots."

The cast of the last picture includes Billie Dove and Lawrence Gray, both of whom are featured. Tom Gibson adapted Florenz Ziegfield's stage success for screen use. Frank Tuttle directed.

Hoover Calls Meet To Study Reports On World Markets

Business Organizations Will Send Delegates to Research Conference in Washington Next Friday.

WASHINGTON — Representatives of advertising agencies, industrial and commercial concerns, economic foundations, magazines and newspapers have been issued invitations by Secretary of Commerce Hoover to attend a conference on market research here October 29.

A large number of business organizations requested Secretary Hoover to call this conference which will present an opportunity to those in attendance to discuss and adopt a priority list of fundamental research projects in the field of marketing.

The study in this field of economy will be of partial benefit, in the opinion of officials, in the possible elimination of many serious wastes that occur in distribution. The studies to be undertaken will be only those which possess a common interest and value for all engaged in market research, A. Health Onthank, chief of the domestic commerce division of the department of commerce said.

"The problems of marketing which have arisen as results of the industrial and commercial development of this country are of essential importance to American business interests," Onthank said.

Efficiency in the methods of distribution, the elimination of waste and other important factors plays a vital part in the advancement of the trade of this country.

"The forthcoming conference offers an opportunity for those engaged in the consideration of these problems to plan and put into practice systematic methods for their study."

Officials anticipated that the conference would first draw up a list of the principal problems confronting the mraketing of America's $60,000,000,000 annual production. Committees probably will be selected to carry on these studies following the conference and reports to be submitted later may lay down a series of fundamental principles for the guidance of business men.

Secretary Hoover has always consided the losses occurring in the distribution of American production is one of the industrial wastes which may at least partially be eliminated. The subject never has had scientific consideration.

It was expected that both the domestic and foreign markets would be considered in all their phases.

Clara Bow, featured in Eddie Cantor's first Paramount starring picture, "Kid Boots," which arrived at the Ceramic theatre today, was born in Brooklyn. Another Oil Orgy

"For the first time in many months," says a business review, "the oil industry is facing the specter of overproduction."

To the industry, overproduction is a "specter" because it means that prices will probably have to be lowered all along the line. The consumer is not scared by such a prospect.

Why the overproduction at a time when the air has been full of doleful tales of depleted oil fields? A new pool has been found—the Seminole field in Oklahoma. They are drilling nearly a mile deep there and getting a rush of oil from the "Wilcox sand." A month ago the production in that field was around 20,000 barrels a day. In the three weeks it trebled. Active drilling continues, and the flow may soon reach 100,000 or 150,000 barrels a day.

It is the same old story. When paying oil is struck anywhere, everybody drills to get his; the rock is punctured by superfluous wells; the oil-bearing sand is exhausted quickly, with vast quantities of oil and gas wasted in the process; oil drugs the market and prices of petroleum and all its products drop, only to rise again when the surfeit ends. It usually ends with distressing quickness.

But always there is "another new pool" discovered. It has been that way so far in our oil history. Will it continue so forever? Or will everybody pay, sooner or later, for these oil orgies?

Citizenship Doors

The story drifts in of a young foreigner who came to a voting booth to register the other day, for the first time, and was visibly embarrassed when asked for his citizenship papers. He said, however, that he had them, and would go and bring them.

An hour or two later the clerks were amazed to see the young fellow edging into the booth with a door on his back. He explained that he had been so proud of his naturalization papers that he pasted them on the kitchen door, and couldn't get them off, and so had to take the door off its hinges and bring it along.

The credentials were satisfactory, and the door, being duly inspected, returned where it belonged. Nobody is going to question that man's right to vote again. And when you think of it, isn't there a fine symbolism about the whole business? American citizenship itself is a doorway to the aspiring immigrant.

Imperatives

Buy This!" shouts a real estate sign in front of property for sale. "Eat Here!" demands a hot dog stand. "You cannot wear silk stockings to school," says a board of education in a California city.

"The world seems to be full of categorical imperatives," remarked a man passing one of the signs. "How I do hate them! How I do hope I will never be forced by fate to buy or eat where those signs are yelling at me!"

"Our purpose is not to impose rules on dress, but to teach the girls what constitutes artistic and practical garments," says a school superintendent in a different city. "With the art courses and with the health courses, principles of clothing are taught. The occasional girl who wears clothing not deemed proper is spoken to by a teacher in private, not with an order, but with a suggestion as to something else that would be more suitable and becoming. The result is that in the main our girls are sensibly and fittingly dressed."

The principle is the same whether it applies to restaurants, real estate, schools or anything else. No individual has a right to say "Do This!" to another. A majority of individuals deciding for its whole group is another matter.

The best advertising, as well as the best school discipline, is that which sets down the facts in simple and understandable array and leaves the individual to draw his own conclusions.

French Salutation

We may have to yield to the French form of salutation, after all our ridicule of men kissing men. Listen to this:

French doctors are protesting against the introduction of the American hand-shake in France, on the ground that it is "unsanitary." Half the diseases prevalent in Paris, they declare, could be controlled if it were not for the spreading of germs by contact of hands. The Gaulic kiss on both cheeks, they say, is much more sanitary, as well as more decorous, than our "pump-handle" fashion, because it is easier to keep the cheeks clean than the hands.

If men must shake hands, the French physicians say, let them do it with silk gloves. The silk, besides safeguarding the wearer against disease germs, "establishes a sympathetic current" which is more friendly than the bare contact of palm with palm.

All right. He-Americans can stand the silk gloves better than the cheek-kissing. But either will come hard the first hundred years.

Yes, there is a good deal in the papers about Marie. But isn't she a welcome change from Aimee and Peaches?

"Officials Insist Chicago is Clean," headlines the New York World. She ought to be, if those stories are true about the amount of water she takes from the Great Lakes.

A lot of people nowadays seem to think they've bought and sold a thing when they sign notes for it.

Pathetic Figures

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Awake fairly betimes and Arthur Killick's son of Kansas City came and later Meredith Nicholson, who had been at Atlantic City making a speech, and came to the city to spend a few hours with me, which pleased me mightily.

After Sinclair Lewis dropped in and told of his new novel about preachers and had the manuscript with him to give to his publisher, Alfred Harcourt, who came by for it and they talked of letters bravely but a little too deeply for me, and came also H. N. Swanson, the young Chicago editor.

In the evening my wife and I to a dinner to Marie de Bourbon, a Spanish princess, very gentle and lovely and Charles Hanson Towne, editor and poet, came with Alma Clayburgh, the singer, and I wagered two pounds with him foolishly. So home, after a full day, to bed.

The subway offers subterranean adventures for a nickel that cannot be duplicated the world over. The roar, shriek of rail against rail and the flashing whirl of white tiled stations are only a part of the jaunt in this underground world of tension.

Moving million footed New York in sardine like chunks at several minute intervals is a marvel of efficiency attested by the fact that New York has never had "the great subway disaster" predicted so freely when the tubes were opened.

New York's amiability is highly in evidence as it drifts down through doors with football rushes. Feet are trampled, hats knocked off and clothing torn but nobody seems to care.

"Watchya step!" and "Let 'em off foist!" The sliding doors open and tend car trains gulp a load in a jiffy and thunder away. Old timers despite the lurch and sway doze and awaken miraculously at their stations to fight their way out.

Others too tightly wedged to open their newspapers complacently read the sign jingles for soup, garters and malted drinks and, of course, The Subway Sun—that daily journal posted in the windows of each car.

In other days the greatest danger in subways was the pickpocket. Deft "leather lifters" found it a paradise. The crowd was so compact few noticed a tug at their purse. The shrewdest detectives were assigned to the tubes but accomplished little until passengers took vengeance into their own hands. A pickpocket today knows that if caught he faces a serious pummeling which generally lands him in a hospital.

Being the victim of pickpockets is right up my street. It has happened to me four times in the metropolis quite painlessly. Twice in the subway, once while watching a safe hoisted and the last time I suspect by a benign gentleman next me in a theatre who was constantly dropping his program for me to lean over and retrieve.

Somewhere I have heard there was a successful fat pickpocket. Pudgy fingers lack nimbleness for a skillful "dip." And most "dips" are drug addicts.

There is that story of a host who employed a reformed pickpocket to pluck his guests of valuables at a dinner and then surprise them by returning his loot at the end of the evening. He surprised them—including his host—by slipping out a side door with the swag.

Fred Stone's name stands in front of the theatre where he is playing in the biggest lights Broadway has ever seen for an actor. The letters are more than seven feet high.

HASKINS' LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

ARMISTICE DAY AIR RACE.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25.—Armistice Day will be a date of considerable importance in the world of aviation this year. For on this day will be held the Schneider Trophy races at Norfolk, Virginia, and United States fliers are hoping that this year will give them the permanent possession of this trophy.

Italy and the United States are the only competing countries this year, and they will each enter three ships. The United States' entries will be the R3-C-3, powered with a Packard 1,500, the R3C-4, with a Curtis 1,550, and the plane with which Lieut. James H. Doolittle, U. S. A., won the race last year. This ship itself has an interesting history, it being the Curtis racer with which Lieut. Bettis, also of the army, won the Pulitzer race in 1925. Lieut. Doolittle took it and converted it into a seaplane by having pontoons fitted to it. It may be that it will have the honor of bringing the Schneider trophy permanently to the United States.

Although an army pilot won last year's race, there will be no army entrant this year. The team selected consists of Lieut. Frank H. Conant, U. S. N., and First Lieut. C. Frank Schilt, U. S. M. C., with Lieut. C. C. Champion, U. S. N., as alternate pilot.

A triangular course has been laid from the southern end of Newport News' wharf to the northern end of the Naval Operating base, Hampton Roads; then northeast to a point 15.906 kilometers from the operating base and back southwest to Newport News' wharf. The distance from Newport News to Hampton Roads is 10.073 kilometers. From Hampton Roads to the turning point is 15.906 kilometers, and the distance back to Newport News is 24.021 kilometers; making a total of 50 kilometers. There will be seven laps in this race, or a distance of 350 kilometers, equolling about 220 miles.

The Italian fliers, who are now on their way to the States, are to have two O. U.-1's for practice use.

Overhauled at Philadelphia.

The American planes to be used in the race are now at the Philadelphia navy yard being overhauled. As soon as this work is completed, the engines installed, and tests made, they will be flown to Hampton Roads. They will be taken over the course so that the pilots may familiarize themselves with their performance, but they will not be flown at wide open speed.

In 1913, M. Jacques Schneider, a distinguished sportsman of France, donated a beautiful silver trophy to be competed for by members of the International Aeronoutical Federation. The purpose M. Schneider had in mind was to foster international maratime aviation competition. To date there have been eight competitions held. The first two were held at Monaco, the 1913 race being won by the French pilot Prevost in a Deperdussin. In 1914 an English pilot named Pixton won the race with a Sopwith.

The World War then intervened and no race was held between 1915 and 1918. In 1919 the competiton was conducted at Bournemouth, England, and was won by Italy with a Savoia plane. This victory was disallowed, however, since it was claimed that the pilot, Janello, had failed to follow the course as marked for the race.

In 1920 and in 1921, Venice, Italy, was the scene of this events and Italy was the winner both times. This made it doubly unfortunate that Janello should have failed to comply with the rules, since these three successive victories would have given that country permanent possession of the trophy.

In 1922 Captain H. C. Biard, a British pilot won the race at Naples, Italy, and accordingly the next year the event was held at Cowes, England. For the first time America entered the competition, and Lieut. D. Rittenhouse of the United States navy won with a navy C.R.3, at an average speed of 177.38 miles per hour.

Planes Damaged in Trials.

In 1924 all preparations were made for the race to be held at Baltimore, Maryland, but owing to the fact that the foreign entrants were damaged in trials previous to the race, it was called off. America might have scored a technical win by flying the course alone, but she preferred not to do so.

In 1925 Baltimore again made preparations for this international event. A course over the Chesapeake bay was marked off, ten hangars were erected, runways were constructed, and preparations made to take care of participants and spectators. America, England and Italy entered their fastest planes. For the first time, also, an army flier entered the contest.

Captain Biard, the English pilot, who had won the 1922 race, entered but the day before the race took up the Supermarine for a trial and owing to some defect in the machine wrecked it in attempting to land. He was, therefore, forced to withdraw. The motor of one of the Italian planes failed to start, one American navy plane was forced down at the end of the sixth lap, and the second during the final lap.

As has been said before the United States won this victory with a Curtiss racer which had been converted into a seaplane. Those witnessing the race said that by the time the race was half over it was realized that Lieut. Doolittle would be the winner.

An interesting feature brought out by these races is the increased speed which has been developed by seaplanes since the first race in 1913. That race was won with an average speed of 44.7 miles per hour. The next year the speed increased to 55.3 miles, the next to 124.9. In 1920 it dropped again, the winner attaining an average speed of only 102.5. Nineteen-twenty-one showed an increase to 117.4, while 1922 brought the rate up to 146.5. Rittenhouse's speed when America first won the cup was 177.38, but this record was broken by Doolittle last year with a rate of 232 miles per hour.

America has the best chance of winning the cup permanently at the present time because of the conditions of the award. It is specified that in order for the trophy to become the permanent property of any country it is necessary that it be won by it three times in five years. The United States having won it twice since 1923 has an opportunity this year and again next year, if we are unfortunate this time, Italy, however, must begin anew since her last victory was in 1921.

My Favorite Stories

By IRVIN S. COBB

THE OBSERVATION OF A STUDENT.

There still are parts of the South where the ancient devotion between white employers and colored retainers endures. I am reminded of a case in point.

A young planter in Mississippi had for his favorite servant an old negro who had cared for him as a child and whose faithfulness and affection never had diminished. Csually, Uncle Jim was quite frank in his criticisms upon his beloved boss' behavior, but when the latter became engaged to a young lady of the vcinity who was exceedingly beautiful but who also was reported to be of a somewhat tempery and difficult disposition, Uncle Jim had nothing whatsoever to say. He offered no congratulations, ventured no opinions.

The young man's feelings suffered under this silence. Finally he said:

"Look here, Uncle Jim, you know, of course, that I'm fixing to marry Miss Slocum."

"Oh, yassuh, I knows it."

"I haven't heard you speak of it and yet you must realize how important a step in my life this is going to be."

"Yassuh, I reckin' it's gwine be mouty important—tekin' one thing wid ernudder."

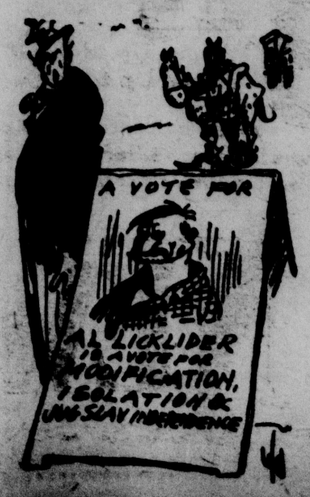

"Well, then, won't you give me your views on the subject? Don't you think Miss Slocum is a lovely young lady?"

"Well, suh," said the old-man, "I'se took notice of one thing—de most piffenest snakes is nearly always got de most prettiest skins."

Another Oil Orgy

"For the first time in many months," says a business review, "the oil industry is facing the specter of overproduction."

To the industry, overproduction is a "specter" because it means that prices will probably have to be lowered all along the line. The consumer is not scared by such a prospect.

Why the overproduction at a time when the air has been full of doleful tales of depleted oil fields? A new pool has been found—the Seminole field in Oklahoma. They are drilling nearly a mile deep there and getting a rush of oil from the "Wilcox sand." A month ago the production in that field was around 20,000 barrels a day. In the three weeks it trebled. Active drilling continues, and the flow may soon reach 100,000 or 150,000 barrels a day.

It is the same old story. When paying oil is struck anywhere, everybody drills to get his; the rock is punctured by superfluous wells; the oil-bearing sand is exhausted quickly, with vast quantities of oil and gas wasted in the process; oil drugs the market and prices of petroleum and all its products drop, only to rise again when the surfeit ends. It usually ends with distressing quickness.

But always there is "another new pool" discovered. It has been that way so far in our oil history. Will it continue so forever? Or will everybody pay, sooner or later, for these oil orgies?

Citizenship Doors

The story drifts in of a young foreigner who came to a voting booth to register the other day, for the first time, and was visibly embarrassed when asked for his citizenship papers. He said, however, that he had them, and would go and bring them.

An hour or two later the clerks were amazed to see the young fellow edging into the booth with a door on his back. He explained that he had been so proud of his naturalization papers that he pasted them on the kitchen door, and couldn't get them off, and so had to take the door off its hinges and bring it along.

The credentials were satisfactory, and the door, being duly inspected, returned where it belonged. Nobody is going to question that man's right to vote again. And when you think of it, isn't there a fine symbolism about the whole business? American citizenship itself is a doorway to the aspiring immigrant.

Imperatives

Buy This!" shouts a real estate sign in front of property for sale. "Eat Here!" demands a hot dog stand. "You cannot wear silk stockings to school," says a board of education in a California city.

"The world seems to be full of categorical imperatives," remarked a man passing one of the signs. "How I do hate them! How I do hope I will never be forced by fate to buy or eat where those signs are yelling at me!"

"Our purpose is not to impose rules on dress, but to teach the girls what constitutes artistic and practical garments," says a school superintendent in a different city. "With the art courses and with the health courses, principles of clothing are taught. The occasional girl who wears clothing not deemed proper is spoken to by a teacher in private, not with an order, but with a suggestion as to something else that would be more suitable and becoming. The result is that in the main our girls are sensibly and fittingly dressed."

The principle is the same whether it applies to restaurants, real estate, schools or anything else. No individual has a right to say "Do This!" to another. A majority of individuals deciding for its whole group is another matter.

The best advertising, as well as the best school discipline, is that which sets down the facts in simple and understandable array and leaves the individual to draw his own conclusions.

French Salutation

We may have to yield to the French form of salutation, after all our ridicule of men kissing men. Listen to this:

French doctors are protesting against the introduction of the American hand-shake in France, on the ground that it is "unsanitary." Half the diseases prevalent in Paris, they declare, could be controlled if it were not for the spreading of germs by contact of hands. The Gaulic kiss on both cheeks, they say, is much more sanitary, as well as more decorous, than our "pump-handle" fashion, because it is easier to keep the cheeks clean than the hands.

If men must shake hands, the French physicians say, let them do it with silk gloves. The silk, besides safeguarding the wearer against disease germs, "establishes a sympathetic current" which is more friendly than the bare contact of palm with palm.

All right. He-Americans can stand the silk gloves better than the cheek-kissing. But either will come hard the first hundred years.

Yes, there is a good deal in the papers about Marie. But isn't she a welcome change from Aimee and Peaches?

"Officials Insist Chicago is Clean," headlines the New York World. She ought to be, if those stories are true about the amount of water she takes from the Great Lakes.

A lot of people nowadays seem to think they've bought and paid for a thing when they sign notes for it.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Awake fairly betimes and Arthur Killick's son of Kansas City came and later Meredith Nicholson, who had been at Atlantic City making a speech, and came to the city to spend a few hours with me, which pleased me mightily.

After Sinclair Lewis dropped in and told of his new novel about preachers and had the manuscript with him to give to his publisher, Alfred Harcourt, who came by for it and they talked of letters bravely but a little too deeply for me, and came also H. N. Swanson, the young Chicago editor.

In the evening my wife and I to a dinner to Marie de Bourbon, a Spanish princess, very gentle and lovely and Charles Hanson Towne, editor and poet, came with Alma Clayburgh, the singer, and I wagered two pounds with him foolishly. So home, after a full day, to bed.

The subway offers subterranean adventures for a nickel that cannot be duplicated the world over. The roar, shriek of rail against rail and the flashing whirl of white tiled stations are only a part of the jaunt in this underground world of tension.

Moving million footed New York in sardine like chunks at several minute intervals is a marvel of efficiency attested by the fact that New York has never had "the great subway disaster" predicted so freely when the tubes were opened.

New York's amiability is highly in evidence as it drifts down through doors with football rushes. Feet are trampled, hats knocked off and clothing torn but nobody seems to care.

"Watchya step!" and "Let 'em off foist!" The sliding doors open and tend car trains gulp a load in a jiffy and thunder away. Old timers despite the lurch and sway doze and awaken miraculously at their stations to fight their way out.

Others too tightly wedged to open their newspapers complacently read the sign jingles for soup, garters and malted drinks and, of course, The Subway Sun—that daily journal posted in the windows of each car.

In other days the greatest danger in subways was the pickpocket. Deft "leather lifters' found it a paradise. The crowd was so compact few noticed a tug at their purse. The shrewdest detectives were assigned to the tubes but accomplished little until passengers took vengeance into their own hands. A pickpocket today knows that if caught he faces a serious pummeling which generally lands him in a hospital.

Being the victim of pickpockets is right up my street. It has happened to me four times in the metropolis quite painlessly. Twice in the subway, once while watching a safe hoisted and the last time I suspect by a benign gentleman next me in a theatre who was constantly dropping his program for me to lean over and retrieve.

Somewhere I have heard there was a successful fat pickpocket. Pudgy fingers lack nimbleness for a skillful "dip." And most "dips" are drug addicts.

There is that story of a host who employed a reformed pickpocket to pluck his guests of valuables at a dinner and then surprise them by returning his loot at the end of the evening. He surprised them—including his host—by slipping out a side door with the swag.

Fred Stone's name stands in front of the theatre where he is playing in the biggest lights Broadway has ever seen for an actor. The letters are more than seven feet high.

HASKINS' LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

ARMISTICE DAY AIR RACE.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25.—Armistice Day will be a date of considerable importance in the world of aviation this year. For on this day will be held the Schneider Trophy races at Norfolk, Virginia, and United States fliers are hoping that this year will give them the permanent possession of this trophy.

Italy and the United States are the only competing countries this year, and they will each enter three ships. The United States' entries will be the R3-C-3, powered with a Packard 1,500, the R3C-4, with a Curtis 1,550, and the plane with which Lieut. James H. Doolittle, U. S. A., won the race last year. This ship itself has an interesting history, it being the Curtis racer with which Lieut. Bettis, also of the army, won the Pulitzer race in 1925. Lieut. Doolilttle took it and converted it into a seaplane by having pontoons fitted to it. It may be that it will have the honor of bringing the Schneider trophy permanently to the United States.

Although an army pilot won last year's race, there will be no army entrant this year. The team selected consists of Lieut. Frank H. Conant, U. S. N., and First Lieut. C. Frank Schilt, U. S. M. C., with Lieut. C. C. Champion, U. S. N., as alternate pilot.

A triangular course has been laid from the southern end of Newport News' wharf to the northern end of the Naval Operating base, Hampton Roads; then northeast to a point 15.906 kilometers from the operating base and back southwest to Newport News' wharf. The distance from Newport News to Hampton Roads is 10.073 kilometers. From Hampton Roads to the turning point is 15.906 kilometers, and the distance back to Newport News is 24.021 kilometers; making a total of 50 kilometers. There will be seven laps in this race, or a distance of 350 kilometers, equolling about 220 miles.

The Italian fliers, who are now on their way to the States, are to have two O. U.-1's for practice use.

Overhauled at Philadelphia.

The American planes to be used in the race are now at the Philadelphia navy yard being overhauled. As soon as this work is completed, the engines installed, and tests made, they will be flown to Hampton Roads. They will be taken over the course so that the pilots may familiarize themselves with their performance, but they will not be flown at wide open speed.

In 1913, M. Jacques Schneider, a distinguished sportsman of France, donated a beautiful silver trophy to be competed for by members of the International Aeronautical Federation. The purpose M. Schneider had in mind was to foster international maratime aviation competition. To date there have been eight competitions held. The first two were held at Monaco, the 1913 race being won by the French pilot Prevost in a Deperdussin. In 1914 an English pilot named Pixton won the race with a Sopwith.

The World War then intervened and no race was held between 1915 and 1918. In 1919 the competiton was conducted at Bournemouth, England, and was won by Italy with a Savoia plane. This victory was disallowed, however, since it was claimed that the pilot, Janello, had failed to follow the course as marked for the race.

In 1920 and in 1921, Venice, Italy, was the scene of this events and Italy was the winner both times. This made it doubly unfortunate that Janello should have failed to comply with the rules, since these three successive victories would have given that country permanent possession of the trophy.

In 1922 Captain H. C. Biard, a British pilot won the race at Naples, Italy, and accordingly the next year the event was held at Cowes, England. For the first time America entered the competition, and Lieut. D. Rittenhouse of the United States navy won with a navy C.R.3, at an average speed of 177.38 miles per hour.

Planes Damaged in Trials.

In 1924 all preparations were made for the race to be held at Baltimore, Maryland, but owing to the fact that the foreign entrants were damaged in trials previous to the race, it was called off. America might have scored a technical win by flying the course alone, but she preferred not to do so.

In 1925 Baltimore again made preparations for this international event. A course over the Chesapeake bay was marked off, ten hangars were erected, runways were constructed, and preparations made to take care of participants and spectators. America, England and Italy entered their fastest planes. For the first time, also, an army flier entered the contest.

Captain Biard, the English pilot, who had won the 1922 race, entered but the day before the race took up the Supermarine for a trial and owing to some defect in the machine wrecked it in attempting to land. He was, therefore, forced to withdraw. The motor of one of the Italian planes failed to start, one American navy plane was forced down at the end of the sixth lap, and the second during the final lap.

As has been said before the United States won this victory with a Curtiss racer which had been converted into a seaplane. Those witnessing the race said that by the time the race was half over it was realized that Lieut. Doolittle would be the winner.

An interesting feature brought out by these races is the increased speed which has been developed by seaplanes since the first race in 1913. That race was won with an average speed of 44.7 miles per hour. The next year the speed increased to 55.3 miles, the next to 124.9. In 1920 it dropped again, the winner attaining an average speed of only 102.5. Nineteen-twenty-one showed an increase to 117.4, while 1922 brought the rate up to 146.5. Rittenhouse's speed when America first won the cup was 177.38, but this record was broken by Doolittle last year with a rate of 232 miles per hour.

America has the best chance of winning the cup permanently at the present time because of the conditions of the award. It is specified that in order for the trophy to become the permanent property of any country it is necessary that it be won by it three times in five years. The United States having won it twice since 1923 has an opportunity this year and again next year, if we are unfortunate this time, Italy, however, must begin anew since her last victory was in 1921.

My Favorite Stories

By IRVIN S. COBB

THE OBSERVATION OF A STUDENT.

There still are parts of the South where the ancient devotion between white employers and colored retainers endures. I am reminded of a case in point.

A young planter in Mississippi had for his favorite servant an old negro who had cared for him as a child and whose faithfulness and affection never had diminished. Usually, Uncle Jim was quite frank in his criticisms upon his beloved boss' behavior, but when the latter became engaged to a young lady of the vcinity who was exceedingly beautiful but who also was reported to be of a somewhat tempery and difficult disposition, Uncle Jim had nothing whatsoever to say. He offered no congratulations, ventured no opinions.

The young man's feelings suffered under this silence. Finally he said:

"Look here, Uncle Jim, you know, of course, that I'm fixing to marry Miss Slocum."

"Oh, yassuh, I knows it."

"I haven't heard you speak of it and yet you must realize how important a step in my life this is going to be."

"Yassuh, I reckin' it's gwine be mouty important—tekin' one thing wid ernudder."

"Well, then, won't you give me your views on the subject? Don't you think Miss Slocum is a lovely young lady?"

"Well, suh," said the old man, "I'se took notice of one thing—de most pizenest snakes is nearly always got de most prettiest skins."

This ship itself has an interesting history, it being the Curtis racer with which Lieut. Bettis, also of the army, won the Pulitzer race in 1925. Lieut. Doolittle took it and converted it into a seaplane by having pontoons fitted to it. It may be that it will have the honor of bringing the Schneider trophy permanently to the United States.

Although an army pilot won last year's race, there will be no army entrant this year. The team selected consists of Lieut. Frank H. Conant, U. S. N., and First Lieut. C. Frank Schilt, U. S. M. C., with Lieut. C. C. Champion, U. S. N., as alternate pilot.

A triangular course has been laid from the southern end of Newport News' wharf to the northern end of the Naval Operating base, Hampton Roads; then northeast to a point 15.906 kilometers from the operating base and back southwest to Newport News' wharf. The distance from Newport News to Hampton Roads is 10.073 kilometers. From Hampton Roads to the turning point is 15.906 kilometers, and the distance back to Newport News is 24.021 kilometers; making a total of 50 kilometers. There will be seven laps in this race, or a distance of 350 kilometers, equalling about 220 miles.

The Italian fliers, who are now on their way to the States, are to have two O. U.-1's for practice use.

Overhauled at Philadelphia.

The American planes to be used in the race are now at the Philadelphia navy yard being overhauled. As soon as this work is completed, the engines installed, and tests made, they will be flown to Hampton Roads. They will be taken over the course so that the pilots may familiarize themselves with their performance, but they will not be flown at wide open speed.

In 1913, M. Jacques Schneider, a distinguished sportsman of France, donated a beautiful silver trophy to be competed for by members of the International Aeronoutical Federation. The purpose M. Schneider had in mind was to foster international maratime aviation competition. To date there have been eight competitions held. The first two were held at Monaco, the 1913 race being won by the French pilot Prevost in a Deperdussin. In 1914 an English pilot named Pixton won the race with a Sopwith.

The World War then intervened and no race was held between 1915 and 1918. In 1919 the competiton was conducted at Bournemouth, England, and was won by Italy with a Savoia plane. This victory was disallowed, however, since it was claimed that the pilot, Janello, had failed to follow the course as marked for the race.

In 1920 and in 1921, Venice, Italy, was the scene of this events and Italy was the winner both times. This made it doubly unfortunate that Janello should have failed to comply with the rules, since these three successive victories would have given that country permanent possession of the trophy.

In 1922 Captain H. C. Biard, a British pilot won the race at Naples, Italy, and accordingly the next year the event was held at Cowes, England. For the first time America entered the competition, and Lieut. D. Rittenhouse of the United States navy won with a navy C.R.3, at an average speed of 177.38 miles per hour.

Planes Damaged in Trials.

In 1924 all preparations were made for the race to be held at Baltimore, Maryland, but owing to the fact that the foreign entrants were damaged in trials previous to the race, it was called off. America might have scored a technical win by flying the course alone, but she preferred not to do so.

In 1925 Baltimore again made preparations for this international event. A course over the Chesapeake bay was marked off, ten hangars were erected, runways were constructed, and preparations made to take care of participants and spectators. America, England and Italy entered their fastest planes. For the first time, also, an army flier entered the contest.

Captain Biard, the English pilot, who had won the 1922 race, entered but the day before the race took up the Supermarine for a trial and owing to some defect in the machine wrecked it in attempting to land. He was, therefore, forced to withdraw. The motor of one of the Italian planes failed to start, one American navy plane was forced down at the end of the sixth lap, and the second during the final lap.

As has been said before the United States won this victory with a Curtiss racer which had been converted into a seaplane. Those witnessing the race said that by the time the race was half over it was realized that Lieut. Doolittle would be the winner.

An interesting feature brought out by these races is the increased speed which has been developed by seaplanes since the first race in 1913. That race was won with an average speed of 44.7 miles per hour. The next year the speed increased to 55.5 miles, the next to 124.9. In 1920 it dropped again, the winner attaining an average speed of only 102.5. Nineteen-twenty-one showed an increase to 117.4, while 1922 brought the rate up to 146.5. Rittenhouse's speed when America first won the cup was 177.38, but this record was broken by Doolittle last year with a rate of 232 miles per hour.

America has the best chance of winning the cup permanently at the present time because of the conditions of the award. It is specified that in order for the trophy to become the permanent property of any country it is necessary that it be won by it three times in five years. The United States having won it twice since 1923 has an opportunity this year and again next year, if we are unfortunate this time, Italy, however, must begin anew since her last victory was in 1921.

My Favorite Stories

By IRVIN S. COBB

THE OBSERVATION OF A STUDENT.

There still are parts of the South where the ancient devotion between white employers and colored retainers endures. I am reminded of a case in point.

A young planter in Mississippi had for his favorite servant an old negro who had cared for him as a child and whose faithfulness and affection never had diminished. Usually, Uncle Jim was quite frank in his criticisms upon his beloved boss' behavior, but when the latter became engaed to a young lady of the vcinity who was exceedingly beautiful but who also was reported to be of a somewhat tempery and difficult disposition, Uncle Jim had nothing whatsoever to say. He offered no congratulations, ventured no opinions.

The young man's feelings suffered under this silence. Finally he said:

"Look here, Uncle Jim, you know, of course, that I'm fixing to marry Miss Slocum."

"Oh, yassuh, I knows it."

"I haven't heard you speak of it and yet you must realize how important a step in my life this is going to be."

"Yassuh, I reckin' it's gwine be mouty important—tekin' one thing wid ernudder."

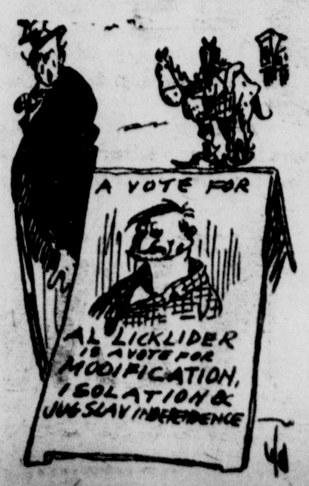

"Well, then, won't you give me your views on the subject? Don't you think Miss Slocum is a lovely young lady?"

"Well, suh," said the old man, "I'se took notice of one thing—de most pizenest snakes is nearly always got de most prettiest skins."

IT is not wise to use remedies which depend upon "dope" such as narcotics, chloroform, cannabis or tar products. They may stop your cough temporarily by numbing the tissues, as most cough mixtures do, but this is not enough.

The inflamed air passages must be soothed naturally, the germ-laden mucous loosened and expelled in order to effect a lasting recovery. PERTUSSIN assists Nature to accomplish these results in a remarkably short time—and it is absolutely harmless.

Don't dope YOUR Cough

IT is not wise to use remedies which depend upon "dope" such as narcotics, chloroform, cannabis or tar products. They may stop your cough temporarily by numbing the tissues, as most cough mixtures do, but this is not enough.

The inflamed air passages must be soothed naturally, the germ-laden mucous loosened and expelled in order to effect a lasting recovery. PERTUSSIN assists Nature to accomplish these results in a remarkably short time — and it is absolutely harmless.

WELLSVILLE MURDER SUSPECTS FAIL TO GET BOND

ATTORNEY SEEKS FREEDOM FOR CLEVELAND MEN

Accused are Named in Slaying of Patrolman Kenney.

Despite efforts of Cleveland friends to obtain their release, Mike Kazanno and Mike Scioa, arrested Thursday by Chief of Police John Fultz of Wellsville on first degree murder charges in the slaying of Patrolman James Kenney last May, are still in the county jail at Lisbon, awaiting action by the next grand jury.

A Cleveland attorney, purporting to represent the two men, called at the county jail Saturday night, apparently in quest of their release on bond.

The attorney was advised that inasmuch as the two defendants were being held for the next grand jury on a murder charge, no bond could be considered.

Saturday afternoon, the affidavit charging Rocco Carbicella and Bennie Carbicella, brothers, with first degree murder, was again read to the two men at Lisbon by Thomas Campsey, an Italian interpreter.

A chance remark overheard by Chief Fultz prompted him to make the trip to Cleveland last week, resulting in the arrest of Kazanno and Scioa.

BANK LOOT IS BEING SOUGHT

Keystone State Officers Probing Report of Buried Treasure.

Pennsylvania state police are in charge of the investigation into the report that loot of the robbery of the bank at Imperial, Pa., is buried somewhere in the vicinity of Steubenville, it was reported yesterday. The Pennsylvania officials are co-operating with Ohio authorities in an inquiry into the veracity of information regarding the presence of the cache of loot near the Ohio city, it was said.

The bank at Imperial was robbed in 1921 by a gang of aliens, one of whom is believed to be Paul Orlaski, convicted murderer, under sentence of death at Rockview penitentiary for the slaying of a guard in a recent attempt at escape. Attempts to communicate with friends in the Steubenville district led officials to the belief the loot of the bank robbery is hidden somewhere near the city. Whether they have definite information or not concerning the location of the stolen property has not been divulged.

Orlaski is believed not only to have been connected with the bank robbery, but with the robbery of a $93,000 payroll stolen in transit from a Pittsburg bank to the Weirton Steel company in 1920. The loot from this robbery was never recovered. Two indictments against aliens alleged to have participated in this robbery were returned by a United States grand jury sitting at Wheeling, but the men named in the indictments were never taken into custody. They are thought to have escaped to Italy.

According to information which has been general knowledge, the $100,000 loot is buried in a milk can somewhere in the Steubenville district. Orlaski recently received a stay of sentence from Governor Pinchot, of Pennsylvania.

DELINQUENT TAX LIST INCREASES

Delinquent taxes on real estate in West Virginia for 1924, showed an increase of $183,251.42 over the preceding fiscal year, according to figures just compiled by the state auditor's office. The total delinquencies for 1924 was $1,096,048.79 compared with $912,797.37 in 1923, the auditor shows. Books, showing the amounts for each of the counties, have been certified back to the sheriffs for collection before the middle of December, after which time all of the land involved will be sold for taxes due.

The return of the books by the auditor is an annual duty. Each year all of the delinquent taxes are reported to him for collection and he holds the books for one year. After that period additional penalties are added and the auditor sends the books back to the counties for final efforts to collect, or to sell the land.

BANK LOOT IS BEING SOUGHT

Keystone State Officers Probing Report of Buried Treasure.

Pennsylvania state police are in charge of the investigation into the report that loot of the robbery of the bank at Imperial, Pa., is buried somewhere in the vicinity of Steubenville, it was reported yesterday. The Pennsylvania officials are co-operating with Ohio authorities in an inquiry into the veracity of information regarding the presence of the cache of loot near the Ohio city, it was said.

The bank at Imperial was robbed in 1921 by a gang of aliens, one of whom is believed to be Paul Orlaski, convicted murderer, under sentence of death at Rockview penitentiary for the slaying of a guard in a recent attempt at escape. Attempts to communicate with friends in the Steubenville district led officials to the belief the loot of the bank robbery is hidden somewhere near the city. Whether they have definite information or not concerning the location of the stolen property has not been divulged.

Orlaski is believed not only to have been connected with the bank robbery, but with the robbery of a $93,000 payroll stolen in transit from a Pittsburg bank to the Weirton Steel company in 1920. The loot from this robbery was never recovered. Two indictments against aliens alleged to have participated in this robbery were returned by a United States grand jury sitting at Wheeling, but the men named in the indictments were never taken into custody. They are thought to have escaped to Italy.

According to information which has been general knowledge, the $100,000 loot is buried in a milk can somewhere in the Steubenville district. Orlaski recently received a stay of sentence from Governor Pinchot, of Pennsylvania.

OHIO THIEVES GET $100,000 IN DIAMONDS

New York Broker's Trunk Looted in Toledo Hotel.

ROBBERS FLEE

Crooks Trailed Owner From Buffalo, Switched Baggage Checks.

TOLEDO, Oct. 25.—A trunk containing $100,000 worth of diamonds was ransacked of its contents here early this morning by three thieves, according to the owner, Jack Kloville, a diamond broker of New York city.

Kloville had checked the trunk at Buffalo yesterday for Toledo, he claims. When he called at the Union station baggage room for it he was informed that it had disappeared.

Later the management of the hotel where Kloville was stopping found the empty trunk in one of its rooms. This room had been assigned to "John Jones, Harry Carl and George Jones, of Duluth," They had fled.

Police say that the thieves had trailed Kloville, and had switched bag gage checks in such a manner as to give them possession of it.

Kloville, who is connected with the firm of Kloville Brothers, 195 Broadway, declared the gems were insured.

HARRY HOUDINI UNDER KNIFE

Magician is Taken to Detroit Hospital for Operation.

DETROIT, Oct. 25.—Harry Houdini, world known magician, was taken to Grace hospital today for an operation for acute appendicitis. Houdini appeared at a local theatre last night despite considerable pain and a temperature of 104.

He is the second entertainer to go to the hospital here within a month. Frank Tinney, comedian, has been confined to a hospital here for more than three weeks. His condition however is improving.

Houdini arrived here Sunday afternoon. He had wired ahead to have a doctor meet him. Dr. Dretzka diagnosed the magician's illness as acute appendicitis.

Because there was a packed house Houdini insisted on going on. Today he was in so critical a condition that an immediate operation was held to be imperative.

same time there have been three reductions in taxes. Another tax reduction is proposed, he said, but it will not come at the next session of congress.

The senator also discussed the move which the administration launched a few months ago for a settlement of the foreign debt which, he declared, has been increased from $9,000,000,000 to $12.000 000,000 by interest charges accumulated since the war. Eighty percent of the foreign countries have already arranged a debt settlement, five countries, including France and Russia, still holding out.

"France must make a settlement of her debt," Fess said. "If she refuses her credit is gone and without credit her country can never be rehabilitated. Russia never will pay and we may as well give up any hope of trying to collect it from the Soviet government."

In an appeal for the vote of the rural districts Fess discussed congressional action which had been undertaken for the relief of the farmer during the past year, asserting that no other industry had received as much help as has been extended the agriculture. Congress has approved 16 pieces of legislation, wholly applicable to the farmer, he said.

Over Production of Coal.

"Secretary Hoover, in addressing building and loan executives at Columbus a few days ago, said the country's building program never has been so great as it has been during the past year," Senator Fess declared. "Every industry in the country, with the possible exception of the coal and textile trades, is enjoying a period of prosperity under the leadership of the Republican party. There is an overproduction of coal, and the same condition prevails in the textile industry, due, the manufacturers claim, to the abbrevated styles of women's clothing.

Fess answered a statement, which is attributed to ex-Senator Pomerene, in which Pomerene claimed that the high cost of shoes was due to a duty which has been placed upon them.

"As a matter of fact shoes are on the free list," Senator Fess declared. "Our Democratic friend denied having made the statement when he was taken to task about it. The speech was probably written by some of the party leaders and Pomerene repeated what he had been told without investigating. Sixty percent of everything that is used by the farmers is on the free list."

Fess urged support of Myers Y. Cooper in the race for governor, asserting that the Republican nominee, elected, would give Ohio a business administration.

He also appealed for the re-election of Congressman Frank Murphy, of the Ohio district, and advised his bor, and useful labor, would discourage that crime.

BUT great concerns, including banks, and especially the federal reserve, should avoid huge mail shipments of currency for payrolls, etc., and if such shipments must be made the government should find a way to make them safely. Sending out an unprotected mail driver with a million dollars in his load is criminal foolishness.

PROF. MILLIKAN, lecturing at Yale, says of the great and noble Galileo:

"That if Galileo's own work were subtracted from modern civilization the world would revert to the condition of life prevailing in ancient times for not a single dynamical device for the utilization of power or the transformation of energy stored up in nature can be designed today without the use of the mechanical laws discovered by Galileo, and completely unknown to the ancient world."

When that same Galileo, exploring the wonders of the universe, read that a man in Holland had manufactured "a glass that brought things nearer," he immediately made with his own hands the first real telescope, bringing to men for the first time the rings of Saturn, moons of Jupiter, etc.

When he told about these things and said that the earth goes around the sun instead of standing still with all the heavens revolving around it, they made him get down on his knees and swear that he abjured, abhorred and detested his "heresies."

That memory should make some fundamentalist gentlemen careful about denouncing new ideas. They may be true. The earth does go around the sun.

Wartime Coal Prices

last week prices for this coal were 18 and 20 cents, it was declared.

J. M. Deem, owner of a mine in California Hollow, also quoted 20 and 22 cents, which, it was claimed, were the prices charged in bygone years. Sufficient orders are on hand to keep the mine running for a week, it was announced at Deem's home.

First Snow of Season.

Most of the large mines in Columbiana county sell their output to outside communities and make no deliveries in East Liverpool. These companies, it is said, are selling their coal under contract. An official of the larger concerns operating in the south section of the county declared today that coal had been advanced about four cents per bushel by many of the Pittsburgh district operators but he could offer no explanation for the eight and nine-cent jump in prices announced by the retailers over the week-end.

The big mines in this county include the Penn-Ohio Coal company at Stop 47 on the Y. & O., the Seager Coal company at West Point, which ship over the Y. & O. railroad, and the mines in the Salineville district, which ship over the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad.

First snow of the season fell in East Liverpool this morning, the flakes melting as fast as they hit the ground. Thermometers registered the coldest day of the season.

Blame British Strike.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 25.—A sharp advance in coal prices in Ohio is imminent, according to fuel company officials here today.

While the rate of advance has not been made known it is admitted that the British coal strike will be directly responsible for the advance.

"For the first time in history we have had no summer dullness," declared a representative of the Cuyahoga coal company. "At present a million tons a month is being sent to England. Bituminous prices at the mines have gone up for eight successive weeks. This will cause the advance in retail prices."

The advance is to be general throughout the state, it is said. This is substantiated by the fact that retail prices were advanced at Ashland and East Liverpool the first cities to report an increase.

Touch of Winter

COLUMBUS, Oct. 25.—Central Ohio got its first official touch of winter this morning when snow fell in many cities within a 50-mile wide belt across the state, according to W. O. Alexander, official government observer here.

The fall was not enough to measure, said Alexander but it was reported throughout the district.

A thirty mile wind caused the mercury to drop five to ten degrees to the freezing point, but it will go up again before tomorrow, he added.

QUEEN MARIE SAYS FAREWELL TO NEW YORK

Special Train Off to West Point and Pacific Coast.

CURIOUS ON JOB

BY DAVID P. SENTNER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The special train carrying Queen Marie of Roumania, her son, Prince Nicholas, and her daughter, Princess Ileana, left the Grand Central terminal at 7:30 o'clock this morning enroute for West Point, Albany, Buffalo, Chicago and the Pacific Coast.

Only a handful of the curious were on hand to get a glympse of the queen, and they were disappointed, as she was asleep when the train pulled out. Thus the queen bade farewell to New York, where she landed a week ago, after a continuous round of public and private functions.

The royal party spent the night aboard the special train in Grand Central station after attending a performance of the queen's fantasy, "The Lily of Life," at the Metropolitan opera house.

The queen occupied J. P. Morgan's box. Nearby boxes cost from $1,000 to $5,000 each, while the galleries were thronged with spectators who had paid only 50 cents for admission.

Denies Vienna Reports.

Queen Marie denied reports from Vienna that her husband, King Ferdinand, had ordered her back home because of criticism of her visit to this country. She admitted having received cablegrams from the king, but asserted that he merely was concerned for her health.

Although Dr. Arthur B. Duell, a throat specialist who has been attending the queen, announced that her majesty was greatly improved, Miss Adeline Young, a trained nurse brought here from Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, accompanied the queen on her western tour.

Frederick Moore, secretary of the Maryhill museum, which the queen will visit, did not depart with the royal party. He had been in charge of the trip but resigned because of a tilt with Colonel James H. Carroll, counselor for the Northern Pacific railroad. Moore charged mismanagement of the trip.

Tributes to 48 States.

Tributes penned by the queen to each of the 48 states were being forwarded to the various governors today. In each of them her majesty said she wanted to visit the state named, although she will not visit California. Her message to the latter state follows:

California
Land of the Setting Sun,
of
The Golden Gate
The Days of '49.

"Of giant trees, of John Muir and Joquin Miller, Bret Harte, Edwin Markham, nature's great poet, and other big men; home of modern miracles, and genuine hearts.

"I greet you and greet you, California, great queen of the west, for your extreme beauty and for what you have accomplished for humanity.

"May I come and see you one day,
Marie, Queen of Rumania."

VIENNA, Oct. 25.—The Roumanian government has issued an official denial of reports that King Ferdinand has cabled to Queen Marie to return home, because of American criticisms of her tour, it was reported here today.

to return to the Baptist church at this time when the fall and winter religious activities are being initiated. With him is Mrs. Morris, who will remain with him during the present series of meetings.

Marion Ball Chorus Director.

Assisting the evangelist as chorus director is Marion Ball, a former Atlantic ocean ship engineer, who for five years has taken part in similar campaigns throughout the country. In some of these he aided the well known Paul Rader of Chicago.

While temporarily back at his sea duties last August, Mr. Ball, on the S. S. Mengore, en route to Jacksonville, Fla., from Baltimore, Md., suffered three vertebrae, five jaw bone and a head fracture which, following a few weeks' hospital stay, suddenly resumed a normal state following the efficacy of prayer.

"I was completely restored," declared Mr. Ball, preliminary to the morning musical service. "Henceforth I shall devote by life in God's service."

Buoyed by this revelation and inspired by the resultant hymn singing and the fervid compelling sermons of the visiting minister, the services culminated amid unprecedented early period enthusiasm as those in attendance all Sunday evening milled the aisles in unanimous handshaking mood mid strains of the song, "The Old Time Religion," which all sang.

Services at 7:30 Tonight.

Away to such an inviting start decision was reached to eliminate Monday as rest day and hold in consequence the campaign's second service at 7:30 o'clock tonight. "I do not know what I shall speak about tomorrow night," the evangelist announced. "I shall pray about the subject and then decide."

In keeping with the optimism of the visitors was that of Rev. H. H. O'Brien and his congregation. "This is going to be a great revival," he cryptically announced. "And we must have 400 persons, 200 of them women in the Sunday school next Sunday," he went on. "Shall we have them?" The vigorous response was its own guarantee.

With Miss Ruby Aley as accompanist several new songs were quickly taught the audience by Director Ball. These included "Step By Step I'll Walk With Jesus," "Tell Your Burdens to the Lord," "We're Bound for the Heavenly Land" and "Everybody Ought to Know Jesus."

The invocation of the evening service was made by Rev. A. H. O'Brien, the church pastor.

Preceding the discourse a trio consisting of Mr. Ball, Harry Chilton, church corister, and Carl Seraty sang "For He is Mine."

"I did not bring a revival in my grip," admonished Rev. Mr. Morris at the outset of his evening address. "I am glad to be back in East Liverpool to do all that I can to bring one to the city. But I warn you that to do so we must all get down on our knees and sincerely agonize for the spiritual blessing necessary for it. I shall say nothing offensive. I shall essay to bring the old, but ever new, gospel to you. It shall be my aim to preach new sermons save when special requests and the demands of the moment suggest that an old one be used."

DEATH ROLL

Naomi Mae Austin.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon for Naomi Mae, one-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Austin, of Congo, in charge of Rev. F. F. Freese, pastor of the Newell Nazarine church. Burial was made in Locust Hill cemetery.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Speculative interest in Wall street was largely concentrated on the government's cotton crop estimate at the beginning of trading today. Both the cotton and the stock market slowed up during the first hour, the cotton exchange being closed for trading between 10:55 and 11:15 o'clock. Stocks also marked time in this period, with narrow trading in the industrial speculative leaders and fractional price changes in most of the stocks sold.

The government's estimate of 17,454,000 bales was 400,000 bales above expectations. With the exception of the utility stocks and a few of the rubber and tire stocks, the trend of prices was downward.

Firmness of U. S. Steel common was the feature of the industrial list. The stock was in good demand around 139, against last week's low at 133¾, on market rumors that the directors would grant an extra cash dividend to stockholders at their meeting tomorrow. Some of the independent steel shares reflected this strength of the market leader, crucible and Bethlehem selling fractionally higher.

REED ORDERS OREGON SLUSH FUND INQUIRY

Missouri Senator Instructs McNary and King to Act.

PROBES RUMORS

Asks Investigation of Steiwer Senatorial Campaign.

FEDERAL BUILDING, KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 25.—A slush fund investigation of the Oregon senatorial campaign was ordered today by Senator James A. Reed, Democrat of Missouri, chairman of the senatorial campaign fund committee.

Reed instructed Senators McNary, Republican of Oregon and King, Democrat of Utah, to conduct the inquiry as soon as they complete present investigation into the Washington senatorial campaign.

Senator Reed asked them to investigate specifically the campaign of Fred Steiwer, the Republican nominee.

"I have it on good authority," said Reed, "that Franklin K. Griffith of the Portland Electric Power company gave the Portland Oregonian $35,000 for opposition to Senator Stanfield, who was defeated by Steiwer in the Republican primary, of which $25,000 was sent from the headquarters in Philadelphia. Only a senate inquiry can establish the fact as no report was made of this contribution to the state."

OLD "41" TRAIN IS DERAILED

Four Cars Jump Track Near Freedom Station.

Several passengers narrowly escaped injuries when the westbound Cleveland-Pittsburgh passenger train, due here at 2:37, was derailed near the Freedom, Pa., station at 1:45 o'clock Sunday morning.

Four baggage and mail cars left the tracks. Two of the cars were hurled across the tracks at an angle of about 60 degrees, while the others dropped to the ties. The cars remained upright.

Passengers in the three coaches and two sleepers directly back of the derailed cars were shaken up but not injured. The accident was caused, it is claimed, when a coupling pin in the first car dropped out.

A wreck crew from the Conway railroad yards was called out, but the train did not reach East Liverpool until nearly 6 o'clock. Most of the dozen or more East Liverpool-bound passengers were picked up by passing automobile drivers and brought to their destination.

McDermott to Tell All

cell with a comfortable cot, plenty of blankets, a table, chair and wash stand.

Pat Has Hearty Appetite.

When the jailer called him for breakfast this morning there was no response. Three calls went unanswered. With some alarm for the safety of the prisoner the jailer unlocked the outer door and went in and rattled the door to his cell. Finally there was a stir from under the blankets and Pat turned a sleepy face toward the door.

Then he smiled broadly.

"I'm feeling better than I have felt in a long time," he said in response to the turnkey's query.

He arose and dressed and ate his breakfast with evidence of a hearty appetite. Then he cleaned up his cell, made the bed and sat down to wait for a session with Prosecutor McClintock which may prove an eventful episode in the case.

Promised "Square Deal."

McDermott was in county jail here today, following a nation-wide search for him lasting 90 days. He was surrendered yesterday at Twin Rocks, Pa., by his two brothers, as the result of a carefully laid plan prepared by Slater. It is believed that the famous Cincinnati detective and the prosecutor, in a four-hour conference with McDermott's brothers preceding his surrender, made an agreement not to seek the death penalty for McDermott, provided he would testify against Louis Mazer and Ben Rudner, the other two men under indictment for the murder.

Statements by his brothers that they would furnish funds to finance Pat's defense, and a promise exacted by them from Slater, to give Pat a "square deal" were regarded as certain indications here that some sort of deal had been entered into whereby McDermott will "tell all he knows" about the killing of Mellett.

Lured Into Custody.

McDermott, it was learned today, spent most of the time since the nation-wide search was inaugurated for him soon after Mellett was slain, hiding in an apartment in Cleveland. He did not work, but maintained a servant and an automobile, it is said, and apparently was well supplied with funds.

He was lured into custody by means of a message sent him by his brothers, to the effect that his aged mother, who is ill, wanted to see him. That McDermott was not "in" on the plan of members of his family to "turn him up" was indicated by his greeting to the officers, when they were brought into his presence at Twin Rocks.

"You've double-crossed me," shouted McDermott to his brothers.

Talks Enroute to Canton.

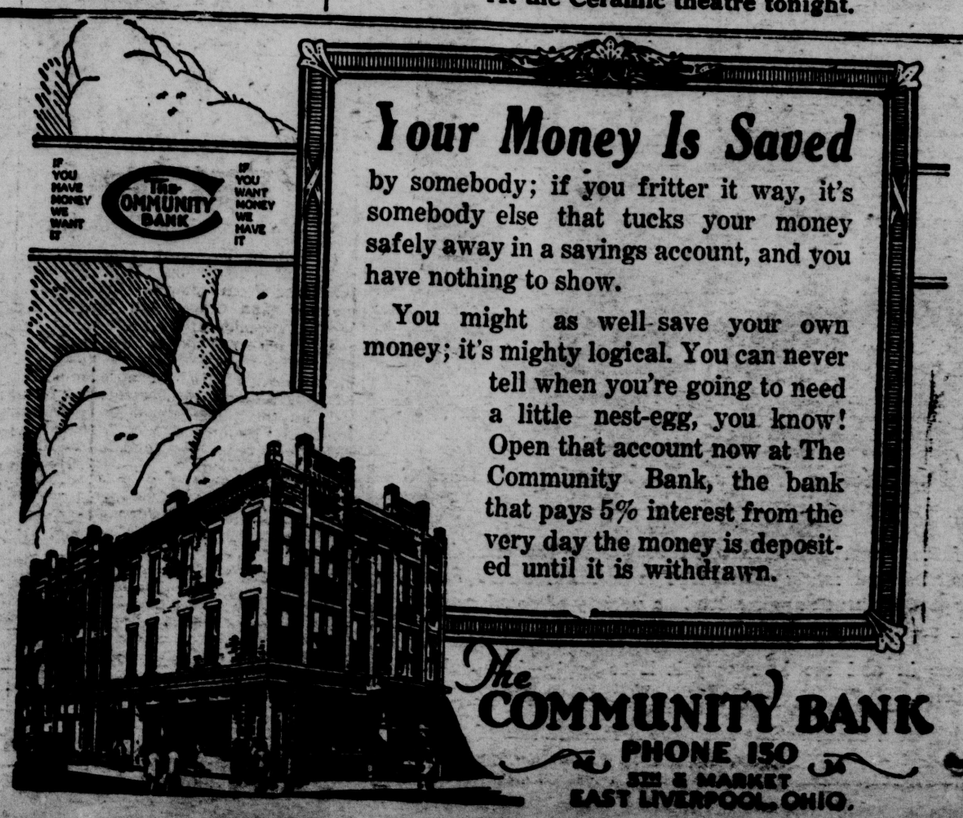

Slater and McClintock, although they would disclose no details of information already revealed to them during the long automobile ride from Twin Rocks to Canton yesterday by McDermott, or of facts they expected to elicit from him during a grilling today, expressed the confident belief that a full revelation of all angles of the plot to assassinate Mellett as a result of his campaign against Canton's vice ring, would come to light.

Don R. Mellett, 32, was shot early on the morning of July 16, by gunmen as he was putting his automobile in his garage at his home in Canton. During the two years he had been publisher of the Canton News, he had waged an unrelenting campaign against the operations of an alleged vice-ring in the city, and had been several times threatened by denizens of the "jungle," the underworld district.

OHIO THIEVES GET $100,000 IN DIAMONDS

New York Broker's Trunk Looted in Toledo Hotel.

ROBBERS FLEE

Crooks Trailed Owner From Buffalo, Switched Baggage Checks.

TOLEDO, Oct. 25.—A trunk containing $100,000 worth of diamonds was ransacked of its contents here early this morning by three thieves, according to the owner, Jack Kloville, a diamond broker of New York city.

Kloville had checked the trunk at Buffalo yesterday for Toledo, he claims. When he called at the Union station baggage room for it he was informed that it had disappeared.

Later the management of the hotel where Kloville was stopping found the empty trunk in one of its rooms. This room had been assigned to "John Jones, Harry Carl and George Jones, of Duluth." They had fled.

Police say that the thieves had trailed Kloville, and had switched bag gage checks in such a manner as to give them possession of it.

Kloville, who is connected with the firm of Kloville Brothers, 195 Broadway, declared the gems were insured.

Magician is Taken to Detroit Hospital for Operation.

DETROIT, Oct. 25.—Harry Houdini, world known magician, was taken to Grace hospital today for an operation for acute appendicitis. Houdini appeared at a local theatre last night despite considerable pain and a temperature of 104.

He is the second entertainer to go to the hospital here within a month. Frank Tinney, comedian, has been confined to a hospital here for more than three weeks. His condition however is improving.

Houdini arrived here Sunday afternoon. He had wired ahead to have a doctor meet him. Dr. Dretzka diagnosed the magician's illness as acute appendicitis.

Because there was a packed house Houdini insisted on going on. Today he was in so critical a condition that an immediate operation was held to be imperative.

same time there have been three reductions in taxes. Another tax reduction is proposed, he said, but it will not come at the next session of congress.

The senator also discussed the move which the administration launched a few months ago for a settlement of the foreign debt which, he declared, has been increased from $9,000,000,000 to $12.000 000,000 by interest charges accumulated since the war. Eighty percent of the foreign countries have already arranged a debt settlement, five countries, including France and Russia, still holding out.

"France must make a settlement of her debt,' Fess said. "If she refuses her credit is gone and without credit her country can never be rehabilitated. Russia never will pay and we may as well give up any hope of trying to collect it from the Soviet government."

In an appeal for the vote of the rural districts Fess discussed congressional action which had been undertaken for the relief of the farmer during the past year, asserting that no other industry had received as much help as has been extended the agriculture. Congress has approved 16 pieces of legislation, wholly applicable to the farmer, he said.

Over Production of Coal.

"Secretary Hoover, in addressing building and loan executives at Columbus a few days ago, said the country's building program never has been so great as it has been during the past year," Senator Fess declared. "Every industry in the country, with the possible exception of the coal and textile trades, is enjoying a period of prosperity under the leadership of the Republican party. There is an overproduction of coal, and the same condition prevails in the textile industry, due, the manufacturers claim, to the abbrevated styles of women's clothing.

Fess answered a statement, which he attributed to ex-Senator Pomerene, in which Pomerene claimed that the high cost of shoes was due to a duty which has been placed upon them.

"As a matter of fact shoes are on the free list," Senator Fess declared. "Our Democratic friend denied having made the statement when he was taken to task about it. The speech was probably written by some of the party leaders and Pomerene repeated what he had been told without investigating. Sixty percent of everything that is used by the farmers is on the free list."

Fess urged support of Myers Y. Cooper in the race for governor, asserting that the Republican nominee, if elected, would give Ohio a business administration.

He also appealed for the re-election of Congressman Frank Murphy, of the Ohio district, and advised his

BUT great concerns, including banks, and especially the federal reserve, should avoid huge mail shipments of currency for payrolls, etc., and if such shipments must be made the government should find a way to make them safely. Sending out an unprotected mail driver with a million dollars in his load is criminal foolishness.

PROF. MILLIKAN, lecturing at Yale, says of the great and noble Galileo:

"That if Galileo's own work were subtracted from modern civilization the world would revert to the condition of life prevailing in ancient times for not a single dynamical device for the utilization of power or the transformation of energy stored up in nature can be designed today without the use of the mechanical laws discovered by Galileo, and completely unknown to the ancient world."

When that same Galileo, exploring the wonders of the universe, read that a man in Holland had manufactured "a glass that brought things nearer," he immediately made with his own hands the first real telescope, bringto men for the first time the rings of Saturn, moons of Jupiter, etc.

When he told about these things and said that the earth goes around the sun instead of standing still with all the heavens revolving around it, they made him get down on his knees and swear that he abjured, abhorred and detested his "heresies."

That memory should make some fundamentalist gentlemen careful about denouncing new ideas. They may be true. The earth does go around the sun.

last week prices for this coal were 18 and 20 cents, it was declared.

J. M. Deem, owner of a mine in California Hollow, also quoted 20 and 22 cents, which, it was claimed, were the prices charged in bygone years. Sufficient orders are on hand to keep the mine running for a week, it was announced at Deem's home.

First Snow of Season.

Most of the large mines in Columbiana county sell their output to outside communities and make no deliveries in East Liverpool. These companies, it is said, are selling their coal under contract. An official of the larger concerns operating in the south section of the county declared today that coal had been advanced about four cents per bushel by many of the Pittsburgh district operators but he could offer no explanation for the eight and nine-cent jump in prices announced by the retailers over the week-end.

The big mines in this county include the Penn-Ohio Coal company at Stop 47 on the Y. & O., the Seager Coal company at West Point, which ship over the Y. & O. railroad, and the mines in the Salineville district, which ship over the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad.

First snow of the season fell in East Liverpool this morning, the flakes melting as fast as they hit the ground. Thermometers registered the coldest day of the season.

Blame British Strike.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 25.—A sharp advance in coal prices in Ohio is imminent, according to fuel company officials here today.

While the rate of advance has not been made known it is admitted that the British coal strike will be directly responsible for the advance.

"For the first time in history we have had no summer dullness," declared a representative of the Cuyahoga coal company. "At present a million tons a month is being sent to England. Bituminous prices at the mines have gone up for eight successive weeks. This will cause the advance in retail prices."

The advance is to be general throughout the state, it is said. This is substantiated by the fact that retail prices were advanced at Ashland and East Liverpool the first cities to report an increase.

Touch of Winter

COLUMBUS, Oct. 25.—Central Ohio got its first official touch of winter this morning when snow fell in many cities within a 50-mile wide belt across the state, according to W. O. Alexander, official government observer here.

The fall was not enough to measure, said Alexander but it was reported throughout the district.

A thirty mile wind caused the mercury to drop five to ten degrees to the freezing point, but it will go up again before tomorrow, he added.

QUEEN MARIE SAYS FAREWELL TO NEW YORK

Special Train Off to West Point and Pacific Coast.

BY DAVID P. SENTNER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The special train carrying Queen Marie of Roumania, her son, Prince Nicholas, and her daughter, Princess Ileana, left the Grand Central terminal at 7:30 o'clock this morning enroute for West Point, Albany, Buffalo, Chicago and the Pacific Coast.

Only a handful of the curious were on hand to get a glympse of the queen, and they were disappointed, as she was asleep when the train pulled out. Thus the queen bade farewell to New York, where she landed a week ago, after a continuous round of public and private functions.

The royal party spent the night aboard the special train in Grand Central station after attending a performance of the queen's fantasy, "The Lily of Life," at the Metropolitan opera house.

The queen occupied J. P. Morgan's box. Nearby boxes cost from $1,000 to $5,000 each, while the galleries were thronged with spectators who had paid only 50 cents for admission.

Denies Vienna Reports.

Queen Marie denied reports from Vienna that her husband, King Ferdinand, had ordered her back home because of criticism of her visit to this country. She admitted having received cablegrams from the king, but asserted that he merely was concerned for her health.

Although Dr. Arthur B. Duell, a throat specialist who has been attending the queen, announced that her majesty was greatly improved, Miss Adeline Young, a trained nurse brought here from Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, accompanied the queen on her western tour.

Frederick Moore, secretary of the Maryhill museum, which the queen will visit, did not depart with the royal party. He had been in charge of the trip but resigned because of a tilt with Colonel James H. Carroll, counselor for the Northern Pacific railroad. Moore charged mismanagement of the trip.

Tributes to 48 States.

Tributes penned by the queen to each of the 48 states were being forwarded to the various governors today. In each of them her majesty said she wanted to visit the state named, although she will not visit California. Her message to the latter state follows:

California
Land of the Setting Sun,
of
The Days of '49.

"Of giant trees, of John Muir and Joquin Miller, Bret Harte, Edwin Markham, nature's great poet, and other big men; home of modern miracles, and genuine hearts.

"I greet you and greet you, California, great queen of the west, for your extreme beauty and for what you have accomplished for humanity.

"May I come and see you one day,
Marie, Queen of Rumania."

VIENNA, Oct. 25.—The Roumanian government has issued an official denial of reports that King Ferdinand has cabled to Queen Marie to return home, because of American criticisms of her tour, it was reported here today.

to return to the Baptist church at this time when the fall and winter religious activities are being initiated. With him is Mrs. Morris, who will remain with him during the present series of meetings.

Marion Ball Chorus Director.

Assisting the evangelist as chorus director is Marion Ball, a former Atlantic ocean ship engineer, who for five years has taken part in similar campaigns throughout the country. In some of these he aided the well known Paul Rader of Chicago.

While temporarily back at his sea duties last August, Mr. Ball, on the S. S. Mengore, en route to Jacksonville, Fla., from Baltimore, Md., suffered three vertebrae, five jaw bone and a head fracture which, following a few weeks' hospital stay, suddenly resumed a normal state following the efficacy of prayer.

"I was completely restored," declared Mr. Ball, preliminary to the morning musical service. "Henceforth I shall devote by life in God's service."

Buoyed by this revelation and inspired by the resultant hymn singing and the fervid compelling sermons of the visiting minister, the services culminated amid unprecedented early period enthusiasm as those in attendance all Sunday evening milled the aisles in unanimous handshaking mood mid strains of the song, "The Old Time Religion," which all sang.

Services at 7:30 Tonight.

Away to such an inviting start decision was reached to eliminate Monday as rest day and hold in consequence the campaign's second service at 7:30 o'clock tonight. "I do not know what I shall speak about tomorrow night," the evangelist announced. "I shall pray about the subject and then decide."

In keeping with the optimism of the visitors was that of Rev. H. H. O'Brien and his congregation. "This is going to be a great revival," he cryptically announced. "And we must have 400 persons, 200 of them women in the Sunday school next Sunday," he went on. "Shall we have them?" The vigorous response was its own guarantee.

With Miss Ruby Aley as accompanist several new songs were quickly taught the audience by Director Ball. These included "Step By Step I'll Walk With Jesus," "Tell Your Burdens to the Lord," "We're Bound for the Heavenly Land" and "Everybody Ought to Know Jesus."

The invocation of the evening service was made by Rev. A. H. O'Brien, the church pastor.

Preceding the discourse a trio consisting of Mr. Ball, Harry Chilton, church corister, and Carl Seraty sang "For He is Mine.'

"I did not bring a revival in my grip," admonished Rev. Mr. Morris at the outset of his evening address. "I am glad to be back in East Liverpool to do all that I can to bring one to the city. But I warn you that to do so we must all get down on our knees and sincerely agonize for the spiritual blessing necessary for it. I shall say nothing offensive. I shall essay to bring the old, but ever new, gospel to you. It shall be my aim to preach new sermons save when special requests and the demands of the moment suggest that an old one be used."

DEATH ROLL

Naomi Mae Austin.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon for Naomi Mae, one-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Austin, of Congo, in charge of Rev. F. F. Freese, pastor of the Newell Nazarine church. Burial was made in Locust Hill cemetery.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Speculative interest in Wall street was largely concentrated on the government's cotton crop estimate at the beginning of trading today. Both the cotton and the stock market slowed up during the first hour, the cotton exchange being closed for trading between 10:55 and 11:15 o'clock. Stocks also marked time in this period, with narrow trading in the industrial speculative leaders and fractional price changes in most of the stocks sold.

The government's estimate of 17,454,000 bales was 400,000 bales above expectations. With the exception of the utility stocks and a few of the rubber and tire stocks, the trend of prices was downward.

Firmness of U. S. Steel common was the feature of the industrial list. The stock was in good demand around 139, against last week's low at 133¾, on market rumors that the directors would grant an extra cash dividend to stockholders at their meeting tomorrow. Some of the independent steel shares reflected this strength of the market leader, crucible and Bethlehem selling fractionally higher.

REED ORDERS OREGON SLUSH FUND INQUIRY

Missouri Senator Instructs McNary and King to Act.

PROBES RUMORS

Asks Investigation of Steiwer Senatorial Campaign.

FEDERAL BUILDING, KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 25.—A slush fund investigation of the Oregon senatorial campaign was ordered today by Senator James A. Reed, Democrat of Missouri, chairman of the senatorial campaign fund committee.

Reed instructed Senators McNary, Republican of Oregon and King, Democrat of Utah, to conduct the inquiry as soon as they complete present investigation into the Washington senatorial campaign.

Senator Reed asked them to investigate specifically the campaign of Fred Steiwer, the Republican nominee.

"I have it on good authority," said Reed, "that Franklin K. Griffith of the Portland Electric Power company gave the Portland Oregonian $35,000 for opposition to Senator Stanfield, who was defeated by Steiwer in the Republican primary, of which $25,000 was sent from the headquarters in Philadelphia. Only a senate inquiry can establish the fact as no report was made of this contribution to the state."

OLD "41" TRAIN IS DERAILED

Four Cars Jump Track Near Freedom Station.

Several passengers narrowly escaped injuries when the westbound Cleveland-Pittsburgh passenger train, due here at 2:37, was derailed near the Freedom, Pa., station at 1:45 o'clock Sunday morning.

Four baggage and mail cars left the tracks. Two of the cars were hurled across the tracks at an angle of about 60 degrees, while the others dropped to the ties. The cars remained upright.

Passengers in the three coaches and two sleepers directly back of the derailed cars were shaken up but not injured. The accident was caused, it is claimed, when a coupling pin in the first car dropped out.

A wreck crew from the Conway railroad yards was called out, but the train did not reach East Liverpool until nearly 6 o'clock. Most of the dozen or more East Liverpool-bound passengers were picked up by passing automobile drivers and brought to their destination.

McDermott to Tell All

cell with a comfortable cot, plenty of blankets, a table, chair and wash stand.

Pat Has Hearty Appetite.

When the jailer called him for breakfast this morning there was no response. Three calls went unanswered. With some alarm for the safety of the prisoner the jailer unlocked the outer door and went in and rattled the door to his cell. Finally there was a stir from under the blankets and Pat turned a sleepy face toward the door.

Then he smiled broadly.

"I'm feeling better than I have felt in a long time," he said in response to the turnkey's query.

He arose and dressed and ate his breakfast with evidence of a hearty appetite. Then he cleaned up his cell, made the bed and sat down to wait for a session with Prosecutor McClintock which may prove an eventful episode in the case.

Promised "Square Deal."

McDermott was in county jail here today, following a nation-wide search for him lasting 90 days. He was surrendered yesterday at Twin Rocks, Pa., by his two brothers, as the result of a carefully laid plan prepared by Slater. It is believed that the famous Cincinnati detective and the prosecutor, in a four-hour conference with McDermott's brothers preceding his surrender, made an agreement not to seek the death penalty for McDermott, provided he would testify against Louis Mazer and Ben Rudner, the other two men under indictment for the murder.

Statements by his brothers that they would furnish funds to finance Pat's defense, and a promise exacted by them from Slater, to give Pat a "square deal" were regarded as certain indications here that some sort of deal had been entered into whereby McDermott will "tell all he knows" about the killing of Mellett.

Lured Into Custody.

McDermott, it was learned today, spent most of the time since the nation-wide search was inaugurated for him soon after Mellett was slain, hiding in an apartment in Cleveland. He did not work, but maintained a servant and an automobile, it is said, and apparently was well supplied with funds.

He was lured into custody by means of a message sent him by his brothers, to the effect that his aged mother, who is ill, wanted to see him. That McDermott was not "in" on the plan of members of his family to "turn him up" was indicated by his greeting to the officers, when they were brought into his presence at Twin Rocks.

"You've double-crossed me," shouted McDermott to his brothers.

Talks Enroute to Canton.

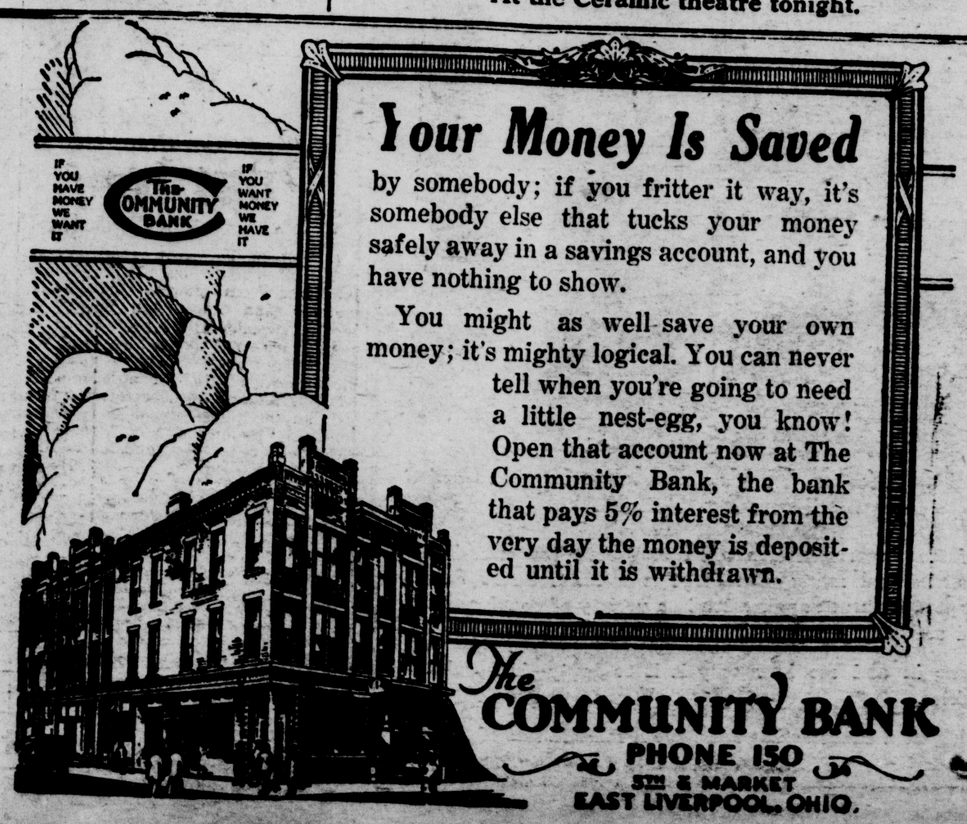

Slater and McClintock, although they would disclose no details of information already revealed to them during the long automobile ride from Twin Rocks to Canton yesterday by McDermott, or of facts they expected to elicit from him during a grilling today, expressed the confident belief that a full revelation of all angles of the plot to assassinate Mellett as a result of his campaign against Canton's vice ring, would come to light.

Don R. Mellett, 32, was shot early on the morning of July 16, by gunmen as he was putting his automobile in his garage at his home in Canton. During the two years he had been publisher of the Canton News, he had waged an unrelenting campaign against the operations of an alleged vice-ring in the city, and had been several times threatened by denizens of the "jungle," the underworld district.

OHIO THIEVES GET $100,000 IN DIAMONDS

New York Broker's Trunk Looted in Toledo Hotel.

ROBBERS FLEE

Crooks Trailed Owner From Buffalo, Switched Baggage Checks.

TOLEDO, Oct. 25.—A trunk containing $100,000 worth of diamonds was ransacked of its contents here early this morning by three thieves, according to the owner, Jack Kloville, a diamond broker of New York city.

Kloville had checked the trunk at Buffalo yesterday for Toledo, he claims. When he called at the Union station baggage room for it he was informed that it had disappeared.

Later the management of the hotel where Kloville was stopping found the empty trunk in one of its rooms. This room had been assigned to "John Jones, Harry Carl and George Jones, of Duluth," They had fled.

Police say that the thieves had trailed Kloville, and had switched bag gage checks in such a manner as to give them possession of it.

Kloville, who is connected with the firm of Kloville Brothers, 195 Broadway, declared the gems were insured.

same time there have been three reductions in taxes. Another tax reduction is proposed, he said, but it will not come at the next session of congress.

The senator also discussed the move which the administration launched a few months ago for a settlement of the foreign debt which, he declared, has been increased from $9,000,000,000 to $12.000 000,000 by interest charges accumulated since the war. Eighty percent of the foreign countries have already arranged a debt settlement, five countries, including France and Russia, still holding out.

"France must make a settlement of her debt,' Fess said. "If she refuses her credit is gone and without credit her country can never be rehabilitated. Russia never will pay and we may as well give up any hope of trying to collect it from the Soviet government."

In an appeal for the vote of the rural districts Fess discussed congressional action which had been undertaken for the relief of the farmer during the past year, asserting that no other industry had received as much help as has been extended the agriculture. Congress has approved 16 pieces of legislation, wholly applicable to the farmer, he said.

Over Production of Coal.

"Secretary Hoover, in addressing building and loan executives at Columbus a few days ago, said the country's building program never has been so great as it has been during the past year," Senator Fess declared. "Every industry in the country, with the possible exception of the coal and textile trades, is enjoying a period of prosperity under the leadership of the Republican party. There is an overproduction of coal, and the same condition prevails in the textile industry, due, the manufacturers claim, to the abbrevated styles of women's clothing.

Fess answered a statement, which he attributed to ex-Senator Pomerene, in which Pomerene claimed that the high cost of shoes was due to a duty which has been placed upon them.

"As a matter of fact shoes are on the free list," Senator Fess declared. "Our Democratic friend denied having made the statement when he was taken to task about it. The speech was probably written by some of the party leaders and Pomerene repeated what he had been told without investigating. Sixty percent of everything that is used by the farmers is on the free list."

Fess urged support of Myers Y. Cooper in the race for governor, asserting that the Republican nominee, if elected, would give Ohio a business-like administration.

He also appealed for the re-election of Congressman Frank Murphy, of the 18th Ohio district, and advised his bor, and useful labor, would discourage that crime.

BUT great concerns, including banks, and especially the federal reserve, should avoid huge mail shipments of currency for payrolls, etc., and if such shipments must be made the government should find a way to make them safely. Sending out an unprotected mail driver with a million dollars in his load is criminal foolishness.

PROF. MILLIKAN, lecturing at Yale, says of the great and noble Galileo:

"That if Galileo's own work were subtracted from modern civilization the world would revert to the condition of life prevailing in ancient times for not a single dynamical device for the utilization of power or the transformation of energy stored up in nature can be designed today without the use of the mechanical laws discovered by Galileo, and completely unknown to the ancient world."

When that same Galileo, exploring the wonders of the universe, read that a man in Holland had manufactured "a glass that brought things nearer," he immediately made with his own hands the first real telescope, bringing to men for the first time the rings of Saturn, moons of Jupiter, etc.

When he told about these things and said that the earth goes around the sun instead of standing still with all the heavens revolving around it, they made him get down on his knees and swear that he abjured, abhorred and detested his "heresies."

That memory should make some fundamentalist gentlemen careful about denouncing new ideas. They may be true. The earth does go around the sun.

last week prices for this coal were 18 and 20 cents, it was declared.

J. M. Deem, owner of a mine in California Hollow, also quoted 20 and 22 cents, which, it was claimed, were the prices charged in bygone years. Sufficient orders are on hand to keep the mine running for a week, it was announced at Deem's home.

First Snow of Season.

Most of the large mines in Columbiana county sell their output to outside communities and make no deliveries in East Liverpool. These companies, it is said, are selling their coal under contract. An official of the larger concerns operating in the south section of the county declared today that coal had been advanced about four cents per bushel by many of the Pittsburgh district operators but he could offer no explanation for the eight and nine-cent jump in prices announced by the retailers over the week-end.

The big mines in this county include the Penn-Ohio Coal company at Stop 47 on the Y. & O., the Seager Coal company at West Point, which ship over the Y. & O. railroad, and the mines in the Salineville district, which ship over the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad.

First snow of the season fell in East Liverpool this morning, the flakes melting as fast as they hit the ground. Thermometers registered the coldest day of the season.

Blame British Strike.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 25.—A sharp advance in coal prices in Ohio is imminent, according to fuel company officials here today.

While the rate of advance has not been made known it is admitted that the British coal strike will be directly responsible for the advance.

"For the first time in history we have had no summer dullness," declared a representative of the Cuyahoga coal company. "At present a million tons a month is being sent to England. Bituminous prices at the mines have gone up for eight successive weeks. This will cause the advance in retail prices."

The advance is to be general throughout the state, it is said. This is substantiated by the fact that retail prices were advanced at Ashland and East Liverpool the first cities to report an increase.

Touch of Winter

COLUMBUS, Oct. 25.—Central Ohio got its first official touch of winter this morning when snow fell in many cities within a 50-mile wide belt across the state, according to W. O. Alexander, official government observer here.

The fall was not enough to measure, said Alexander but it was reported throughout the district.

A thirty mile wind caused the mercury to drop five to ten degrees to the freezing point, but it will go up again before tomorrow, he added.

"In the senate," wrote the president, "he holds a place which no one else could command for Massachusetts, admired for his wisdom and respected for his integrity. He has been a benefactor to his state and nation. I know how able and conscientious he is. In his rapidly taking place as a great senator I have an increasing pride in knowing he is from my state."

QUEEN MARIE SAYS FAREWELL TO NEW YORK

Special Train Off to West Point and Pacific Coast.

BY DAVID P. SENTNER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The special train carrying Queen Marie of Roumania, her son, Prince Nicholas, and her daughter, Princess Ileana, left the Grand Central terminal at 7:30 o'clock this morning enroute for West Point, Albany, Buffalo, Chicago and the Pacific Coast.

Only a handful of the curious were on hand to get a glympse of the queen, and they were disappointed, as she was asleep when the train pulled out. Thus the queen bade farewell to New York, where she landed a week ago, after a continuous round of public and private functions.

The royal party spent the night aboard the special train in Grand Central station after attending a performance of the queen's fantasy, "The Lily of Life," at the Metropolitan opera house.

The queen occupied J. P. Morgan's box. Nearby boxes cost from $1,000 to $5,000 each, while the galleries were thronged with spectators who had paid only 50 cents for admission.

Denies Vienna Reports.

Queen Marie denied reports from Vienna that her husband, King Ferdinand, had ordered her back home because of criticism of her visit to this country. She admitted having received cablegrams from the king, but asserted that he merely was concerned for her health.

Although Dr. Arthur B. Duell, a throat specialist who has been attending the queen, announced that her majesty was greatly improved, Miss Adeline Young, a trained nurse brought here from Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, accompanied the queen on her western tour.

Frederick Moore, secretary of the Maryhill museum, which the queen will visit, did not depart with the royal party. He had been in charge of the trip but resigned because of a tilt with Colonel James H. Carroll, counselor for the Northern Pacific railroad. Moore charged mismanagement of the trip.

Tributes to 48 States.

Tributes penned by the queen to each of the 48 states were being forwarded to the various governors today. In each of them her majesty said she wanted to visit the state named, although she will not visit California. Her message to the latter state follows:

California
Land of the Setting Sun,
of
The Days of '49.

"Of giant trees, of John Muir and Joquin Miller, Bret Harte, Edwin Markham, nature's great poet, and other big men; home of modern miracles, and genuine hearts.

"I greet you and greet you, California, great queen of the west, for your extreme beauty and for what you have accomplished for humanity.

"May I come and see you one day,
Marie, Queen of Rumania."

VIENNA, Oct. 25.—The Roumanian government has issued an official denial of reports that King Ferdinand has cabled to Queen Marie to return home, because of American criticisms of her tour, it was reported here today.

to return to the Baptist church at this time when the fall and winter religious activities are being initiated. With him is Mrs. Morris, who will remain with him during the present series of meetings.

Marion Ball Chorus Director.

Assisting the evangelist as chorus director is Marion Ball, a former Atlantic ocean ship engineer, who for five years has taken part in similar campaigns throughout the country. In some of these he aided the well known Paul Rader of Chicago.

While temporarily back at his sea duties last August, Mr. Ball, on the S. S. Mengore, en route to Jacksonville, Fla., from Baltimore, Md., suffered three vertebrae, five jaw bone and a head fracture which, following a few weeks' hospital stay, suddenly resumed a normal state following the efficacy of prayer.

"I was completely restored," declared Mr. Ball, preliminary to the morning musical service. "Henceforth I shall devote by life in God's service."

Buoyed by this revelation and inspired by the resultant hymn singing and the fervid compelling sermons of the visiting minister, the services culminated amid unprecedented early period enthusiasm as those in attendance all Sunday evening milled the aisles in unanimous handshaking mood mid strains of the song, "The Old Time Religion," which all sang.

Services at 7:30 Tonight.

Away to such an inviting start decision was reached to eliminate Monday as rest day and hold in consequence the campaign's second service at 7:30 o'clock tonight. "I do not know what I shall speak about tomorrow night," the evangelist announced. "I shall pray about the subject and then decide."

In keeping with the optimism of the visitors was that of Rev. H. H. O'Brien and his congregation. "This is going to be a great revival," he cryptically announced. "And we must have 400 persons, 200 of them women in the Sunday school next Sunday," he went on. "Shall we have them?" The vigorous response was its own guarantee.

With Miss Ruby Aley as accompanist several new songs were quickly taught the audience by Director Ball. These included "Step By Step I'll Walk With Jesus," "Tell Your Burdens to the Lord," "We're Bound for the Heavenly Land" and "Everybody Ought to Know Jesus."

The invocation of the evening service was made by Rev. A. H. O'Brien, the church pastor.

Preceding the discourse a trio consisting of Mr. Ball, Harry Chilton, church corister, and Carl Seraty sang "For He is Mine."

"I did not bring a revival in my grip," admonished Rev. Mr. Morris at the outset of his evening address. "I am glad to be back in East Liverpool to do all that I can to bring one to the city. But I warn you that to do so we must all get down on our knees and sincerely agonize for the spiritual blessing necessary for it. I shall say nothing offensive. I shall essay to bring the old, but ever new, gospel to you. It shall be my aim to preach new sermons save when special requests and the demands of the moment suggest that an old one be used."

DEATH ROLL

Namomi Mae Austin.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon for Naomi Mae, one-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Austin, of Congo, in charge of Rev. F. F. Freese, pastor of the Newell Nazarine church. Burial was made in Locust Hill cemetery.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Speculative interest in Wall street was largely concentrated on the government's cotton crop estimate at the beginning of trading today. Both the cotton and the stock market slowed up during the first hour, the cotton exchange being closed for trading between 10:55 and 11:15 o'clock. Stocks also marked time in this period, with narrow trading in the industrial speculative leaders and fractional price changes in most of the stocks sold.

The government's estimate of 17,454,000 bales was 400,000 bales above expectations. With the exception of the utility stocks and a few of the rubber and tire stocks, the trend of prices was downward.

Firmness of U. S. Steel common was the feature of the industrial list. The stock was in good demand around 139, against last week's low at 133¾, on market rumors that the directors would grant an extra cash dividend to stockholders at their meeting tomorrow. Some of the independent steel shares reflected this strength of the market leader, crucible and Bethlehem selling fractionally higher.

REED ORDERS OREGON SLUSH FUND INQUIRY

PROBES RUMORS

Asks Investigation of Steiwer Senatorial Campaign.

FEDERAL BUILDING, KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 25.—A slush fund investigation of the Oregon senatorial campaign was ordered today by Senator James A. Reed, Democrat of Missouri, chairman of the senatorial campaign fund committee.

Reed instructed Senators McNary, Republican of Oregon and King, Democrat of Utah, to conduct the inquiry as soon as they complete present investigation into the Washington senatorial campaign.

Senator Reed asked them to investigate specifically the campaign of Fred Steiwer, the Republican nominee.

"I have it on good authority," said Reed, "that Franklin K. Griffith of the Portland Electric Power company gave the Portland Oregonian $35,000 for opposition to Senator Stanfield, who was defeated by Steiwer in the Republican primary, of which $25,000 was sent from the headquarters in Philadelphia. Only a senate inquiry can establish the fact as no report was made of this contribution to the state."

OLD "41" TRAIN IS DERAILED

Four Cars Jump Track Near Freedom Station.

Several passengers narrowly escaped injuries when the westbound Cleveland-Pittsburgh passenger train, due here at 2:37, was derailed near the Freedom, Pa., station at 1:45 o'clock Sunday morning.

Four baggage and mail cars left the tracks. Two of the cars were hurled across the tracks at an angle of about 60 degrees, while the others dropped to the ties. The cars remained upright.

Passengers in the three coaches and two sleepers directly back of the derailed cars were shaken up but not injured. The accident was caused, it is claimed, when a coupling pin in the first car dropped out.

A wreck crew from the Conway railroad yards was called out, but the train did not reach East Liverpool until nearly 6 o'clock. Most of the dozen or more East Liverpool-bound passengers were picked up by passing automobile drivers and brought to their destination.

McDermott to Tell All

cell with a comfortable cot, plenty of blankets, a table, chair and wash stand.

Pat Has Hearty Appetite.

When the jailer called him for breakfast this morning there was no response. Three calls went unanswered. With some alarm for the safety of the prisoner the jailer unlocked the outer door and went in and rattled the door to his cell. Finally there was a stir from under the blankets and Pat turned a sleepy face toward the door.

Then he smiled broadly.

"I'm feeling better than I have felt in a long time," he said in response to the turnkey's query.

He arose and dressed and ate his breakfast with evidence of a hearty appetite. Then he cleaned up his cell, made the bed and sat down to wait for a session with Prosecutor McClintock which may prove an eventful episode in the case.

Promised "Square Deal."

McDermott was in county jail here today, following a nation-wide search for him lasting 90 days. He was surrendered yesterday at Twin Rocks, Pa., by his two brothers, as the result of a carefully laid plan prepared by Slater. It is believed that the famous Cincinnati detective and the prosecutor, in a four-hour conference with McDermott's brothers preceding his surrender, made an agreement not to seek the death penalty for McDermott, provided he would testify against Louis Mazer and Ben Rudner, the other two men under indictment for the murder.

Statements by his brothers that they would furnish funds to finance Pat's defense, and a promise exacted by them from Slater, to give Pat a "square deal" were regarded as certain indications here that some sort of deal had been entered into whereby McDermott will "tell all he knows" about the killing of Mellett.

Lured Into Custody.

McDermott, it was learned today, spent most of the time since the nation-wide search was inaugurated for him soon after Mellett was slain, hiding in an apartment in Cleveland. He did not work, but maintained a servant and an automobile, it is said, and apparently was well supplied with funds.

He was lured into custody by means of a message sent him by his brothers, to the effect that his aged mother, who is ill, wanted to see him. That McDermott was not "in" on the plan of members of his family to "turn him up" was indicated by his greeting to the officers, when they were brought into his presence at Twin Rocks.

"You've double-crossed me," shouted McDermott to his brothers.

Talks Enroute to Canton.

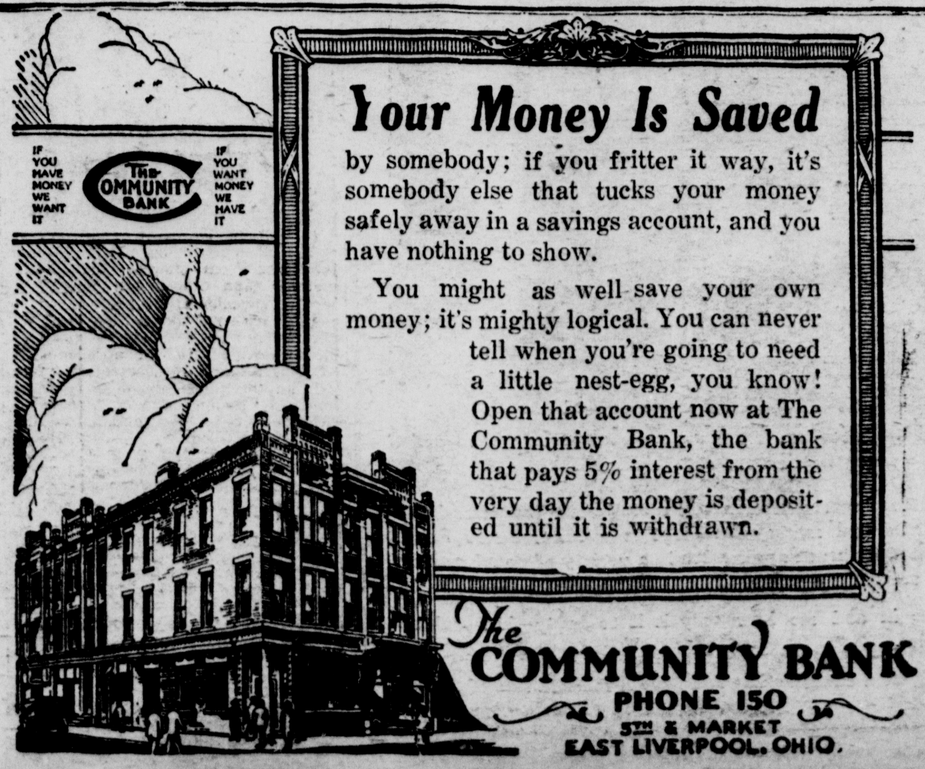

Slater and McClintock, although they would disclose no details of information already revealed to them during the long automobile ride from Twin Rocks to Canton yesterday by McDermott, or of facts they expected to elicit from him during a grilling today, expressed the confident belief that a full revelation of all angles of the plot to assassinate Mellett as a result of his campaign against Canton's vice ring, would come to light.

Don R. Mellett, 32, was shot early on the morning of July 16, by gunmen as he was putting his automobile in his garage at his home in Canton. During the two years he had been publisher of the Canton News, he had waged an unrelenting campaign against the operations of an alleged vice-ring in the city, and had been several times threatened by denizens of the "jungle," the underworld district.

Damages Amounting to $40,000 Sought by Salem Residents.

Eight actions have been filed in common pleas court by Metzgar, McCarty & McCorkhill of Salem against the city of Salem wherein a total of $40,000 damages is sought by different interests. The suits against the municipality are additions to the already long list of actions now pending in court, wherein damage to property is said to have resulted from waters from the municipal disposal plant.

It is understood that a number of additional suits of similar import remain to be filed.

In addition to these numerous "sewer cases" a large number of actions are also pending in common pleas court against the City of Salem as a result of the typhoid epidemic at Salem some years ago., these petitions having been filed by an Alliance law firm. Recently the court was asked by these plaintiffs through their counsel for a change of venue in the "typhoid cases," but this motion was denied by the court.

The case was not contested, and aside from the testimony of the plaintiff only the usual number of character witnesses were examined.

Building for the Future

ELECTRIC service companies find themselves today in the same position that the railroads occupied seventy-five years ago. The railroads extended their lines into new fields years ahead of commercial development there.

We, too, must build for the future!

The demands of the factories, stores, street lighting systems and homes in the communities served by this Company will be doubled and trebled within a very short time. Generating stations, high tension lines and city systems must be built today for the requirements of our consumers ten and fifteen years hence.

The extra capacity of our two large generating stations together with the surplus on neighboring systems that are connected to our lines for emergency service, makes a liberal reserve that assures every user a dependable electric service for many years to come.

"MIDNIGHT SUN" AT AMERICAN

Russian Director's Big Film Spectacle is Booked.

In "The Midnight Sun," Dimitri Buchowetzki, noted Russian director, has produced one of the biggest screen spectacles of the year. It is a Russian story staged in a lavish setting that rivals even "The Phantom of the Opera" and other great screen successes. It is Universal's Super-Jewel offering for this year and is coming to the American theatre, commencing today, for a four-day run. In addition to its magnificent sets, Universal spared no expense when it came to casting the players, making of "The Midnight Sun" an all-star production.

Several huge stages were constructed for this picture alone, one of which contained a replica of the famous St. Petersburg opera. It is one of the most famous theatres in the world and was built under royal orders in the days of the Czars. In this theatre was staged the colorful scenes showing the Imperial Russan Ballet in action. Over a thousand extras and principals took part in these scenes alone. So large was the production that it required not only a special wardrobe staff but a special building in which to house the costumes, and a special research staff to handle furnishings, architecture and other details.

The story from which the picture was adapted was famous some years ago in Europe as one of the most dramatic narrative of the old days of the monarchy and of the uprisings of student nihilists, forerunners and first warning of Bolshevism. The year in which the action of the picture takes place in 1913.

The story deals with a girl, member of the Imperial Ballet, who is coveted by two men, one of them a Grand Duke, commander of the military power of Russia; the other a banker, the money monarch of the country; and the girl's love for a young officer of the Grand Duke's staff. The young officer's brother is a nihilist and this complication gives rise to many startling dramatic situations.

Laura La Plante is seen as the young premiere ballerina who has charmed her way from the ranks of the ballet to the top.

Gene Tunney Fails To "Fall" For Mary Garden's Compliment

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—"Mary's having her little joke." This was Gene Tunney's comment today concerning Mary Garden's solemn statement to reporters upon her arrival here from Europe that she would like nothing better than to be engaged to "that big, blonde handsome boy," who knocked Jack Dempsey out of the heavyweight title.

"I'm not matrimonially inclined," concluded the champion.

Home-made Remedy Stops Cough Quickly

Finest cough medicine you ever used. Family supply easily made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup, or clarified honey. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid, too, for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

"MIDNIGHT SUN" AT AMERICAN

Russian Director's Big Film Spectacle is Booked.

In "The Midnight Sun,' Dimitri Buchowetzki, noted Russian director, has produced one of the biggest screen spectacles of the year. It is a Russian story staged in a lavish setting that rivals even "The Phantom of the Opera" and other great screen successes. It is Universal's Super-Jewel offering for this year and is coming to the American theatre, commencing today, for a four-day run. In addition to its magnificent sets, Universal spared no expense when it came to casting the players, making of "The Midnight Sun" an all-star production.

Several huge stages were constructed for this picture alone, one of which contained a replica of the famous St. Petersburg opera. It is one of the most famous theatres in the world and was built under royal orders in the days of the Czars. In this theatre was staged the colorful scenes showing the Imperial Russan Ballet in action. Over a thousand extras and principals took part in these scenes alone. So large was the production that it required not only a special wardrobe staff but a special building in which to house the costumes, and a special research staff to handle furnishings, architecture and other details.

The story from which the picture was adapted was famous some years ago in Europe as one of the most dramatic narrative of the old days of the monarchy and of the uprisings of student nihilists, forerunners and first warning of Bolshevism. The year in which the action of the picture takes place in 1913.

The story deals with a girl, member of the Imperial Ballet, who is coveted by two men, one of them a Grand Duke, commander of the military power of Russia; the other a banker, the money monarch of the country; and the girl's love for a young officer of the Grand Duke's staff. The young officer's brother is a nihilist and this complication gives rise to many startling dramatic situations.

Laura La Plante is seen as the young premiere ballerina who has charmed her way from the ranks of the ballet to the top.

Effects of Weaknesses Caused by Injuries in Last Two Weeks Apparent in Play of Local Eleven; Ball Twice Within Shadow of Toronto Goal Posts But Punch is Missing.

GOING down to defeat at Toronto Saturday afternoon by a single touchdown margin, Coach George Kidder's Blue and White gridders, lacking the services of several first string performers, showed the effects of weaknesses in the lineup caused by injuries within the past two weeks.

Swept off their feet in the first five minutes of play, missing an opportunity in the same quarter to even the score, the East Liverpool combine went after the Jefferson countians in subsequent stages of the contest and on two occasions shoved the pigskin to within almost arm's length of the Toronto goal.

At these critical junctures, the absence of punch that apparently has gone to the sidelines with the hospital crew, was keenly felt. With touchdowns both times just a short, tantalizing distance away, the locals were unable to provide the power to crumble the defending line.

East Liverpool received the kickoff at the outset of the contest and brought up at the Tontonto 40-yard line.

McKee, who was transferred from an end to a backfield berth, hurled a pretty pass to End English, who was wide open. But fate, apparently had ordained an afternoon of defeat, for the ball squirmed out of English's arms and the team's big chance went with it.

McKee flung another one right on the heels of the first play. Luck was worse this time. A Toronto secondary defense man intercepted the heave and ran the ball back to the 50-yard mark before he was stopped.

At that point the Torontoans began a line smashing attack that carried them onward for five consecutive first downs and a touchdown. Like the surge of the tide the Jefferson countians shoved on through the Blue and White defenses and with five minutes of the first quarter gone, led by a touchdown margin.

After that the two teams fought it out on pretty nearly even terms, the edge, if any, going to East Liverpool, the Blue and White losing a touchdown on a hair line decision in the third period.

Twice the Kidder-Cox machine plowed its way to within the Toronto 16-yard line and there the attack was stopped. The punch was missing in the shadow of the goal posts.

Although not making any alibis, there is still a question in the minds of the local coaches and players. On the fourth down in their supreme drive at the Toronto goal line, Halfback Kirkham went to the final chalk mark, his body swayed over the goal line and then the crush of defense players shoved him backward. The referee, on the down, ruled Kirkham had been stopped before his body swung over the line.

It was Kirkham's first game of the season and he played out the whole encounter in faultless style. Dick McKee also made his appearance as a backfield regular and his performance clicked with regularity. On one occasion he got off a 65-yard punt from scrimmage, something that high school punters are not wont to do habitually.

Lisbon, Salem and Chester are next in order for the locals, the card sending the team to Salem November 6 for the only out of town engagement of the trio.

WELLSBURG IS TRAMPLED BY CHESTER, 32-0

Visitors Helpless Before Attack of Wilde Eleven.

PLAYING a brand of football that was away beyond the expectations of their most loyal supporters, Chester high school footballers, before a crowd of over a thousand fans on the Rock Springs park grounds, Saturday, downed the highly touted Wellsburg high team, 32 to 0.

The game was mostly an offensive battle. Of the two teams Chester played the best defensive game by far, for the Wellsburg resistance was like so much sawdust against the onslaughts of the Chester high ball carriers.

The visitors made most of their gains by forward passes and ends runs; while Coach Wilde's boys tore the Wellsburg defense to shreds with plays off tackles, criss crosses and forward passes.

Shaw, Bartley and Kimble gained at will in Saturday's contest, Shaw hitting the line for gains averaging from 15 to 20 yards all through the game.

The visitors showed their best football in the first few minutes of play, carrying the ball from their own 15-yard line to Chester's 25-yard line in six plays, losing the ball on downs when a forward pass failed to work. When Chester got the ball the fire works started. Johnston tore around left end for a gain of 10 yards, Bartley circled right end for nine more yards. Shaw plunged through right guard for another five yards. On a criss cross Johnston was good for two yards. Bartley made another two yards for Chester by the same method.

Shaw plowed the line for another 10 yards. Bartley was stopped for no gain. Shaw found a big hole in Wellsburg's line, going almost to the visitors' goal line before being stopped. With the ball on the one-yard line Shaw went over for a touchdown. De Long failed to make the point.

De Long kicked off for Chester, Davis carrying the ball for twenty yards. On the first play Davis swept around right end for a first down. While gained three yards through the line. Waddell circled left end for eight yards and a first down. Wellsburg did nothing on the next three downs losing the ball on downs. Johnston went around left end for ten yards. Bartley gained about a yard around right end. Shaw found right guard good for two yards and plowed the line for another gain of ten yards. Johnston failed to gain. Bartley hit right tackle for another six yards. Shaw plunged the line for a first down.

Shaw went through right tackle for four yards. Chester failed to gain on the next two plays and De Long, standing on the visitors' thirty-yard line booted the ball over the cross bar for a field goal.

De Long kicked off for Chester, Waddell returning the ball ten yards. A Wellsburg pass was broken up by Kimble, White gained two yards at center. Davis found right tackle good for three yards. Bartley intercepted Davis' long forward pass making a forty yard gain before being downed. Kimble failed to gain. Shaw and Bartley gained little on the next two plays and DeLong came into the line light once more kicking another field goal from Wellsburg's twenty seven yard line. Chester led in the first half, 12 to 0.

Wellsburg kicked off at the start of the second half. Kimble gained two yards around left end and made another six yards on a repeating the play. Shaw hit the line for a first down. Chester made very little on the next thre plays and Bartley punted. Wellsburg did nothing and Davis punted to Kimble who gained five yards on the punt.

Chester carried the ball to the visitors' thirty-yard line, and Kimble on a criss cross circled right end for thirty yards and a touchdown. De Long missed a drop kick for the extra point.

Chester scored two more touchdowns in the last quarter, Bartley making both of them. The first followed a series of line plunges, end runs, and forward passes. Bartley made his second touchdown when Wellsburg blocked his punt. He recovering the ball and ran fifty yards for a touchdown. De Long drop-kicked for the extra point after both touchdowns. With the game already won, Coach Wilde sent his reserves in and the visitors began to play better football taking the ball up to Chester's thirty-five yard line where the game ended.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

A whole lot of woe can slip into a golfer's game because of simple things that the player knows about but with which he gets careless. One of these is the easy habit of letting the left arm get too far out from the body in the early part of the back swing. With many players, too, this is more a fixed habit than it is an occasional habit of carelessness. A practice of launching the back swing with a twist of the whole body toward the right easily leads to the practice of swinging the left arm out from the body—the two sort of go together. However, the player can start with a body turn and still keep his left arm in. The left arm should pass across almost directly in front of the body as the club is swept back and should very nearly touch the body. The elbow points downward all the way—not out.

KLINCK ELEVEN IS DEFEATED BY SALEM, 29-0

Passes From Spread Formation Brings Three Touchdowns.

WELLSVILLE high school's doughty Orange and Black eleven, coming along at a quickened stride after two seasons of monotonous defeats, outplayed Salem high school Saturday afternoon at Hammond park, Wellsville, during the greater part of a great game, in straight football tactics, smashed through the Quakers' line repeatedly, threw them back when they had the ball, equalled their achievements in the matter of punts and managed to lose by the decisive score of 29 to 0 because they were incapable of developing a defense for one certain formation the visitors used to make all their touchdowns save one.

A spread eagle formation, from which a pass, punt, line plunge or end run could be executed, was directly or indirectly responsible for every occasion that brought a Salem score with the exception of one when an intercepted pass and a short run permitted the visitors to add on six more counters.

The formation itself is old, very old. Two men, on each end of the line, go out 30 or 40 feet, leaving three linemen and three backs. The Wellsville line remained in position and the visitors had their ends to sweep up the field along the sides and their backs to filter through directly ahead of the ball. Line plunges failing, Quarterback Sidinger of Salem, used the aerial route to bring points.

The matter of first downs attests to the fact that Klinck's eleven was not ridden over in a roughshod manner, as the score might indicate. Salem moved the sticks 10 times, Wellsville eight.

It was Sidinger's toe that gave the visitors a margin of only three points at the end of the first half after a hectic battle, featured by the heroic stand of the Orange and Black less than three feet from their own goal line in the first three minutes of play.

Hepp engineered the kickoff at the outset of the game and the visitors uncorked a whirlwind attack that had the Orange and Black reeling, groggy and read to take the count in the first three minutes.

The Salem runner was stopped on the Salem 35. On the first play of the game, Sidinger shot out a forward pass that was good for 40 yards. The suddenness and the success with which the play was engineered so unsettled the Wellsville eleven that three more plays, chiefly through the line, placed the ball within three feet of the Wellsville goal. Snapping out of their daze, the Orange and Black stiffened and repulsed four straight line smashes and subsequently punted out of danger.

From then on, the Klinckmen battled their adversaries to a standstill. As the half was drawing to a close, the visitors brought out their principal weapon. It was 50 per cent good on the first two tries and with only a few seconds to go, Sidinger, from his 8 yard line, booted the ball for three points.

At the outset of the third quarter, Salem threw its passes and worked its spread. Before the quarter was over three touchdowns had gone over and in the final period another was added.

The work of Quarterback Provost of the Wellsville backfield was nothing short of brilliant. Calhoun contributed another good exhibition and the performance of the entire Wellsville line was outstanding.

Victories of Brown, Harvard, Are Week's Biggest Surprises

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. — Football's weekly flip-flop Saturday left some 16 or 17 teams undefeated for the season and the experts without a leg to stand on, as always. The number of unbeaten teams is a bit unusual for this stage of the proceedings but the fact that expert opinion is again legless seems to be without significance of any kind.

Divided we stand, united we fall, seems to be the watch word of the boys who try to call them as they see them. They said Yale would beat Brown in a gallop. Yale didn't. They rallied around the idea that Dartmouth was due for a come back against a disorganized Harvard team. They were wrong on both counts. Harvard wasn't disorganized and Dartmouth didn't come back.

They were convinced that Alabama would romp over Sewanee, that Kansas Aggies would win handily from Oklahoma and that Princeton was in a mere workout with Lehigh. None of these things happened. Alabama won by the margin of a safety, the Aggies by three points and Princeton by one point.

The Navy was another team that was largely favored by the form players. Yet Colgate was leading in the final minute, was on the one-yard line with another score imminent and everything seemed to be in the bag when a navy substitute picked up a loose ball and ran 99 yards to victory.

Holy Cross' scant victory over Western Maryland, the 2 to 0 victory of Auburn over Tulane, Washington State's decision over Washington, and Kentucky's fine effort in beating Florida were among the milder surprises.

According to Hoyle.

However, this is no indictment of expert opinion. The form players, in fact, scored when Pennsylvania beat Williams by 36 points; when Michigan defeated Illinois, Notre Dame came through against Northwestern, W. & J. beat Fordham, New York University stepped right away from Rutgers and Missouri beat Iowa State.

The Army's easy victory over Boston university was another "natural." So was Standford's 29 to 12 verdict over Oregon and Southern California's victory over California. The defeats of Washington and California on the same day merely served to illustrate how the old order changeth. According to all the available data, Stanford, U. S. C. and St. Mary's are the class of the coast coterie this season.

Ohio State's impressive performance against Iowa likewise surprised no one nor did Nebraska's defeat of Kansas. Some of the boys seemed a bit shocked that Syracuse, minus some of its first line stars, was able to beat Penn but I didn't see it that way. It doesn't appear to be much of a trick to beat Penn State.

TILDEN GOING OUT AFTER TITLE

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. — That William T. Tilden, 2nd, will conduct a determined campaign next season to regain his tennis laurels is indicated by the ex-champion's determination to play abroad in 1927 at Wimbledon at St. Cloud, announcement of which is contained in the current issue of American Lawn Tennis. Tilden, provided his injured knee recovers, will be a contestant in the all-comers' singles at Wimbledon and the French hard court championships at St. Cloud, the article declared.

WAYNE BIG MUNN PLANS COME BACK

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The second of the mammoth Munn brothers will try to show New York what it is all about tonight. Wayne Munn, former heavyweight champion wrestler, will begin an attempted return trip to the title by meeting Howard Cantowine in one of the feature matches at the Seventy-first Regiment Armory. Wayne's brother, Monte, won over Carl Carter in a heavyweight boxing bout last Friday, when Carter was disqualified in the seventh round for holding.

Vanderbilt's 14 to 13 victory over Georgia occasioned little comment because they were a toss up, anyhow, and the same might be said for Georgia Tech's defeat of Washington and Lee. In line with general expectations also was Boston college's unanimous victory over St. Louis University, West Virginia's defeat of West Virginia Wesleyan, and that of Grinnell over Washington U., Wisconsin over Indiana, Minnesota over Wabash and Drake over Mississippi.

Purdue No Surprise.

Purdue's defeat of Chicago was not entirely unexpected, either, nor can one view with alarm the fact that Carnegie Tech beat its old rival, Pittsburgh. These were games that could have been called either way.

The experts, in fact, had their moments. They weren't able to foresee Brown's victory, although the Bear has had a distressing habit of beating Yale—distressing to New Haven, that is. They couldn't imagine Harvard beating Dartmouth; yet it was no secret that the Crimson was coming fast. As for those close-score things, they can be thrown out. If your team wins at all nowadays, it is considered bad taste to ask how it did it.

Some of the undefeated survivors of the day were Michigan, Pennsylvania, Southern California, Stanford, Alabama, Army, Cornell, Navy, Lafayette, Missouri, Notre Dame, New York University, Ohio State, W. & J., West Virginia, Holy Cross and Brown.

Sports Done -Brown-

By Norman E. Brown.

THIS apparently is a hard year on football stars.

With the season just well under way several of the outstanding stars of the game have suffered serious injuries.

Boland, Notre Dame star, was the first. He suffered injuries in the Minnesota game which have kept him out ever since and probably will prevent him from playing the rest of the season.

Syracuse suffered a double blow in its recent game with the Army. In addition to having what it hoped to be a great season marred by a defeat at the hands of the Mule the Syracuse team lost "Whippet" Carr, backfield star and "last resort" man of the team. Carr, Syracuse adherents claim, was "clipped" from behind and the ligaments in his leg torn so seriously that he will not be available for weeks.

Army back not only deny that the injury to Carr was intentional but refer to alleged "unnecessary" roughness by Syracuse players. Be that as it may Syracuse is without the services of Carr—a tough blow.

Yale has lost Caldwell for a time at least. This is a serious setback to the Blue's hopes. Caldwell is probably the most consistent ground gainer the New Haven team boasts.

Other colleges have suffered injuries of more or less seriousness to their best men.

Anent the matter of unnecessary roughness it is reported from several points that an element of rowdyism has crept into several games of more or less importance. The Purdue-Wabash game is one listed among "those things."

And another condition has bobbed up, which if not checked immediately is liable to hurt the game.

U. S. Military Academy athletic officials are said to be somewhat peeved over Notre Dame's announced plan to play the Army and the Navy next fall.

This little peeve, in itself, is not important, but it raises the question as to how much longer the desire for intersectional games among colleges can continue before more strained relations of a similar type develop.

Supposing some other Big Ten team coaxed Tulane into a game? What would be the feeling at Northwestern, which has come to count on the visit of the southerners as one of the high spots of the season?

What if Chicago were to switch its eastern appearance to some other campus after several annual clashes with Pennsylvania?

It can readily be seen that there is a pitfall lurking in the inter-sectional craze that must be watched carefully.

Paul Berlenbach, the man who startled the light heavyweight ranks a couple of years ago with his powerful hitting, is ready to step into the heavyweight class and go after big game there. This is the announcement as Paul the Assassin returns west from California.

Paul decided several months ago that bigger money awaited him in the top class. This before the Tunney-Dempsey fight became a settled affair. He had hopes then of getting a bout with Tunney or even with Dempsey if only as a "set-up" for either one. Then, when Tunney startled most of us (and I can hear some readers chuckle) by licking Dempsey, Berlenbach decided that he might have a chance at the crown itself.

While out on the coast acquiring weight Berlenbach saw Johnny Risko and several other of the much talked of heavies, in action and decided he could take some of them into camp.

Now he's ready. He wants to meet Knute Hansen, Monte Munn, Harry Persson or any of the other young men who have ambitions and a willingness to swap punches. And he'll probably get his wish. He always has been popular in the cast. His bouts with Jimmy Delaney and others drew big crowds and sweet purses.

Big 10 Standing

HEAVY TOURNEY TO BE CONTINUED

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Heavyweight elimination contests, extremely popular since the Dempsey-Tunney bout, will enjoy another whirl or two at Madison Square Garden during the next six weeks. In one of these, Harry Persson, of Sweden, will meet Bud Gorman, Wisconsin heavyweight, on November 1. In another, Jimmy Maloney, co-contender from Boston with Jack Sharkey, will face Franz Diener, the German champion, on December 2.

Monte Munn, Nebraska contender, will be on the Maloney-Diener card but his opponent has not been selected yet.

PLAN CAMPAIGN AGAINST A. A. U.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. — Another challenge to the supremacy of the A. A. U. was seen today in the wording of the call for the annual meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic association, in which is pointed out "the aggressive campaign to be started with the avowed purpose of strengthening the A. A. U.'s hold on sports.

The call for the meeting was issued by Brigadier General Palmer E. Pierce, president of the association, who for years has waged a campaign against A. A. U. domination of amateur track sports. The meeting will be held at the Hotel Astor on Dec. 29 and 30.

High School Gridders Lose By Single Touchdown At Toronto

High Powered Drive In Opening Quarter Produces Only Score

Effects of Weaknesses Caused by Injuries in Last Two Weeks Apparent in Play of Local Eleven; Ball Twice Within Shadow of Toronto Goal Posts But Punch is Missing.

GOING down to defeat at Toronto Saturday afternoon by a single touchdown margin, Coach George Kidder's Blue and White gridders, lacking the services of several first string performers, showed the effects of weaknesses in the lineup caused by injuries within the past two weeks.

Swept off their feet in the first five minutes of play, missing an opportunity in the same quarter to even the score, the East Liverpool combine went after the Jefferson countians in subsequent stages of the contest and on two occasions shoved the pigskin to within almost arm's length of the Toronto goal.

At these critical junctures, the absence of punch that apparently has gone to the sidelines with the hospital crew, was keenly felt. With touchdowns both times just a short, tantalizing distance away, the locals were unable to provide the power to crumble the defending line.

East Liverpool received the kickoff at the outset of the contest and brought up at the Tontonto 40-yard line.

McKee, who was transferred from an end to a backfield berth, hurled a pretty pass to End English, who was wide open. But fate, apparently had ordained an afternoon of defeat, for the ball squirmed out of English's arms and the team's big chance went with it.

McKee flung another one right on the heels of the first play. Luck was worse this time. A Toronto secondary defense man intercepted the heave and ran the ball back to the 50-yard mark before he was stopped.

At that point the Torontoans began a line smashing attack that carried them onward for five consecutive first downs and a touchdown. Like the surge of the tide the Jefferson countians shoved on through the Blue and White defenses and with five minutes of the first quarter gone, led by a touchdown margin.

After that the two teams fought it out on pretty nearly even terms, the edge, if any, going to East Liverpool, the Blue and White losing a touchdown on a hair line decision in the third period.

Twice the Kidder-Cox machine plowed its way to within the Toronto 10-yard line and there the attack was stopped. The punch was missing in the shadow of the goal posts.

Although not making any alibis, there is still a question in the minds of the local coaches and players. On the fourth down in their supreme drive at the Toronto goal line, Halfback Kirkham went to the final chalk mark, his body swayed over the goal line and then the crush of defense players shoved him backward. The referee, on the down, ruled Kirkham had been stopped before his body swung over the line.

It was Kirkham's first game of the season and he played out the whole encounter in faultless style. Dick McKee also made his appearance as a backfield regular and his performance clicked with regularity. On one occasion he got off a 65-yard punt from scrimmage, something that high school punters are not wont to do habitually.

Lisbon, Salem and Chester are next in order for the locals, the card sending the team to Salem November 6 for the only out of town engagement of the trio.

WELLSBURG IS TRAMPLED BY CHESTER, 32-0

Visitors Helpless Before Attack of Wilde Eleven.

PLAYING a brand of football that was away beyond the expectations of their most loyal supporters, Chester high school footballers, before a crowd of over a thousand fans on the Rock Springs park grounds, Saturday, downed the highly touted Wellsburg high team, 32 to 0.

The game was mostly an offensive battle. Of the two teams Chester played the best defensive game by far, for the Wellsburg resistance was like so much sawdust against the onslaughts of the Chester high ball carriers.

The visitors made most of their gains by forward passes and ends runs; while Coach Wilde's boys tore the Wellsburg defense to shreds with plays off tackles, criss crosses and forward passes.

Shaw, Bartley and Kimble gained at will in Saturday's contest, Shaw hitting the line for gains averaging from 15 to 20 yards all through the game.

The visitors showed their best football in the first few minutes of play, carrying the ball from their own 15-yard line to Chester's 25-yard line in six plays, losing the ball on downs when a forward pass failed to work. When Chester got the ball the fireworks started. Johnston tore around left end for a gain of 10 yards, Bartley circled right end for nine more yards. Shaw plunged through right guard for another five yards. On a criss cross Johnston was good for two yards. Bartley made another two yards for Chester by the same method.

Shaw plowed the line for another 10 yards, Bartley was stopped for no gain. Shaw found a big hole in Wellsburg's line, going almost to the visitors' goal line before being stopped. With the ball on the one-yard line Shaw went over for a touchdown. De Long failed to make the point.

De Long kicked off for Chester, Davis carrying the ball for twenty yards. On the first play Davis swept around right end for a first down. White gained three yards through the line, Waddell circled left end for eight yards and a first down. Wellsburg did nothing on the next three downs losing the ball on downs. Johnston went around left end for ten yards. Bartley gained about a yard around right end. Shaw found right guard good for two yards and plowed the line for another gain of ten yards. Johnston failed to gain. Bartley hit right tackle for another six yards Shaw plunged the line for a first down.

Shaw went through right tackle for four yards. Chester failed to gain on the next two plays and De Long, standing on the visitors' thirty-yard line booted the ball over the cross bar for a field goal.

De Long kicked off for Chester, Waddell returning the ball ten yards A Wellsburg pass was broken up by Kimble, White gained two yards at center. Davis found right tackle good for three yards. Bartley intercepted Davis' long forward pass making a forty yard gain before being downed. Kimble failed to gain. Shaw and Bartley gained little on the next two plays and DeLong came into the limelight once more kicking another field goal from Wellsburg's twenty seven yard line. Chester led in the first half, 12 to 0.

Wellsburg kicked off at the start of the second half. Kimble gained two yards around left end and made another six yards on a repeating the play. Shaw hit the line for a first down. Chester made very little on the next thre plays and Bartley punted. Wellsburg did nothing and Davis punted to Kimble who gained five yards on the punt.

Chester carried the ball to the visitors' thirty-yard line, and Kimble on a criss cross circled right end for thirty yards and a touchdown. De Long missed a drop kick for the extra point

Chester scored two more touchdowns in the last quarter, Bartley making both of them. The first followed a series of line plunges, end runs, and forward passes. Bartley made his second touchdown when Wellsburg blocked his punt. He recovering the ball and ran fifty yards for a touchdown. De Long drop-kicked for the extra point after both touchdowns. With the game already won, Coach Wilde sent his reserves in and the visitors began to play better football taking the ball up to Chester's thirty-five yard line where the game ended.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON, Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

A whole lot of woe can slip into a golfer's game because of simple things that the player knows about but with which he gets careless. One of these is the easy habit of letting the left arm get too far out from the body in the early part of the back swing. With many players, too, this is more a fixed habit than it is an occasional habit of carelessness. A practice of launching the back swing with a twist of the whole body toward the right easily leads to the practice of swinging the left arm out from the body—the two sort of go together. However, the player can start with a body turn and still keep his left arm in. The left arm should pass across almost directly in front of the body as the club is swept back and should very nearly touch the body. The elbow points downward all the way—not out.

KLINCK ELEVEN IS DEFEATED BY SALEM, 29-0

Passes From Spread Formation Brings Three Touchdowns.

WELLSVILLE high school's doughty Orange and Black eleven, coming along at a quickened stride after two seasons of monotonous defeats, outplayed Salem high school Saturday afternoon at Hammond park, Wellsville, during the greater part of a great game, in straight football tactics, smashed through the Quakers' line repeatedly, threw them back when they had the ball, equalled their achievements in the matter of punts and managed to lose by the decisive score of 29 to 0 because they were incapable of developing a defense for one certain formation the visitors used to make all their touchdowns save one.

A spread eagle formation, from which a pass, punt, line plunge or end run could be executed, was directly or indirectly responsible for every occasion that brought a Salem score with the exception of one when an intercepted pass and a short run permitted the visitors to add on six more counters.

The formation itself is old, very old. Two men, on each end of the line, go out 30 or 40 feet, leaving three linemen and three backs. The Wellsville line remained in position and the visitors had their ends to sweep up the field along the sides and their backs to filter through directly ahead of the ball. Line plunges failing, Quarterback Sidinger of Salem, used the aerial route to bring points.

The matter of first downs attests to the fact that Klinck's eleven was not ridden over in a roughshod manner, as the score might indicate. Salem moved the sticks 10 times, Wellsville eight.

It was Sidinger's toe that gave the visitors a margin of only three points at the end of the first half after a hectic battle, featured by the heroic stand of the Orange and Black less than three feet from their own goal line in the first three minutes of play.

Hepp engineered the kickoff at the outset of the game and the visitors uncorked a whirlwind attack that had the Orange and Black reeling, groggy and read to take the count in the first three minutes.

The Salem runner was stopped on the Salem 35. On the first play of the game, Sidinger shot out a forward pass that was good for 40 yards. The suddenness and the success with which the play was engineered so unsettled the Wellsville eleven that three more plays, chiefly through the line, placed the ball within three feet of the Wellsville goal. Snapping out of their daze, the Orange and Black stiffened and repulsed four straight line smashes and subsequently punted out of danger.

From then on, the Klinckmen battled their adversaries to a standstill. As the half was drawing to a chose, the visitors brought out their principal weapon. It was 50 per cent good on the first two tries and with only a few seconds to go, Sidinger, from his 8 yard line, booted the ball for three points.

At the outset of the third quarter, Salem threw its passes and worked its spread. Before the quarter was over three touchdowns had gone over and in the final period another was added.

The work of Quarterback Provost of the Wellsville backfield was nothing short of brilliant. Calhoun contributed another good exhibition and the performance of the entire Wellsville line was outstanding.

Victories of Brown, Harvard, Are Week's Biggest Surprises

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. — Football's weekly flip-flop Saturday left some 16 or 17 teams undefeated for the season and the experts without a leg to stand on, as always. The number of unbeaten teams is a bit unusual for this stage of the proceedings but the fact that expert opinion is again legless seems to be without significance of any kind.

Divided we stand, united we fall, seems to be the watch word of the boys who try to call them as they see them. They said Yale would beat Brown in a gallop. Yale didn't. They rallied around the idea that Dartmouth was due for a come back against a disorganized Harvard team. They were wrong on both counts. Harvard wasn't disorganized and Dartmouth didn't come back.

They were convinced that Alabama would romp over Sewanee, that Kansas Aggies would win handily from Oklahoma and that Princeton was in a mere workout with Lehigh. None of these things happened. Alabama won by the margin of a safety, the Aggies by three points and Princeton by one point.

The Navy was another team that was largely favored by the form players. Yet Colgate was leading in the final minute, was on the one-yard line with another score imminent and everything seemed to be in the bag when a navy substitute picked up a loose ball and ran 99 yards to victory.

Holy Cross' scant victory over Western Maryland, the 2 to 0 victory of Auburn over Tulane, Washington State's decision over Washington, and Kentucky's fine effort in beating Florida were among the milder surprises.

According to Hoyle.

However, this is no indictment of expert opinion. The form players, in fact, scored when Pennsylvania beat Williams by 36 points; when Michigan defeated Illinois, Notre Dame came through against Northwestern, W. & J. beat Fordham, New York University stepped right away from Rutgers and Missouri beat Iowa State.

The Army's easy victory over Boston university was another "natural." So was Standford's 29 to 12 verdict over Oregon and Southern California's victory over California. The defeats of Washington and California on the same day merely served to illustrate how the old order changeth. According to all the available data, Stanford, U. S. C. and St. Mary's are the class of the coast coterie this season.

Ohio State's impressive performance against Iowa likewise surprised no one nor did Nebraska's defeat of Kansas. Some of the boys seemed a bit shocked that Syracuse, minus some of its first line stars, was able to beat Penn but I didn't see it that way. It doesn't appear to be much of a trick to beat Penn State.

TILDEN GOING OUT AFTER TITLE

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. — That William T. Tilden, 2nd, will conduct a determined campaign next season to regain his tennis laurels is indicated by the ex-champion's determination to play abroad in 1927 at Wimbledon at St. Cloud, announcement of which is contained in the current issue of American Lawn Tennis. Tilden, provided his injured knee recovers, will be a contestant in the all-comers' singles at Wimbledon and the French hard court championships at St. Cloud, the article declared.

WAYNE BIG MUNN PLANS COME BACK

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The second of the mammoth Munn brothers will try to show New York what it is all about tonight. Wayne Munn, former heavyweight champion wrestler, will begin an attempted return trip to the title by meeting Howard Cantowine in one of the feature matches at the Seventy-first Regiment Armory. Wayne's brother, Monte, won over Carl Carter in a heavyweight boxing bout last Friday, when Carter was disqualified in the seventh round for holding.

Vanderbilt's 14 to 13 victory over Georgia occasioned little comment because they were a toss up, anyhow, and the same might be said for Georgia Tech's defeat of Washington and Lee. In line with general expectations also was Boston college's unanimous victory over St. Louis University, West Virginia's defeat of West Virginia Wesleyan, and that of Grinnell over Washington U., Wisconsin over Indiana, Minnesota over Wabash and Drake over Mississippi.

Purdue No Surprise.

Purdue's defeat of Chicago was not entirely unexpected, either, nor can one view with alarm the fact that Carnegie Tech beat its old rival, Pittsburgh. These were games that could have been called either way.

The experts, in fact, had their moments. They weren't able to foresee Brown's victory, although the Bear has had a distressing habit of beating Yale—distressing to New Haven, that is. They couldn't imagine Harvard beating Dartmouth; yet it was no secret that the Crimson was coming fast. As for those close-score things, they can be thrown out. If your team wins at all nowadays, it is considered bad taste to ask how it did it.

Some of the undefeated survivors of the day were Michigan, Pennsylvania, Southern California, Stanford, Alabama, Army, Cornell, Navy, Lafayette, Missouri, Notre Dame, New York University, Ohio State, W. & J., West Virginia, Holy Cross and Brown.

Sports Done -Brown-

By Norman E. Brown.

THIS apparently is a hard year on football stars.

With the season just well under way several of the outstanding stars of the game have suffered serious injuries.

Roland, Notre Dame star, was the first. He suffered injuries in the Minnesota game which have kept him out ever since and probably will prevent him from playing the rest of the season.

Syracuse suffered a double blow in its recent game with the Army. In addition to having what it hoped to be a great season marred by a defeat at the hands of the Mule the Syracuse team lost "Whippet" Carr, backfield star and "last resort" man of the team. Carr, Syracuse adherents claim, was "clipped" from behind and the ligaments in his leg torn so seriously that he will not be available for weeks.

Army back not only deny that the injury to Carr was intentional but refer to alleged "unnecessary" roughness by Syracuse players. Be that as it may Syracuse is without the services of Carr—a tough blow.

Yale has lost Caldwell for a time at least. This is a serious setback to the Blue's hopes. Caldwell is probably the most consistent ground gainer the New Haven team boasts.

Other colleges have suffered injuries of more or less seriousness to their best men.

Anent the matter of unnecessary roughness it is reported from several points that an element of rowdyism has crept into several games of more or less importance. The Purdue-Wabash game is one listed among "those things."

And another condition has bobbed up, which if not checked immediately is liable to hurt the game.

U. S. Military Academy athletic officials are said to be somewhat peeved over Notre Dame's announced plan to play the Army and the Navy next fall.

This little peeve, in itself, is not important, but it raises the question as to how much longer the desire for intersectional games among colleges can continue before more strained relations of a similar type develop.

Supposing some other Big Ten team coaxed Tulane into a game? What would be the feeling at Northwestern, which has come to count on the visit of the southerners as one of the high spots of the season?

What if Chicago were to switch its eastern appearance to some other campus after several annual clashes with Pennsylvania?

It can readily be seen that there is a pitfall lurking in the inter-sectional craze that must be watched carefully.

Paul Berlenbach, the man who startled the light heavyweight ranks a couple of years ago with his powerful hitting, is ready to step into the heavyweight class and go after big game there. This is the announcement as Paul the Assassin returns east from California.

Paul decided several months ago that bigger money awaited him in the top class. This before the Tunney-Dempsey fight became a settled affair. He had hopes then of getting a bout with Tunney or even with Dempsey if only as a "set-up" for either one. Then, when Tunney startled most of us (and I can hear some readers chuckle) by licking Dempsey, Berlenbach decided that he might have a chance at the crown itself.

While out on the coast acquiring weight Berlenbach saw Johnny Risko and several other of the much talked of heavies, in action and decided he could take some of them into camp.

Now he's ready. He wants to meet Knute Hansen, Monte Munn, Harry Persson or any of the other young men who have ambitions and a willingness to swap punches. And he'll probably get his wish. He always has been popular in the east. His bouts with Jimmy Delaney and others drew big crowds and sweet purses.

HEAVY TOURNEY TO BE CONTINUED

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Heavyweight elimination contests, extremely popular since the Dempsey-Tunney bout, will enjoy another whirl or two at Madison Square Garden during the next six weeks. In one of these, Harry Persson, of Sweden, will meet Bud Gorman, Wisconsin heavyweight, on November 1. In another, Jimmy Maloney, co-contender from Boston with Jack Sharkey, will face Franz Diener, the German champion, on December 2.

Monte Munn, Nebraska contender, will be on the Maloney-Diener card but his opponent has not been selected yet.

PLAN CAMPAIGN AGAINST A. A. U.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. — Another challenge to the supremacy of the A. A. U. was seen today in the wording of the call for the annual meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic association, in which is pointed out "the aggressive campaign to be started with the avowed purpose of strengthening the A. A. U.'s hold on sports.

The call for the meeting was issued by Brigadier General Palmer E. Pierce, president of the association, who for years has waged a campaign against A. A. U. dominat'on of amateur track sports. The meeting will be held at the Hotel Astor on Dec. 29 and 30.

High School Gridders Lose By Single Touchdown At Toronto

High Powered Drive In Opening Quarter Produces Only Score

Effects of Weaknesses Caused by Injuries in Last Two Weeks Apparent in Play of Local Eleven; Ball Twice Within Shadow of Toronto Goal Posts But Punch is Missing.

GOING down to defeat at Toronto Saturday afternoon by a single touchdown margin, Coach George Kidder's Blue and White gridders, lacking the services of several first string performers, showed the effects of weaknesses in the lineup caused by injuries within the past two weeks.

Swept off their feet in the first five minutes of play, missing an opportunity in the same quarter to even the score, the East Liverpool combine went after the Jefferson countians in subsequent stages of the contest and on two occasions shoved the pigskin to within almost arm's length of the Toronto goal.

At these critical junctures, the absence of punch that apparently has gone to the sidelines with the hospital crew, was keenly felt. With touchdowns both times just a short, tantalizing distance away, the locals were unable to provide the power to crumble the defending line.

A mighty, almost irresistible drive directly through the East Liverpool line in the inaugural period of play gave Toronto its first touchdown.

East Liverpool received the kickoff at the outset of the contest and brought up at the Tontonto 40-yard line.

McKee, who was transferred from an end to a backfield berth, hurled a pretty pass to End English, who was wide open. But fate, apparently had ordained an afternoon of defeat, for the ball squirmed out of English's arms and the team's big chance went with it.

McKee flung another one right on the heels of the first play. Luck was worse this time. A Toronto secondary defense man intercepted the heave and ran the ball back to the 50-yard mark before he was stopped.

At that point the Torontoans began a line smashing attack that carried them onward for five consecutive first downs and a touchdown. Like the surge of the tide the Jefferson countians shoved on through the Blue and White defenses and with five minutes of the first quarter gone, led by a touchdown margin.

After that the two teams fought it out on pretty nearly even terms, the edge, if any, going to East Liverpool, the Blue and White losing a touchdown on a hair line decision in the third period.

Twice the Kidder-Cox machine plowed its way to within the Toronto 16-yard line and there the attack was stopped. The punch was missing in the shadow of the goal posts.

Although not making any alibis, there is still a question in the minds of the local coaches and players. On the fourth down in their supreme drive at the Toronto goal line, Halfback Kirkham went to the final chalk mark, his body swayed over the goal line and then the crush of defense players shoved him backward. The referee, on the down, ruled Kirkham had been stopped before his body swung over the line.

It was Kirkham's first game of the season and he played out the whole encounter in faultless style. Dick McKee also made his appearance as a backfield regular and his performance clicked with regularity. On one occasion he got off a 65-yard punt from scrimmage, something that high school punters are not wont to do habitually.

Lisbon, Salem and Chester are next in order for the locals, the card sending the team to Salem November 6 for the only out of town engagement of the trio.

HEAVY TOURNEY TO BE CONTINUED

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Heavyweight elimination contests, extremely popular since the Dempsey-Tunney bout, will enjoy another whirl or two at Madison Square Garden during the next six weeks. In one of these, Harry Persson, of Sweden, will meet Bud Gorman, Wisconsin heavyweight, on November 1. In another, Jimmy Maloney, co-contender from Boston with Jack Sharkey, will face Franz Diener, the German champion, on December 2.

Monte Munn, Nebraska contender, will be on the Maloney-Diener card but his opponent has not been selected yet.

PLAN CAMPAIGN AGAINST A. A. U.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. — Another challenge to the supremacy of the A. A. U. was seen today in the wording of the call for the annual meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic association, in which is pointed out "the aggressive campaign to be started with the avowed purpose of strengthening the A. A. U.'s hold on sports.

The call for the meeting was issued by Brigadier General Palmer E. Pierce, president of the association, who for years has waged a campaign against A. A. U. domination of amateur track sports. The meeting will be held at the Hotel Astor on Dec. 29 and 30.

WELLSBURG IS TRAMPLED BY CHESTER, 32-0

Visitors Helpless Before Attack of Wilde Eleven.

PLAYING a brand of football that was away beyond the expectations of their most loyal supporters, Chester high school footballers, before a crowd of over a thousand fans on the Rock Springs park grounds, Saturday, downed the highly touted Wellsburg high team, 32 to 0.

The game was mostly an offensive battle. Of the two teams Chester played the best defensive game by far, for the Wellsburg resistance was like so much sawdust against the onslaughts of the Chester high ball carriers.

The visitors made most of their gains by forward passes and ends runs; while Coach Wilde's boys tore the Wellsburg defense to shreds with plays off tackles, criss crosses and forward passes.

Shaw, Bartley and Kimble gained at will in Saturday's contest, Shaw hitting the line for gains averaging from 15 to 20 yards all through the game.

The visitors showed their best football in the first few minutes of play, carrying the ball from their own 15-yard line to Chester's 25-yard line in six plays, losing the ball on downs when a forward pass failed to work. When Chester got the ball the fireworks started. Johnston tore around left end for a gain of 10 yards, Bartley circled right end for nine more yards. Shaw plunged through right guard for another five yards. On a criss cross Johnston was good for two yards. Bartley made another two yards for Chester by the same method.

Shaw plowed the line for another 10 yards, Bartley was stopped for no gain. Shaw found a big hole in Wellsburg's line, going almost to the visitors' goal line before being stopped. With the ball on the one-yard line Shaw went over for a touchdown. De Long failed to make the point.

De Long kicked off for Chester, Davis carrying the ball for twenty yards. On the first play Davis swept around right end for a first down. White gained three yards through the line. Waddell circled left end for eight yards and a first down. Wellsburg did nothing on the next three downs losing the ball on downs. Johnston went around left end for ten yards. Bartley gained about a yard around right end. Shaw found right guard good for two yards and plowed the line for another gain of ten yards. Johnston failed to gain. Bartley hit right tackle for another six yards. Shaw plunged the line for a first down.

Shaw went through right tackle for four yards. Chester failed to gain on the next two plays and De Long, standing on the visitors' thirty-yard line booted the ball over the cross bar for a field goal.

De Long kicked off for Chester, Waddell returning the ball ten yards. A Wellsburg pass was broken up by Kimble. White gained two yards at center. Davis found right tackle good for three yards. Bartley intercepted Davis' long forward pass making a forty yard gain before being downed. Kimble failed to gain. Shaw and Bartley gained little on the next two plays and DeLong came into the line light once more kicking another field goal from Wellsburg's twenty seven yard line. Chester led in the first half, 12 to 0.

Wellsburg kicked off at the start of the second half. Kimble gained two yards around left end and made another six yards on a repeating the play. Shaw hit the line for a first down. Chester made very little on the next thre plays and Bartley punted. Wellsburg did nothing and Davis punted to Kimble who gained five yards on the punt.

Chester carried the ball to the visitors' thirty-yard line, and Kimble on a criss cross circled right end for thirty yards and a touchdown. De Long missed a drop kick for the extra point.

Chester scored two more touchdowns in the last quarter, Bartley making both of them. The first followed a series of line plunges, end runs, and forward passes. Bartley made his second touchdown when Wellsburg blocked his punt. He recovering the ball and ran fifty yards for a touchdown. De Long drop-kicked for the extra point after both touchdowns. With the game already won, Coach Wilde sent his reserves in and the visitors began to play better football taking the ball up to Chester's thirty-five yard line where the game ended.

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions.
"Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

KLINCK ELEVEN IS DEFEATED BY SALEM, 29-0

Passes From Spread Formation Brings Three Touchdowns.

WELLSVILLE high school's doughty Orange and Black eleven, coming along at a quickened stride after two seasons of monotonous defeats, outplayed Salem high school Saturday afternoon at Hammond park, Wellsville, during the greater part of a great game, in straight football tactics, smashed through the Quakers' line repeatedly, threw them back when they had the ball, equalled their achievements in the matter of punts and managed to lose by the decisive score of 29 to 0 because they were incapable of developing a defense for one certain formation the visitors used to make all their touchdowns save one.

A spread eagle formation, from which a pass, punt, line plunge or end run could be executed, was directly or indirectly responsible for every occasion that brought a Salem score with the exception of one when an intercepted pass and a short run permitted the visitors to add on six more counters.

The formation itself is old, very old. Two men, on each end of the line, go out 30 or 40 feet, leaving three linemen and three backs. The Wellsville line remained in position and the visitors had their ends to sweep up the field along the sides and their backs to filter through directly ahead of the ball. Line plunges failing, Quarterback Sidinger of Salem, used the aerial route to bring points.

The matter of first downs attests to the fact that Klinck's eleven was not ridden over in a roughshod manner, as the score might indicate. Salem moved the sticks 10 times, Wellsville eight.

It was Sidinger's toe that gave the visitors a margin of only three points at the end of the first half after a hectic battle, featured by the heroic stand of the Orange and Black less than three feet from their own goal line in the first three minutes of play.

Hepp engineered the kickoff at the outset of the game and the visitors uncorked a whirlwind attack that had the Orange and Black reeling, groggy and read to take the count in the first three minutes.

The Salem runner was stopped on the Salem 35. On the first play of the game, Sidinger shot out a forward pass that was good for 40 yards. The suddenness and the success with which the play was engineered so unsettled the Wellsville eleven that three more plays, chiefly through the line, placed the ball within three feet of the Wellsville goal. Snapping out of their daze, the Orange and Black stiffened and repulsed four straight line smashes and subsequently punted out of danger.

From then on, the Klinckmen battled their adversaries to a standstill. As the half was drawing to a chose, the visitors brought out their principal weapon. It was 50 per cent good on the first two tries and with only a few seconds to go, Sidinger, from his 8 yard line, booted the ball for three points.

At the outset of the third quarter, Salem threw its passes and worked its spread. Before the quarter was over three touchdowns had gone over and in the final period another was added.

The work of Quarterback Provost of the Wellsville backfield was nothing short of brilliant. Calhoun contributed another good exhibition and the performance of the entire Wellsville line was outstanding.

Victories of Brown, Harvard, Are Week's Biggest Surprises

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. — Football's weekly flip-flop Saturday left some 16 or 17 teams undefeated for the season and the experts without a leg to stand on, as always. The number of unbeaten teams is a bit unusual for this stage of the proceedings but the fact that expert opinion is again legless seems to be without significance of any kind.

Divided we stand, united we fall, seems to be the watch word of the boys who try to call them as they see them. They said Yale would beat Brown in a gallop. Yale didn't. They rallied around the idea that Dartmouth was due for a come back against a disorganized Harvard team. They were wrong on both counts. Harvard wasn't disorganized and Dartmouth didn't come back.

They were convinced that Alabama would romp over Sewanee, that Kansas Aggies would win handily from Oklahoma and that Princeton was in a mere workout with Lehigh. None of these things happened. Alabama won by the margin of a safety, the Aggies by three points and Princeton by one point.

The Navy was another team that was largely favored by the form players. Yet Colgate was leading in the final minute, was on the one-yard line with another score imminent and everything seemed to be in the bag when a navy substitute picked up a loose ball and ran 99 yards to victory.

Holy Cross' scant victory over Western Maryland, the 2 to 0 victory of Auburn over Tulane, Washington State's decision over Washington, and Kentucky's fine effort in beating Florida were among the milder surprises.

According to Hoyle.

However, this is no indictment of expert opinion. The form players, in fact, scored when Pennsylvania beat Williams by 36 points; when Michigan defeated Illinois, Notre Dame came through against Northwestern, W. & J. beat Fordham, New York University stepped right away from Rutgers and Missouri beat Iowa State.

The Army's easy victory over Boston university was another "natural." So was Standford's 29 to 12 verdict over Oregon and Southern California's victory over California. The defeats of Washington and California on the same day merely served to illustrate how the old order changeth. According to all the available data, Stanford, U. S. C. and St. Mary's are the class of the coast coterie this season.

Ohio State's impressive performance against Iowa likewise surprised no one nor did Nebraska's defeat of Kansas. Some of the boys seemed a bit shocked that Syracuse, minus some of its first line stars, was able to beat Penn but I didn't see it that way. It doesn't appear to be much of a trick to beat Penn State.

TILDEN GOING OUT AFTER TITLE

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. — That William T. Tilden, 2nd, will conduct a determined campaign next season to regain his tennis laurels is indicated by the ex-champion's determination to play abroad in 1927 at Wimbledon at St. Cloud, announcement of which is contained in the current issue of American Lawn Tennis. Tilden, provided his injured knee recovers, will be a contestant in the all-comers' singles at Wimbledon and the French hard court championships at St. Cloud, the article declared.

WAYNE BIG MUNN PLANS COME BACK

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The second of the mammoth Munn brothers will try to show New York what it is all about tonight. Wayne Munn, former heavyweight champion wrestler, will begin an attempted return trip to the title by meeting Howard Cantowine in one of the feature matches at the Seventy-first Regiment Armory. Wayne's brother, Monte, won over Carl Carter in a heavyweight boxing bout last Friday, when Carter was disqualified in the seventh round for holding.

Vanderbilt's 14 to 13 victory over Georgia occasioned little comment because they were a toss up, anyhow, and the same might be said for Georgia Tech's defeat of Washington and Lee. In line with general expectations also was Boston college's unanimous victory over St. Louis University, West Virginia's defeat of West Virginia Wesleyan, and that of Grinnell over Washington U., Wisconsin over Indiana, Minnesota over Wabash and Drake over Mississippi.

Purdue No Surprise.

Purdue's defeat of Chicago was not entirely unexpected, either, nor can one view with alarm the fact that Carnegie Tech beat its old rival, Pittsburgh. These were games that could have been called either way.

The experts, in fact, had their moments. They weren't able to foresee Brown's victory, although the Bear has had a distressing habit of beating Yale—distressing to New Haven, that is. They couldn't imagine Harvard beating Dartmouth; yet it was no secret that the Crimson was coming fast. As for those close-score things, they can be thrown out. If your team wins at all nowadays, it is considered bad taste to ask how it did it.

Some of the undefeated survivors of the day were Michigan, Pennsylvania, Southern California, Stanford, Alabama, Army, Cornell, Navy, Lafayette, Missouri, Notre Dame, New York University, Ohio State, W. & J., West Virginia, Holy Cross and Brown.

BLACK WINTER IS FEARED BY GREAT BRITAIN

REVENUES HIT

Prices Everywhere are Boosted; Heavy Taxes Loom.

LONDON.—The prospect of a very black winter for Britain is disturbing all social observers.

No better criterion of the present state of affairs can be found by the official figures of the country's revenue for the financial half year ending September 30. These show that revenue was $108,000,000 less than for the corresponding figures of last year, while expenditure was over $20,000,000 higher. One most important item of revenue—income tax—showed a decrease of $78,000,000.

These figures are the results of catastrophes which even yet have not nearly made their full effect felt. The general strike, followed by the long-drawn out miners' strike, have everywhere brought damage to trade and commerce. Works have been closed, new manufacturers have been postponed, credit has been generally restricted by the banks, luxury trades have been almost suspended, and except in London, theatres, cinemas and amusements generally have been hit almost beyond repair.

Miners' Strike.

The miners' strike by itself has been the result of a number of mines being closed down because it will be economically profitable to re-open them. Others, because of safety men being withdrawn, have been permanently damaged or flooded.

Many more will find their capital insufficient to re-strict working. Apart from this, valuable markets, hitherto the exclusive stronghold of Britain have been captured by the United States, Germany and Poland.

As for the miners themselves, their lot is a pitiable one. Few have had sufficient in the shape of strike allowances to maintain their homes. In most districts, relief for wives and children was cut off immediately by the municipality after the first few weeks. The result has been that in endless cases the miners homes have been sold up or else hopelessly mortgaged.

Indirect Effects.

Indirect effects have been almost equally serious. Trades dependent on coal fuel have been up to a point only slightly less than the mining industry itself. Many works have tried to keep going on German coal but have found it unsatisfactory for their needs. The result has been again the loss of valuable contracts.

As regards the town dwellers who know little of the miner and his conditions, consequences have been almost equally severe. Prices have everywhere risen against him. He is threatened with new heavy taxation, and municipal assessments are increasing rapidly. Added to that it is impossible for the working and lower-middle classes in Britain to pay $18 to $20 per ton for ordinary household coal—almost the only means of interior heating in the country.

BLACK WINTER IS FEARED BY GREAT BRITAIN

REVENUES HIT

Prices Everywhere are Boosted; Heavy Taxes Loom.

LONDON.—The prospect of a very black winter for Britain is disturbing all social observers.

No better criterion of the present state of affairs can be found by the official figures of the country's revenue for the financial half year ending September 30. These show that revenue was $108,000,000 less than for the corresponding figures of last year, while expenditure was over $20,000,000 higher. One most important item of revenue—income tax—showed a decrease of $78,000,000.

These figures are the results of catastrophes which even yet have not nearly made their full effect felt. The general strike, followed by the long-drawn out miners' strike, have everywhere brought damage to trade and commerce. Works have been closed, new manufacturers have been postponed, credit has been generally restricted by the banks, luxury trades have been almost suspended, and except in London, theatres, cinemas and amusements generally have been hit almost beyond repair.

Miners' Strike.

The miners' strike by itself has been the result of a number of mines being closed down because it will be economically profitable to re-open them. Others, because of safety men being withdrawn, have been permanently damaged or flooded.

Many more will find their capital insufficient to re-strict working. Apart from this, valuable markets, hitherto the exclusive stronghold of Britain have been captured by the United States, Germany and Poland.

As for the miners themselves, their lot is a pitiable one. Few have had sufficient in the shape of strike allowances to maintain their homes. In most districts, relief for wives and children was cut off immediately by the municipality after the first few weeks. The result has been that in endless cases the miners homes have been sold up or else hopelessly mortgaged.

Indirect Effects.

Indirect effects have been almost equally serious. Trades dependent on coal fuel have been up to a point only slightly less than the mining industry itself. Many works have tried to keep going on German coal but have found it unsatisfactory for their needs. The result has been again the loss of valuable contracts.

As regards the town dwellers who know little of the miner and his conditions, consequences have been almost equally severe. Prices have everywhere risen against him. He is threatened with new heavy taxation, and municipal assessments are increasing rapidly. Added to that it is impossible for the working and lower-middle classes in Britain to pay $18 to $20 per ton for ordinary household coal—almost the only means of interior heating in the country.

BLACK WINTER IS FEARED BY GREAT BRITAIN

REVENUES HIT

Prices Everywhere are Boosted; Heavy Taxes Loom.

LONDON.—The prospect of a very black winter for Britain is disturbiug all social observers.

No better criterion of the present state of affairs can be found by the official figures of the country's revenue for the financial half year ending September 30. These show that revenue was $108,000,000 less than for the corresponding figures of last year, while expenditure was over $20,000,000 higher. One most important item of revenue—income tax—showed a decrease of $78,000,000.

These figures are the results of catastrophes which even yet have not nearly made their full effect felt. The general strike, followed by the long-drawn out miners' strike, have everywhere brought damage to trade and commerce. Works have been closed, new manufacturers have been postponed, credit has been generally restricted by the banks, luxury trades have been almost suspended, and except in London, theatres, cinemas and amusements generally have been hit almost beyond repair.

Miners' Strike.

The miners' strike by itself has been the result of a number of mines being closed down because it will be economically profitable to re-open them. Others, because of safety men being withdrawn, have been permanently damaged or flooded.

Many more will find their capital insufficient to re-strict working. Apart from this, valuable markets, hitherto the exclusive stronghold of Britain have been captured by the United States, Germany and Poland.

As for the miners themselves, their lot is a pitiable one. Few have had sufficient in the shape of strike allowances to maintain their homes. In most districts, relief for wives and children was cut off immediately by the municipality after the first few weeks. The result has been that in endless cases the miners homes have been sold up or else hopelessly mortgaged.

Indirect Effects.

Indirect effects have been almost equally serious. Trades dependent on coal fuel have been up to a point only slightly less than the mining industry itself. Many works have tried to keep going on German coal but have found it unsatisfactory for their needs. The result has been again the loss of valuable contracts.

As regards the town dwellers who know little of the miner and his conditions, consequences have been almost equally severe. Prices have everywhere risen against him. He is threatened with new heavy taxation, and municipal assessments are increasing rapidly. Added to that it is impossible for the working and lower-middle classes in Britain to pay $18 to $20 per ton for ordinary household coal—almost the only means of interior heating in the country.

SPEEDING WORK AT SMITH'S FERRY

Rapid progress was made during the past week on the improvement of the highway at Smith's Ferry. With favorable weather it is expected grading will be completed within the next two weeks.

The contract is held by the contracting firm of Allison-Harris.

Lodge To Hold Party.

Large crowd is expected to attend the masquerade party to be held tomorrow evening in the Hill building under the auspices of Eureka circle No. 86, Protected Hom Circle. Ward's orchestra will furnish the music.

During a recent band concert in London a swarm of mosquitoes routed some of the musicians and caused a rush to shelter by the audience in which two women fainted.

Helps Men Succeed

Thousands of men, clerks, postal employees, office men, mechanics, laborers, etc., have learned a quick road to success as simple as A-B-C, with earnings up to $5,000 and $10,000 yearly by reading an amazing book "Modern Salesmanship" which is now being distributed free to ambitious men by a prominent association of Chicago business men. They maintain one of the largest free employment bureaus in the world, receiving last year requests for 49,880 men from large selling organizations. If you want to get into this big pay class, send your name and address at once to the N. S. T. A. Dept. 30 Chicago, Ill., and get this remarkable book free by return mail. Adv.

Plans Being Worked Out New Subway In British Capital

LONDON.—The $160,000,000 Anglo-American project to construct a vast network of underground railroads for London goods traffic is understood to be making steady progress.

"We are now at work on the plans and details," said C. Carkett-James, chief engineer of the scheme, to International News Service. "The preparation of the scheme is a gigantic task, and we do not yet know when work on the undertaking will start. The plan will undoubtedly mature, however."

It is proposed to build sixty-nine miles of electric railroad track, equipped with gigantic elevators for raising trucks to the surface.

ALWAYS DEAD TIRED?

How sad! Sallow complexion, coated tongue, poor appetite, bad breath, pimply skin and always tired. What's wrong? You are poisoned. The bowels are clogged and liver inactive. Take this famous prescription used constantly in place of calomel by men and women for 20 years—Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They are harmless yet very effective. A compound of vegetable ingredients and olive oil. They act easily upon the bowels, free the system of poison caused by faulty elimination and tone up liver.

Be beautiful. Have rosy cheeks, clear eyes and youthful energy that make a success of life. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, nightly. Know them by their olive color. 15c., 30c. and 60c.

German Republicans Claim Radio is Used For Political Purposes

BERLIN.—Political radio censorship has been introduced by the Minister of the Interior of the Reich, following many complaints by Republicans that the radio was abused for political propaganda against, or, at least, not in favor, of the Republic. A committee of three men has been appointed by the Minister, consisting of two Socialists and one Centrist, whose party is a loyal supporter of the Republican Constitution. This new measure roused considerable comment and resentment among the Nationalists.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches rub on good old Musterole.

Musterole relieves the congestion and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief. Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

"War Coming," Ford.
How Big Is Texas?
Man Is An Astroscopus.
Drunk In Parliament.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

HENRY FORD does not like war, he's for peace. In fact, he financed a famous peace ship—now he is financing airships that will be useful if war comes to this country. Every Ford commercial airship can be changed into a fight airship in three hours.

AND Ford says that war is coming. War against the United States. We are deeply hated and envied by foreign countries. Envy and hate are not far apart.

QUEEN MARIE says she wants to see "Texas," where there is enough space to give almost every human being in the world one square yard of territory to stand upon.

HER majesty of Rumania has still something to learn about the size of Texas. All Europe's people could live there comfortably and raise enough with intensive cultivation to feed them all.

All of the sixteen hundred million people on earth could stand, at the same time on Staten Island, in New York harbor.

PROF DAHLGREN of Princeton has discovered the astroscopus fish, which shoots a 50-volt electric shock from its eyes.

Astroscopus means "star gazer." The fish lying on the bottom has eyes on top of its head, looking for prey or enemies. The electric discharge keeps enemies away.

Men have become star-gazers, scientists say, after thousands of centuries of evolution. It was partly the desire to look up at the stars, partly watching for enemies above the high grass that made us finally stand erect on our hind legs. They say so, but you need not believe it.

A SOCIALIST member of parliament says many British statesmen are drunk in parliament, which makes members of this ancient body angry.

Not so long ago drunkenness in the British parliament, especially on the side of the Tories, who dined late and well, was extremely common. T. P. O'Connor, oldest member of the house, remembers it well. And the rule by which the members sit in parliament with their hats on, is supposed to have started because it was a nuisance to remind all the drunken members to take their hats of when the speaker entered. A story tells of the great Pitt, who had kept his hat on and was asked whether he was aware of the presence of the speaker. Instantly taking off his hat he replied, courteously, that he repretted to say he was aware of the presence of two speakers.

THE suggestion by Postmaster General New that any attack on the United States mails be made a capital offense is sound.

No man attacks a mail car or wagon without including murder in his program. Life imprisonment at hard la-

Cleveland and Other Ohio Cities Expect Increase.

Coincident with the fall of snow and the first cold day of the autumn season, coal prices soared to wartime levels in East Liverpool today.

Retail dealers here quoted Pittsburgh district coal at 32 cents per bushel. Up until the latter part of last week deliveries were being made at 23 and 24 cents.

Wagon Mine Prices.

On the other hand, wagon mines in southern Columbiana county were accepting orders for run of mine at 20 cents and for lump coal at 22 cents per bushel, delivered in East Liverpool district.

East Liverpool coal yard owners said their 32-cent price is largely due to a shortage which has developed with cold weather, when domestic demands are heavy and also to the fact that approximately 2,000,000 tons is being exported weekly to England where miners are out on strike.

Operators in the Pittsburgh district gave no reasons for the increased prices on deliveries shipped from the mines after last Friday, dealers said. No intimation was given as to how long the high prices would prevail.

Orders for Limited Quantities.

"We do not understand the increase in coal prices unless it is because of the large shipments which are being made to England,' was the statement of officials of the Enterprise Coal company. "Coal is not very plentiful and orders are being received only for limited quantities."

William T. Anderson, East End, who also deals in Pittsburgh coal, said: "We are having trouble in getting shipments and deliveries are being made as fast as the cars come in. We have not one lump in our yards this morning but expect shipments today."

M. G. Martin, who operates a mine about five miles back of Wellsville, quoted coal at 20 and 22 cent prices for East Liverpool deliveries. Until

Mrs. George O. Thurn Will Lecture at Daily Sessions at 2:30 p. m. in Eagles' Temple Next Week.

The Review-Tribune, realizing that the culinary art and how to cook foods the best, the easiest and daintiest, is most important, today completed arrangements for a free cooking school to take place next week, beginning Tuesday, Nov. 2, with daily sessions at 2:30 o'clock in the Eagles' temple, Broadway.

The cooking school has become a necessity and not a luxury as most people thought when first it was presented. The housewife was quick to realize that she could obtain great results and knowledge by attending these cooking schools. And now she finds it part of her yearly business to go to the cooking school and get all the new wrinkles that have come out.

Ever keeping an eye on this modern trend of our fast developing country the Review-Tribune has stressed the importance of bringing this free cooking school to East Liverpool with the idea in mind that it will be of great benefit to all and the housewife in particular.

The lecturer will be Mrs. George O. Thurn, of countrywide fame. Having visualized that the women of America are ever alert to improve their homes. Mrs. Thurn has given much time and thought to the gathering of

WILLIS WILL BE RE-ELECTED, SENATOR FESS TELLS VOTERS

Ohioan Says Colleague Will Have Majority of 100,000.

G. O. P. MEETING

Greets Electors in Diamond, Then Speaks at Headquarters.

United States Senator Frank B. Willis, Republican, will be re-elected over Atlee Pomerene, his Democratic opponent, by a majority of more then 100,000 at the election on Tuesday, November 23, Senator Simeon D. Fess, Yellow Springs, told an enthusiastic crowd at a rally in Republican headquarters, West Fifth street, Saturday night.

The senator from Ohio was introduced by Attorney W. H. Vodrey.

Fess came to East Liverpool Saturday night from Columbus. The local reception committee met him at Wellsville and brought him to this city by automobile. Following the meeting he was taken to Beaver by motor where he made connections with a train for Pittsburgh where he spent the week-end.

Attorney Ben L. Bennett introduced Senator Fess in the Diamond before the meeting at the West Fifth street headquarters. The senator spoke for only a minute, stating that he was under instructions from physicians to make no outdoor talks as he was booked for meeting up until the night before the election.

Cites G. O. P. Achievements.

Fess declared that his feeling toward East Liverpool was more than friendly inasmuch as two of his sons, Lowell and Sumner Fess, were former residents here—the former as a professor in the high school nad the latter as a student and graduate of the high school. He then launched into a discussion of the achievements of the Republican administration since 1921.

When President Harding took office less than six years ago, United States war debt amounted to approximately $26,500,000,000, Fess asserted. Since then the debt has been cut to approximately $19,000,000,000 and during the

ALLEGED 'TRIGGER MAN' IN MELLETT SLAYING READY TO UNFOLD PLOT

Startling Disclosures in Murder of Crusading Publisher of Canton News, Who Was Assasinated Three Months Ago, are Predicted by Prosecutor C. B. McClintock.

ELUSIVE SUSPECT IS SURRENDERED AT TWIN ROCKS, PA., BY BROTHERS

Detective Ora Slater, of Cincinnati, and Stark County Official are Believed to Have Made Agreement Not to Seek Death Penalty for Exconvict if He Testifies.

CANTON, Ohio, Oct. 25.—Pat McDermott will talk before the day is ended.

This was the prediction this morning of Prosecutor C. B. McClintock, in charge of Stark county's investigation into the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher.

"McDermott has admitted that he knows these fellows," McClintock said, referring to Ben Rudner and Louis Mazer, jointly indicted for the murder with Pat, and Steve Kascholk, a Nanty Glo, Pa., miner, held in jail as a state's witness.

Grilling of Pat was scheduled to begin late this morning after McClintock and Detective Ora Slater had completed their rest, following their long auto journey through the rain from Johnstown, Pa., to Canton last night.

McClintock predicted that the Mellett murder will be cleared up by January 1, when he leaves office.

Arrest Clinches State's Case.

"Pat," he announced, "has told us enough to prove convincingly that he is the 'key man' in the case. His arrest has clinched things and before we are through we will have the goods on everyone involved. I think Pat is going to talk freely before we are through without examination.

"Pat did not tell us anything about the actual murder but his answers and his attitude prove conclusively that he knows about it and that he is only waiting for the proper time to talk.

"He was surrendered by his relatives without any promises except that he will get a square deal but he is trying to get more assurance before he tells his story."

Pat apparently has been in close touch with Mazer and Rudner through some unknown source, McClintock said.

"Pat told us," he continued, "that Rudner's brother is running his hardware store in Massillon, a fact which we had not learned yet. Just now we are much interested in learning who was keeping Pat in Cleveland and paying for the apartment where he hid himself and so successfully eluded police and others while the $10,000 reward hung over his head.

McDarmott's relatives are urging him to "come clean." His brother, Bernard, who made the trip here from Pennsylvania yesterday, will represent him for the present. Bernard McDermott has used all his influence to have him talk and tell all he knows about the case, according to McClintock.

"There will be no hurry in arraigning Pat," McClintock said.

Rudner, in Stark county jail with McDermott, was hopeful today after he had learned of Pat's apprehension. Jailers said, he was more cheerful than at any time since his arrest several weeks ago.

Rudner Is Hopeful.

"When Pat talks," Rudner said, "Stark county will lose another boarder."

McDermott, who entered the jail last night, almost in a state of collapse, relaxed during the night and was in fine spirits this morning. For the first time in three months he slept with the knowledge that he was free from his pursuers, both officers of the law and members of the vice ring who might be interested in putting him out of the way.

He is alone on the second floor of the jail, the other prisoners in this section having been transferred to the first floor. He has a large light

President's Right To Remove Federal Officer is Upheld

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The power of the president to remove a federal officer without the consent of the senate was sustained by the supreme court today, thus ending a dispute as to constitutional rights that was waged between the legislative and executive branches of the government for half a century.

The decision was handed down in the case of Frank S. Myers, now deceased, former postmaster at Portland, Ore. Myers was appointed by President Wilson in 1917, and removed from office three years later, without the consent of the senate. Because his appointment had to be confirmed by the senate, his heirs contended, in a suit for back pay, that his removal without the senate's consent was not constitutional.

BY WILLIAM S. NEAL.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Discarding their reported indifference toward liquor referendum the drys have opened a smashing offensive to win in five states on November 2, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League of America, disclosed today.

The drays have named California, Colorado, Montana, Nevada and Missouri as their battle-grounds, Wheeler said. He declared prohibition forces are making no fight in New York, Illinois and Wisconsin.

While the dry "ace' was issuing his rosy forecast, G. C. Hinckley, secretary of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, declared a survey assured the wets of victory in seven of the eight referendum states.

The wet organization has repudiated the proposed Missouri referendum, which is in dispute, as unfair to wets and drys alike, Hinckley said.

Nearly one-fourth of the voters of the country will face the wet and dry question when they enter the voting booth in the referendum states.

"We have entered the fight with local forces in those states where repeal of state enforcement laws is threatened and in Nevada where it is proposed to petition congress to call a constitutional convention," said Wheeler.

"We will win in every one of them."

The drys favor holding a referendum in Missouri, Wheeler said. He hinted at the possibility of court action to force the question on the ballot.

"I have just returned from a trip to the Pacific coast and was in five of the referendum states," said Hinckley. "On the basis of personal observation and reports to headquarters, I am confident the wets will carry seven states. Because of the way the question is framed, wets and drys will vote alike in Missouri, if the referendum is held."

He said the wet and dry fight is particularly bitter in California and Colorado.

Repeal of state enforcement laws is proposed in California, Colorado and Montana and this question is included with others in Missouri, he said.

Congressional Campaign.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The campaign to win control of the seventieth congress turned into its final week today, featured by President Coolidge's abandonment of his previously announced policy of aloofness from the partisan struggle.

While he has largely refrained from giving specific endorsement to any of the Republican candidates for re-election, President Coolidge had made an exception in the case of Senator W. M. Butler of Massachusetts. In a let-

SOOK FOUR—XI.

"I'm ashamed of myself," said Jock. And, momentarily, he was. Johnny Havens was the kind of new acquaintance to whom you would have liked to be able to say that you were in a brokerage office, or with an advertising firm, or, thought Jock, anything respectable." He listened with avidity to such intermittent mention of his own business as Johnny made, and eyed him with esteem. Newspaper work . . . something pretty fine about that . . .

They parted at 6 o'clock, with resolutions for a soon reunion. "I'll call you up," said Peg from the taxi. "Been meaning to, anyway, but we've only been back from our trip two weeks—we went to Cuba, naturally, so Johnny could drown his woes. We'll give you a buzz—you too, Bill Olmstead—and Jock, you bring Yvonne when you come, and I'll make fudge and fried eggs, my two chef-d' oeuvres—"

"Great pair," remarked Bill, when they had pulled away.

"Yeah," Jock said. He stared after the receding rectangle of glass with the two heads . . . close together. . . . "So darn right, too," he added, almost with bitterness.

XII.

New Year's Eve at Terrace Tavern looked, as Jock put it, "like a futuristic conception of a riot in an insane asylum," and sounded like no known thing. It fairly rocked and vibrated and teemed. It was a cyclone of color, a turmoil of motion, a pandemonium and a hullabaloo. It was Terrace Tavern at its rowdiest, and by comparison with it the average roadhouse evening seemed tranquil, staid, and placid and demure.

Reservations had been made weeks in advance. Every table bore a ticket of green and brown bottles, a flotilla of glasses, a dust of crumbs, an array of women's vanity cases, ash trays full of smoked-up ends, dishes, food under plated silver beehives. Every chair had a flushed and gibbering occupant, wearing a crepe paper hat. There were fat bald heads in blue sunbonnets, and pin-heads in green helmets, and square heads in pointed caps, and flabby pink jowls tied 'round with babyish bows. And women in rather becoming hats. Women always manage that, somehow. Vain, even in wassail.

Confetti lay on the dance floor in little parti-hued puddles, and marked trails between the tables. It flecked the dark-coated shoulders of men, and glistened in women's hair, and stuck like beauty marks to their most warm skin. Colored streamers looped from the central chandelier, bunched about the feet of the dancers and tripped them, stacked itself in corners as though a giant ticket-tape basket had upset. A Christmas tree stood near the stage where the orchestra played, stripped now of most of its ornaments and possessed of such deputy ones as a wisp of chiffon handkerchief, an ostrich feather pompom off a dress, two hats, a corkscrew, and a man's limp string of collar.

Little tin horns whined, and little cardboard horns with peppermint-candy stripes tooted and bleated, and little souvenir hammers, marked "August Schultz wishes you a Happy New Year," rat-a-tat-tatted ceaselessly. And, as though this were not noise enough, there was added to it the nasal yell of the saxophones, the deep boom of the drum, the fret of chairs pushed back suddenly . . . and the screaming talk . . . and the squawking laughter . . .

"It's incredible, isn't it," said Yvonne, "that mere flesh-and-blood ears can stand a racket like this?"

Jock smiled at her adoringly. Almost any man would have smiled adoringly at Yvonne that night. Gasped first—and then adored. She was wearing a creation of pearly white velvet that covered her chest to the throat, where a tight high collar of rhinestones held it, but that had no back whatever and very little side; and the strands of her shimmering ruddy hair were wrapped smoothly around her head and held with a crescent-shaped rhinestone pin. . . . It's incredible," he retorted justifiably, "that mere flesh-and-blood eyes can look at you without blinking. You're so superb that it's—"

"Sh-h! They'll hear you, my dear!"

"They were six in number—New Year's Eve revelers at whose table Yvonne and Jock were seated. The host, Barney Blaine, owner of several cinema theaters, had known Yvonne "when she sold smokes for a living," as he was fond of saying to Jock's chagrin, and had insisted tonight that they "come on over here and be sociable." So here they were, Yvonne, Jock, Barney with his swarthy, smiling face and his restless, unsmiling eyes. Barney's lady, a bosomy blonde who took whisky straight and whose flow of tainted narrative seemed limitless. Charley Kaufman, press agent for what Barney always referred to as "my interests," lean and saturnine. Kittens Mitchell of the almond shaped eyes that flew to Jock like steel to magnet, who had but a moment since asked Yvonne how she ever "found" that unusual shade of hair. And the Kendricks, man and wife, who did a dancing act on the two-a-day and cordially hated each other.

It was 11 o'clock. At the stroke of 12 August Schultz's wee niece, clad airly in cheesecloth panties, would appear, representing the New Year. (That is to say, the management hoped she would appear; at rehearsals she had temperamentally balked, and kicked August Schultz in the shins.) She would, it was hoped, plant her foot triumphantly upon the prostrate back of the trombone player, who, in a long hoary beard, would represent the Old Year now defunct. And among the spectators there would be an increase of din, if possible. And people would kiss one another, and cheer, and bawl felicitations, and whistle, and spit the confetti out of their mouths, and do all the things with which good Americans usher in another first of January.

Preparations for this great moment were even now apparent. Everybody was drinking preposterously — the American hypothesis being, of course, that the drunker one is the better one ushers. Everybody was achieving terms of the friendliest intimacy with everybody else. Convivial souls were roaming from table to table, getting in the way of the distracted waiters, pausing to introduce themselves and to exchange a pleasantry or two. Gentlemen with their ties untied and their hair in their eyes were singing sentimental ballads, heads together. Acquaintances of two minutes' standing were calling one another "ole Joe" and "my frien' Sam, here, he's from St. Louis, yup, big cloak-an'-suit man out there." Streamers were describing graceful parabolas through the air, lighting like lassos around white necks. Girls were laughing shrilly, swaying back and forth. Here you saw a sleeper, chin on chest. There an old man, clenching the arm of a pretty blase youngster so tightly that his fingers dented dimples in her skin. There a woman knobby with avoirdupois, weeping at she knew not what. There a girl trying to climb on to her table, breaking glass, upsetting dishes. There a sophomoric individual being assisted out by two companions, assuring them as he went that "S'll fun." There a whole party owishly intent on making a spoon jump into a tumbler by means of another spoon . . .

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 93

Mother! It's Cruel to "Physic" Your Child

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Silks For Every Occasion Every Day in the Week.

That we today are a silk-loving nation is demonstrated everywhere in every direction. Why? Because it is the natural aim of every woman to always appear at her best and no influence can give the support, mentally and morally, to a woman, that the right clothes can supply.

We might complete these psychological infuences with the physical satisfaction created by the soothing luxurious feel of silk next to the skin. To these "pro's" for silken attire must be added the irrefutable evidence that silk is a fabric of service and economy. It may cost a little more over the counter, but its wearing qualities and style possibilities—just the fact that today the fabric makes the gown without any expense for trimmings—more than compensates for the difference in price. or these is no greater truth than that quality is remembered long after price is forgotten.

You will find just what you want in the following list.

Satin crepe—39 inches wide—$3.00. Very good quality. In black, navy blue, slate blue, Spanish raisin, grey, Jungle green, claret red and rustic brown.

Hoover Calls Meet To Study Reports On World Markets

Business Organizations Will Send Delegates to Research Conference in Washington Next Friday.

WASHINGTON — Representatives of advertising agencies, industrial and commercial concerns, economic foundations, magazines and newspapers have been issued invitations by Secretary of Commerce Hoover to attend a conference on market research here October 29.

A large number of business organizations requested Secretary Hoover to call this conference which will present an opportunity to those in attendance to discuss and adopt a priority list of fundamental research projects in the field of marketing.

The study in this field of economy will be of partial benefit, in the opinion of officials, in the possible elimination of many serious wastes that occur in distribution. The studies to be undertaken will be only those which possess a common interest and value for all engaged in market research, A. Health Onthank, chief of the domestic commerce division of the department of commerce said.

"The problems of marketing which have arisen as results of the industrial and commercial development of this country are of essential importance to American business interests," Onthank said.

Efficiency in the methods of distribution, the elimination of waste and other important factors plays a vital part in the advancement of the trade of this country.

"The forthcoming conference offers an opportunity for those engaged in the consideration of these problems to plan and put into practice systematic methods for their study."

Officials anticipated that the conference would first draw up a list of the principal problems confronting the mraketing of America's $60,000,000,000 annual production. Committees probably will be selected to carry on these studies following the conference and reports to be submitted later may lay down a series of fundamental principles for the guidance of business men.

Secretary Hoover has always consided the losses occurring in the distribution of American production is one of the industrial wastes which may at least partially be eliminated. The subject never has had scientific consideration.

It was expected that both the domestic and foreign markets would be considered in all their phases.

Clara Bow, featured in Eddie Cantor's first Paramount starring picture, "Kid Boots," which arrived at the Ceramic theatre today, was born in Brooklyn. Her junior year at high school was somewhat shattered when she was adjudged the prettiest girl in a beauty contest, and offered a movie contract which guaranteed a role in one picture.

Not knowing how to make up, her first screen appearance was a miserable failure. On being told to cry, the mascara ran down both cheeks, none of which helped Clara in "registering." When the completed film had been shown, her entire part was deleted.

Motion pictures were quite different from what she had thought, so Clara entered a business school. Three months later, Elmer Clifton telephoned her, said he was about to make "Down to the Sea in Ships," and offered the girl fifty dollars a week—without expenses. During the twenty-two weeks of production work, she did so well that Clifton built her part into one of the principal roles.

B. P. Schulberg, now associate producer at Paramount's Hollywood studio saw "Down to the Sea in Ships" and signed Miss Bow to a five year contract. Since then she has played in more than a score of films, including "Black Oxen," "Kiss Me Again," "The Plastic Age," "Dancing Mothers," "The Runaway," "Mantrap," and "Kid Boots."

The cast of the last picture includes Billie Dove and Lawrence Gray, both of whom are featured. Tom Gibson adapted Florenz Ziegfield's stage success for screen use. Frank Tuttle directed.

Another Oil Orgy

"For the first time in many months," says a business review, "the oil industry is facing the specter of overproduction."

To the industry, overproduction is a "specter" because it means that prices will probably have to be lowered all along the line. The consumer is not scared by such a prospect.

Why the overproduction at a time when the air has been full of doleful tales of depleted oil fields? A new pool has been found—the Seminole field in Oklahoma. They are drilling nearly a mile deep there and getting a rush of oil from the "Wilcox sand." A month ago the production in that field was around 20,000 barrels a day. In the three weeks it trebled. Active drilling continues, and the flow may soon reach 100,000 or 150,000 barrels a day.

It is the same old story. When paying oil is struck anywhere, everybody drills to get his; the rock is punctured by superfluous wells; the oil-bearing sand is exhausted quickly, with vast quantities of oil and gas wasted in the process; oil drugs the market and prices of petroleum and all its products drop, only to rise again when the surfeit ends. It usually ends with distressing quickness.

But always there is "another new pool" discovered. It has been that way so far in our oil history. Will it continue so forever? Or will everybody pay, sooner or later, for these oil orgies?

Citizenship Doors

The story drifts in of a young foreigner who came to a voting booth to register the other day, for the first time, and was visibly embarrassed when asked for his citizenship papers. He said, however, that he had them, and would go and bring them.

An hour or two later the clerks were amazed to see the young fellow edging into the booth with a door on his back. He explained that he had been so proud of his naturalization papers that he pasted them on the kitchen door, and couldn't get them off, and so had to take the door off its hinges and bring it along.

The credentials were satisfactory, and the door, being duly inspected, returned where it belonged. Nobody is going to question that man's right to vote again. And when you think of it, isn't there a fine symbolism about the whole business? American citizenship itself is a doorway to the aspiring immigrant.

Imperatives

Buy This!" shouts a real estate sign in front of property for sale. "Eat Here!" demands a hot dog stand. "You cannot wear silk stockings to school," says a board of education in a California city.

"The world seems to be full of categorical imperatives," remarked a man passing one of the signs. "How I do hate them! How I do hope I will never be forced by fate to buy or eat where those signs are yelling at me!"

"Our purpose is not to impose rules on dress, but to teach the girls what constitutes artistic and practical garments," says a school superintendent in a different city. "With the art courses and with the health courses, principles of clothing are taught. The occasional girl who wears clothing not deemed proper is spoken to by a teacher in private, not with an order, but with a suggestion as to something else that would be more suitable and becoming. The result is that in the main our girls are sensibly and fittingly dressed."

The principle is the same whether it applies to restaurants, real estate, schools or anything else. No individual has a right to say "Do This!" to another. A majority of individuals deciding for its whole group is another matter.

The best advertising, as well as the best school discipline, is that which sets down the facts in simple and understandable array and leaves the individual to draw his own conclusions.

French Salutation

We may have to yield to the French form of salutation, after all our ridicule of men kissing men. Listen to this:

French doctors are protesting against the introduction of the American hand-shake in France, on the ground that it is "unsanitary." Half the diseases prevalent in Paris, they declare, could be controlled if it were not for the spreading of germs by contact of hands. The Gaulic kiss on both cheeks, they say, is much more sanitary, as well as more decorous, than our "pump-handle" fashion, because it is easier to keep the cheeks clean than the hands.

If men must shake hands, the French physicians say, let them do it with silk gloves. The silk, besides safeguarding the wearer against disease germs, "establishes a sympathetic current" which is more friendly than the bare contact of palm with palm.

All right. He-Americans can stand the silk gloves better than the cheek-kissing. But either will come hard the first hundred years.

Yes, there is a good deal in the papers about Marie. But isn't she a welcome change from Aimee and Peaches?

"Officials Insist Chicago is Clean," headlines the New York World. She ought to be, if those stories are true about the amount of water she takes from the Great Lakes.

A lot of people nowadays seem to think they've bought and paid for a thing when they sign notes for it.

Pathetic Figures — By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Awake fairly betimes and Arthur Killick's son of Kansas City came and later Meredith Nicholson, who had been at Atlantic City making a speech, and came to the city to spend a few hours with me, which pleased me mightily.

After Sinclair Lewis dropped in and told of his new novel about preachers and had the manuscript with him to give to his publisher, Alfred Harcourt, who came by for it and they talked of letters bravely but a little too deeply for me, and came also H. N. Swanson, the young Chicago editor.

In the evening my wife and I to a dinner to Marie de Bourbon, a Spanish princess, very gentle and lovely and Charles Hanson Towne, editor and poet, came with Alma Clayburgh, the singer, and I wagered two pounds with him foolishly. So home, after a full day, to bed.

The subway offers subterranean adventures for a nickel that cannot be duplicated the world over. The roar, shriek of rail against rail and the flashing whirl of white tiled stations are only a part of the jaunt in this underground world of tension.

Moving million footed New York in sardine like chunks at several minute intervals is a marvel of efficiency attested by the fact that New York has never had "the great subway disaster" predicted so freely when the tubes were opened.

New York's amiability is highly in evidence as it drifts down through doors with football rushes. Feet are trampled, hats knocked off and clothing torn but nobody seems to care.

"Watchya step!" and "Let 'em off foist!" The sliding doors open and tend car trains gulp a load in a jiffy and thunder away. Old timers despite the lurch and sway doze and awaken miraculously at their stations to fight their way out.

Others too tightly wedged to open their newspapers complacently read the sign jingles for soup, garters and malted drinks and, of course, The Subway Sun—that daily journal posted in the windows of each car.

In other days the greatest danger in subways was the pickpocket. Deft "leather lifters' found it a paradise. The crowd was so compact few noticed a tug at their purse. The shrewdest detectives were assigned to the tubes but accomplished little until passengers took vengeance into their own hands. A pickpocket today knows that if caught he faces a serious pummeling which generally lands him in a hospital.

Being the victim of pickpockets is right up my street. It has happened to me four times in the metropolis quite painlessly. Twice in the subway, once while watching a safe hoisted and the last time I suspect by a benign gentleman next me in a theatre who was constantly dropping his program for me to lean over and retrieve.

Somewhere I have heard there was a successful fat pickpocket. Pudgy fingers lack nimbleness for a skillful "dip." And most "dips" are drug addicts.

There is that story of a host who employed a reformed pickpocket to pluck his guests of valuables at a dinner and then surprise them by returning his loot at the end of the evening. He surprised them—including his host—by slipping out a side door with the swag.

Fred Stone's name stands in front of the theatre where he is playing in the biggest lights Broadway has ever seen for an actor. The letters are more than seven feet high.

HASKINS' LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

ARMISTICE DAY AIR RACE.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 25.—Armistice Day will be a date of considerable importance in the world of aviation this year. For on this day will be held the Schneider Trophy races at Norfolk, Virginia, and United States fliers are hoping that this year will give them the permanent possession of this trophy.

Italy and the United States are the only competing countries this year, and they will each enter three ships. The United States' entries will be the R3-C-3, powered with a Packard 1,500, the R3C-4, with a Curtis 1,550, and the plane with which Lieut. James H. Doolittle, U. S. A., won the race last year. This ship itself has an interesting history, it being the Curtis racer with which Lieut. Bettis, also of the army, won the Pulitzer race in 1925. Lieut. Doolilttle took it and converted it into a seaplane by having pontoons fitted to it. It may be that it will have the honor of bringing the Schneider trophy permanently to the United States.

Although an army pilot won last year's race, there will be no army entrant this year. The team selected consists of Lieut. Frank H. Conant, U. S. N., and First Lieut. C. Frank Schilt, U. S. M. C., with Lieut. C. C. Champion, U. S. N., as alternate pilot.

A triangular course has been laid from the southern end of Newport News' wharf to the northern end of the Naval Operating base, Hampton Roads; then northeast to a point 15.906 kilometers from the operating base and back southwest to Newport News' wharf. The distance from Newport News to Hampton Roads is 10.073 kilometers. From Hampton Roads to the turning point is 15.906 kilometers, and the distance back to Newport News is 24.021 kilometers; making a total of 50 kilometers. There will be seven laps in this race, or a distance of 350 kilometers, equolling about 220 miles.

The Italian fliers, who are now on their way to the States, are to have two O. U.-1's for practice use.

Overhauled at Philadelphia.

The American planes to be used in the race are now at the Philadelphia navy yard being overhauled. As soon as this work is completed, the engines installed, and tests made, they will be flown to Hampton Roads. They will be taken over the course so that the pilots may familiarize themselves with their performance, but they will not be flown at wide open speed.

In 1913, M. Jacques Schneider, a distinguished sportsman of France donated a beautiful silver trophy to be competed for by members of the International Aeronautical Federation. The purpose M. Schneider had in mind was to foster international maratime aviation competition. To date there have been eight competitions held. The first two were held at Monaco, the 1913 race being won by the French pilot Prevost in a Deperdussin. In 1914 an English pilot named Pixton won the race with a Sopwith.

The World War then intervened and no race was held between 1915 and 1918. In 1919 the competiton was conducted at Bournemouth, England, and was won by Italy with a Savoia plane. This victory was disallowed, however, since it was claimed that the pilot, Janello, had failed to follow the course as marked for the race.

In 1920 and in 1921, Venice, Italy, was the scene of this events and Italy was the winner both times. This made it doubly unfortunate that Janello should have failed to comply with the rules, since these three successive victories would have given that country permanent possession of the trophy.

In 1922 Captain H. C. Biard, a British pilot won the race at Naples, Italy, and accordingly the next year the event was held at Cowes, England. For the first time America entered the competition, and Lieut. D. Rittenhouse of the United States navy won with a navy C.R.3, at an average speed of 177.38 miles per hour.

Planes Damaged in Trials.

In 1924 all preparations were made for the race to be held at Baltimore, Maryland, but owing to the fact that the foreign entrants were damaged in trials previous to the race, it was called off. America might have scored a technical win by flying the course alone, but she preferred not to do so.

In 1925 Baltimore again made preparations for this international event. A course over the Chesapeake bay was marked off, ten hangars were erected, runways were constructed, and preparations made to take care of participants and spectators. America, England and Italy entered their fastest planes. For the first time, also, an army flier entered the contest.

Captain Biard, the English pilot, who had won the 1922 race, entered but the day before the race took up the Supermarine for a trial and owing to some defect in the machine wrecked it in attempting to land. He was, therefore, forced to withdraw. The motor of one of the Italian planes failed to start, one American navy plane was forced down at the end of the sixth lap, and the second during the final lap.

As has been said before the United States won this victory with a Curtiss racer which had been converted into a seaplane. Those witnessing the race said that by the time the race was half over it was realized that Lieut. Doolittle would be the winner.

An interesting feature brought out by these races is the increased speed which has been developed by seaplanes since the first race in 1913. That race was won with an average speed of 44.7 miles per hour. The next year the speed increased to 55.5 miles, the next to 124.9. In 1920 it dropped again, the winner attaining an average speed of only 102.5. Nineteen-twenty-one showed an increase to 117.4, while 1922 brought the rate up to 146.5. Rittenhouse's speed when America first won the cup was 177.38, but this record was broken by Doolittle last year with a rate of 232 miles per hour.

America has the best chance of winning the cup permanently at the present time because of the conditions of the award. It is specified that in order for the trophy to become the permanent property of any country it is necessary that it be won by it three times in five years. The United States having won it twice since 1923 has an opportunity this year and again next year, if we are unfortunate this time, Italy, however, must begin anew since her last victory was in 1921.

My Favorite Stories

THE OBSERVATION OF A STUDENT.

There still are parts of the South where the ancient devotion between white employers and colored retainers endures. I am reminded of a case in point.

A young planter in Mississippi had for his favorite servant an old negro who had cared for him as a child and whose faithfulness and affection never had diminished. Csually, Uncle Jim was quite frank in his criticisms upon his beloved boss' behavior, but when the latter became engaged to a young lady of the vcinity who was exceedingly beautiful but who also was reported to be of a somewhat tempery and difficult disposition, Uncle Jim had nothing whatsoever to say. He offered no congratulations, ventured no opinions.

The young man's feelings suffered under this silence. Finally he said:

"Look here, Uncle Jim, you know, of course, that I'm fixing to marry Miss Slocum."

"Oh, yassuh, I knows it."

"I haven't heard you speak of it and yet you must realize how important a step in my life this is going to be."

"Yassuh, I reckin' it's gwine be mouty important—tekin' one thing wid ernudder."

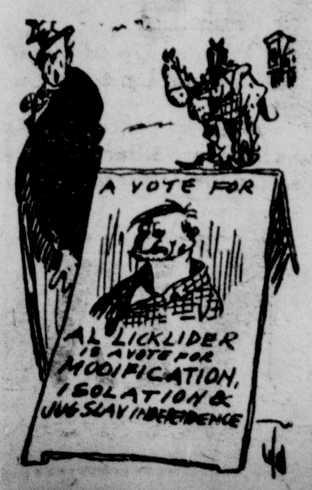

"Well, then, won't you give me your views on the subject? Don't you think Miss Slocum is a lovely young lady?"

Accused are Named in Slaying of Patrolman Kenney.

Despite efforts of Cleveland friends to obtain their release, Mike Kazanno and Mike Scioa, arrested Thursday by Chief of Police John Fultz of Wellsville on first degree murder charges in the slaying of Patrolman James Kenney last May, are still in the county jail at Lisbon, awaiting action by the next grand jury.

A Cleveland attorney, purporting to represent the two men, called at the county jail Saturday night, apparently in quest of their release on bond.

The attorney was advised that inasmuch as the two defendants were being held for the next grand jury on a murder charge, no bond could be considered.

Saturday afternoon, the affidavit charging Rocco Carbicella and Bennie Carbicella, brothers, with first degree murder, was again read to the two men at Lisbon by Thomas Campsey, an Italian interpreter.

DELINQUENT TAX LIST INCREASES

Delinquent taxes on real estate in West Virginia for 1924, showed an increase of $183,251.42 over the preceding fiscal year, according to figures just compiled by the state auditor's office. The total delinquencies for 1924 was $1,096,048.79 compared with $912,797.37 in 1923, the auditor shows. Books, showing the amounts for each of the counties, have been certified back to the sheriffs for collection before the middle of December, after which time all of the land involved will be sold for taxes due.

The return of the books by the auditor is an annual duty. Each year all of the delinquent taxes are reported to him for collection and he holds the books for one year. After that period additional penalties are added and the auditor sends the books back to the counties for final efforts to collect, or to sell the land.

Are You Weak? Does Your Back Ache?

Dayton, Ohio.—"Two years ago I suffered a nervous breakdown. I had headaches, pain in my back, and was weak, at times I did not care to live. Doctors did me no good. I tried many remedies, but none helped me. Finally a friend told me Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription had saved her life and wanted me to try it. Three bottles made me well and now I weigh 150 pounds. When I began with the 'Prescription' I weighed just 104. I am well and healthy and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription did it. I advise every ailing woman to give this medicine a trial."—Mrs. Jennie Cassidy, 21 N. BANK LOOT IS BEING SOUGHT

Keystone State Officers Probing Report of Buried Treasure.

Pennsylvania state police are in charge of the investigation into the report that loot of the robbery of the bank at Imperial, Pa., is buried somewhere in the vicinity of Steubenville, it was reported yesterday. The Pennsylvania officials are co-operating with Ohio authorities in an inquiry into the veracity of information regarding the presence of the cache of loot near the Ohio city, it was said.

The bank at Imperial was robbed in 1921 by a gang of aliens, one of whom is believed to be Paul Orlaski, convicted murderer, under sentence of death at Rockview penitentiary for the slaying of a guard in a recent attempt at escape. Attempts to communicate with friends in the Steubenville district led officials to the belief the loot of the bank robbery is hidden somewhere near the city. Whether they have definite information or not concerning the location of the stolen property has not been divulged.

Orlaski is believed not only to have been connected with the bank robbery, but with the robbery of a $93,000 payroll stolen in transit from a Pittsburg bank to the Weirton Steel company in 1920. The loot from this robbery was never recovered. Two indictments against aliens alleged to have participated in this robbery were returned by a United States grand jury sitting at Wheeling, but the men named in the indictments were never taken into custody. They are thought to have escaped to Italy.

According to information which has been general knowledge, the $100,000 loot is buried in a milk can somewhere in the Steubenville district. Orlaski recently received a stay of sentence from Governor Pinchot, of Pennsylvania.

OHIO THIEVES GET $100,000 IN DIAMONDS

ROBBERS FLEE

Crooks Trailed Owner From Buffalo, Switched Baggage Checks.

TOLEDO, Oct. 25.—A trunk containing $100,000 worth of diamonds was ransacked of its contents here early this morning by three thieves, according to the owner, Jack Kloville, a diamond broker of New York city.

Kloville had checked the trunk at Buffalo yesterday for Toledo, he claims. When he called at the Union station baggage room for it he was informed that it had disappeared.

Later the management of the hotel where Kloville was stopping found the empty trunk in one of its rooms. This room had been assigned to "John Jones, Harry Carl and George Jones, of Duluth." They had fled.

Police say that the thieves had trailed Kloville, and had switched baggage checks in such a manner as to give them possession of it.

HARRY HOUDINI UNDER KNIFE

Magician is Taken to Detroit Hospital for Operation.

DETROIT, Oct. 25.—Harry Houdini, world known magician, was taken to Grace hospital today for an operation for acute appendicitis. Houdini appeared at a local theatre last night despite considerable pain and a temperature of 104.

He is the second entertainer to go to the hospital here within a month. Frank Tinney, comedian, has been confined to a hospital here for more than three weeks. His condition however is improving.

Houdini arrived here Sunday afternoon. He had wired ahead to have a doctor meet him. Dr. Dretzka diagnosed the magician's illness as acute appendicitis.

Because there was a packed house Houdini insisted on going on. Today he was in so critical a condition that an immediate operation was held to be imperative.

same time there have been three reductions in taxes. Another tax reduction is proposed, he said, but it will not come at the next session of congress.

The senator also discussed the move which the administration launched a few months ago for a settlement of the foreign debt which, he declared, has been increased from $9,000,000,000 to $12,000 000,000 by interest charges accumulated since the war. Eighty percent of the foreign countries have already arranged a debt settlement, five countries, including France and Russia, still holding out.

"France must make a settlement of her debt,' Fess said. "If she refuses her credit is gone and without credit her country can never be rehabilitated. Russia never will pay and we may as well give up any hope of trying to collect it from the Soviet government."

In an appeal for the vote of the rural districts Fess discussed congressional action which had been undertaken for the relief of the farmer during the past year, asserting that no other industry had received as much help as has been extended the agriculture. Congress has approved 16 pieces of legislation, wholly applicable to the farmer, he said.

Over Production of Coal.

"Secretary Hoover, in addressing building and loan executives at Columbus a few days ago, said the country's building program never has been so great as it has been during the past year," Senator Fess declared. "Every industry in the country, with the possible exception of the coal and textile trades, is enjoying a period of prosperity under the leadership of the Republican party. There is an overproduction of coal, and the same condition prevails in the textile industry, due, the manufacturers claim, to the abbrevated styles of women's clothing.

Fess answered a statement, which he attributed to ex-Senator Pomerene, in which Pomerene claimed that the high cost of shoes was due to a duty which has been placed upon them.

"As a matter of fact shoes are on the free list," Senator Fess declared. "Our Democratic friend denied having made the statement when he was taken to task about it. The speech was probably written by some of the party leaders and Pomerene repeated what he had been told without investigating. Sixty percent of everything that is used by the farmers is on the free list."

Fess urged support of Myers Y. Cooper in the race for governor, asserting that the Republican nominee, if elected, would give Ohio a business-like administration.

He also appealed for the re-election of Congressman Frank Murphy, of the 18th Ohio district, and advised his bor, and useful labor, would discourage that crime.

BUT great concerns, including banks, and especially the federal reserve, should avoid huge mail shipments of currency for payrolls, etc., and if such shipments must be made the government should find a way to make them safely. Sending out an unprotected mail driver with a million dollars in his load is criminal foolishness.

PROF. MILLIKAN, lecturing at Yale, says of the great and noble Galileo:

"That if Galileo's own work were subtracted from modern civilization the world would revert to the condition of life prevailing in ancient times for not a single dynamical device for the utilization of power or the transformation of energy stored up in nature can be designed today without the use of the mechanical laws discovered by Galileo, and completely unknown to the ancient world."

When that same Galileo, exploring the wonders of the universe, read that a man in Holland had manufactured "a glass that brought things nearer," he immediately made with his own hands the first real telescope, bringing to men for the first time the rings of Saturn, moons of Jupiter, etc.

When he told about these things and said that the earth goes around the sun instead of standing still with all the heavens revolving around it, they made him get down on his knees and swear that he abjured, abhorred and detested his "heresies."

That memory should make some fundamentalist gentlemen careful about denouncing new ideas. They may be true. The earth does go around the sun.

last week prices for this coal were 18 and 20 cents, it was declared.

J. M. Deem, owner of a mine in California Hollow, also quoted 20 and 22 cents, which, it was claimed, were the prices charged in bygone years. Sufficient orders are on hand to keep the mine running for a week, it was announced at Deem's home.

First Snow of Season.

Most of the large mines in Columbiana county sell their output to outside communities and make no deliveries in East Liverpool. These companies, it is said, are selling their coal under contract. An official of the larger concerns operating in the south section of the county declared today that coal had been advanced about four cents per bushel by many of the Pittsburgh district operators but he could offer no explanation for the eight and nine-cent jump in prices announced by the retailers over the week-end.

The big mines in this county include the Penn-Ohio Coal company at Stop 47 on the Y. & O., the Seager Coal company at West Point, which ship over the Y. & O. railroad, and the mines in the Salineville district, which ship over the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad.

First snow of the season fell in East Liverpool this morning, the flakes melting as fast as they hit the ground. Thermometers registered the coldest day of the season.

Blame British Strike.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 25.—A sharp advance in coal prices in Ohio is imminent, according to fuel company officials here today.

While the rate of advance has not been made known it is admitted that the British coal strike will be directly responsible for the advance.

"For the first time in history we have had no summer dullness," declared a representative of the Cuyahoga coal company. "At present a million tons a month is being sent to England. Bituminous prices at the mines have gone up for eight successive weeks. This will cause the advance in retail prices."

The advance is to be general throughout the state, it is said. This is substantiated by the fact that retail prices were advanced at Ashland and East Liverpool the first cities to report an increase.

Touch of Winter

COLUMBUS, Oct. 25.—Central Ohio got its first official touch of winter this morning when snow fell in many cities within a 50-mile wide belt across the state, according to W. O. Alexander, official government observer here.

The fall was not enough to measure, said Alexander but it was reported throughout the district.

A thirty mile wind caused the mercury to drop five to ten degrees to the freezing point, but it will go up again before tomorrow, he added.

He has been a benefactor to his state and nation. I know how able and conscientious he is. In his rapidly taking place as a great senator I have an increasing pride in knowing he is from my state."

Butler is opposed by ex-Senator David T. Walsh, Democrat, and the contest is regarded by leaders of both parties as being exceedingly close.

QUEEN MARIE SAYS FAREWELL TO NEW YORK

Special Train Off to West Point and Pacific Coast.

BY DAVID P. SENTNER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The special train carrying Queen Marie of Roumania, her son, Prince Nicholas, and her daughter, Princess Ileana, left the Grand Central terminal at 7:30 o'clock this morning enroute for West Point, Albany, Buffalo, Chicago and the Pacific Coast.

Only a handful of the curious were on hand to get a glympse of the queen, and they were disappointed, as she was asleep when the train pulled out. Thus the queen bade farewell to New York, where she landed a week ago, after a continuous round of public and private functions.

The royal party spent the night aboard the special train in Grand Central station after attending a performance of the queen's fantasy, "The Lily of Life," at the Metropolitan opera house.

The queen occupied J. P. Morgan's box. Nearby boxes cost from $1,000 to $5,000 each, while the galleries were thronged with spectators who had paid only 50 cents for admission.

Denies Vienna Reports.

Queen Marie denied reports from Vienna that her husband, King Ferdinand, had ordered her back home because of criticism of her visit to this country. She admitted having received cablegrams from the king, but asserted that he merely was concerned for her health.

Although Dr. Arthur B. Duell, a throat specialist who has been attending the queen, announced that her majesty was greatly improved, Miss Adeline Young, a trained nurse brought here from Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, accompanied the queen on her western tour.

Frederick Moore, secretary of the Maryhill museum, which the queen will visit, did not depart with the royal party. He had been in charge of the trip but resigned because of a tilt with Colonel James H. Carroll, counselor for the Northern Pacific railroad. Moore charged mismanagement of the trip.

Tributes to 48 States.

Tributes penned by the queen to each of the 48 states were being forwarded to the various governors today. In each of them her majesty said she wanted to visit the state named, although she will not visit California. Her message to the latter state follows:

California
Land of the Setting Sun,
of
and
The Days of '49.

"Of giant trees, of John Muir and Joquin Miller, Bret Harte, Edwin Markham, nature's great poet, and other big men; home of modern miracles, and genuine hearts.

"I greet you and greet you, California, great queen of the west, for your extreme beauty and for what you have accomplished for humanity.

"May I come and see you one day,
Marie, Queen of Rumania."

VIENNA, Oct. 25.—The Roumanian government has issued an official denial of reports that King Ferdinand has cabled to Queen Marie to return home, because of American criticisms of her tour, it was reported here today.

Rev. Mel Morris Here

to return to the Baptist church at this time when the fall and winter religious activities are being initiated. With him is Mrs. Morris, who will remain with him during the present series of meetings.

Marion Ball Chorus Director.

Assisting the evangelist as chorus director is Marion Ball, a former Atlantic ocean ship engineer, who for five years has taken part in similar campaigns throughout the country. In some of these he aided the well known Paul Rader of Chicago.

While temporarily back at his sea duties last August, Mr. Ball, on the S. S. Mengore, en route to Jacksonville, Fla., from Baltimore, Md., suffered three vertebrae, five jaw bone and a head fracture which, following a few weeks' hospital stay, suddenly resumed a normal state following the efficacy of prayer.

"I was completely restored," declared Mr. Ball, preliminary to the morning musical service. "Henceforth I shall devote by life in God's service."

Buoyed by this revelation and inspired by the resultant hymn singing and the fervid compelling sermons of the visiting minister, the services culminated amid unprecedented early period enthusiasm as those in attendance all Sunday evening milled the aisles in unanimous handshaking mood mid strains of the song, "The Old Time Religion," which all sang.

Services at 7:30 Tonight.

Away to such an inviting start decision was reached to eliminate Monday as rest day and hold in consequence the campaign's second service at 7:30 o'clock tonight. "I do not know what I shall speak about tomorrow night," the evangelist announced. "I shall pray about the subject and then decide."

In keeping with the optimism of the visitors was that of Rev. H. H. O'Brien and his congregation. "This is going to be a great revival," he cryptically announced. "And we must have 400 persons, 200 of them women in the Sunday school next Sunday," he went on. "Shall we have them?" The vigorous response was its own guarantee.

With Miss Ruby Aley as accompanist several new songs were quickly taught the audience by Director Ball. These included "Step By Step I'll Walk With Jesus," "Tell Your Burdens to the Lord," "We're Bound for the Heavenly Land" and "Everybody Ought to Know Jesus."

The invocation of the evening service was made by Rev. A. H. O'Brien, the church pastor.

Preceding the discourse a trio consisting of Mr. Ball, Harry Chilton, church corister, and Carl Serafy sang "For He is Mine."

"I did not bring a revival in my grip," admonished Rev. Mr. Morris at the outset of his evening address. "I am glad to be back in East Liverpool to do all that I can to bring one to the city. But I warn you that to do so we must all get down on our knees and sincerely agonize for the spiritual blessing necessary for it. I shall say nothing offensive. I shall essay to bring the old, but ever new, gospel to you. It shall be my aim to preach new sermons save when special requests and the demands of the moment suggest that an old one be used."

DEATH ROLL

Naomi Mae Austin.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon for Naomi Mae, one-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Austin, of Congo, in charge of Rev. F. F. Freese, pastor of the Newell Nazarine church. Burial was made in Locust Hill cemetery.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Speculative interest in Wall street was largely concentrated on the government's cotton crop estimate at the beginning of trading today. Both the cotton and the stock market slowed up during the first hour, the cotton exchange being closed for trading between 10:55 and 11:15 o'clock. Stocks also marked time in this period, with narrow trading in the industrial speculative leaders and fractional price changes in most of the stocks sold.

The government's estimate of 17,454,000 bales was 400,000 bales above expectations. With the exception of the utility stocks and a few of the rubber and tire stocks, the trend of prices was downward.

Firmness of U. S. Steel common was the feature of the industrial list. The stock was in good demand around 139, against last week's low at 133¾, on market rumors that the directors would grant an extra cash dividend to stockholders at their meeting tomorrow. Some of the independent steel shares reflected this strength of the market leader, crucible and Bethlehem selling fractionally higher.

REED ORDERS OREGON SLUSH FUND INQUIRY

PROBES RUMORS

Asks Investigation of Steiwer Senatorial Campaign.

FEDERAL BUILDING, KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 25.—A slush fund investigation of the Oregon senatorial campaign was ordered today by Senator James A. Reed, Democrat of Missouri, chairman of the senatorial campaign fund committee.

Reed instructed Senators McNary, Republican of Oregon and King, Democrat of Utah, to conduct the inquiry as soon as they complete present investigation into the Washington senatorial campaign.

Senator Reed asked them to investigate specifically the campaign of Fred Steiwer, the Republican nominee.

"I have it on good authority," said Reed, "that Franklin K. Griffith of the Portland Elecitric Power company gave the Portland Oregonian $35,000 for opposition to Senator Stanfield, who was defeated by Steiwer in the Republican primary, of which $25,000 was sent from the headquarters in Philadelphia. Only a senate inquiry can establish the fact as no report was made of this contribution to the state."

OLD "41" TRAIN IS DERAILED

Four Cars Jump Track Near Freedom Station.

Several passengers narrowly escaped injuries when the westbound Cleveland-Pittsburgh passenger train, due here at 2:37, was derailed near the Freedom, Pa., station at 1:45 o'clock Sunday morning.

Four baggage and mail cars left the tracks. Two of the cars were hurled across the tracks at an angle of about 60 degrees, while the others dropped to the ties. The cars remained upright.

Passengers in the three coaches and two sleepers directly back of the derailed cars were shaken up but not injured. The accident was caused, it is claimed, when a coupling pin in the first car dropped out.

A wreck crew from the Conway railroad yards was called out, but the train did not reach East Liverpool until nearly 6 o'clock. Most of the dozen or more East Liverpool-bound passengers were picked up by passing automobile drivers and brought to their destination.

McDermott to Tell All

cell with a comfortable cot, plenty of blankets, a table, chair and wash stand.

Pat Has Hearty Appetite.

When the jailer called him for breakfast this morning there was no response. Three calls went unanswered. With some alarm for the safety of the prisoner the jailer unlocked the outer door and went in and rattled the door to his cell. Finally there was a stir from under the blankets and Pat turned a sleepy face toward the door.

Then he smiled broadly.

"I'm feeling better than I have felt in a long time," he said in response to the turnkey's query.

He arose and dressed and ate his breakfast with evidence of a hearty appetite. Then he cleaned up his cell, made the bed and sat down to wait for a session with Prosecutor McClintock which may prove an eventful episode in the case.

Promised "Square Deal."

McDermott was in county jail here today, following a nation-wide search for him lasting 90 days. He was surrendered yesterday at Twin Rocks, Pa., by his two brothers, as the result of a carefully laid plan prepared by Slater. It is believed that the famous Cincinnati detective and the prosecutor, in a four-hour conference with McDermott's brothers preceding his surrender, made an agreement not to seek the death penalty for McDermott, provided he would testify against Louis Mazer and Ben Rudner, the other two men under indictment for the murder.

Statements by his brothers that they would furnish funds to finance Pat's defense, and a promise exacted by them from Slater, to give Pat a "square deal" were regarded as certain indications here that some sort of deal had been entered into whereby McDermott will "tell all he knows" about the killing of Mellett.

Lured Into Custody.

McDermott, it was learned today, spent most of the time since the nation-wide search was inaugurated for him soon after Mellett was slain, hiding in an apartment in Cleveland. He did not work, but maintained a servant and an automobile, it is said, and apparently was well supplied with funds.

He was lured into custody by means of a message sent him by his brothers, to the effect that his aged mother, who is ill, wanted to see him. That McDermott was not "in" on the plan of members of his family to "turn him up" was indicated by his greeting to the officers, when they were brought into his presence at Twin Rocks.

"You've double-crossed me," shouted McDermott to his brothers.

Talks Enroute to Canton.

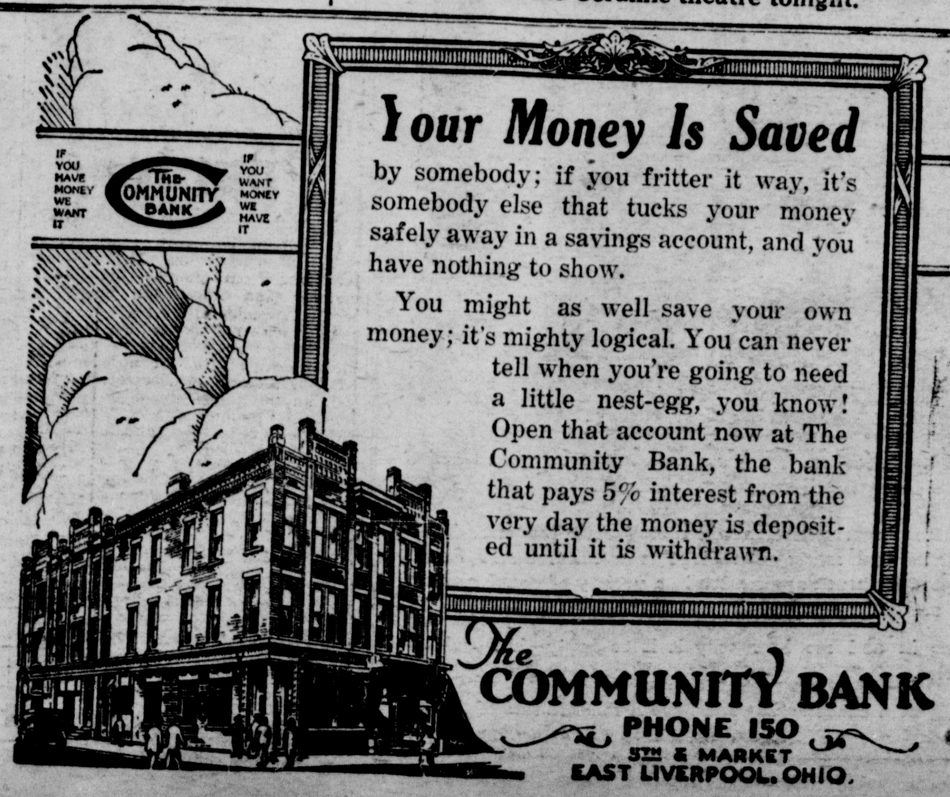

Slater and McClintock, although they would disclose no details of information already revealed to them during the long automobile ride from Twin Rocks to Canton yesterday by McDermott, or of facts they expected to elicit from him during a grilling today, expressed the confident belief that a full revelation of all angles of the plot to assassinate Mellett as a result of his campaign against Canton's vice ring, would come to light.

Don R. Mellett, 32, was shot early on the morning of July 16, by gunmen as he was putting his automobile in his garage at his home in Canton. During the two years he had been publisher of the Canton News, he had waged an unrelenting campaign against the operations of an alleged vice-ring in the city, and had been several times threatened by denizens of the "jungle," the underworld district.

EIGHT ACTIONS FILED BY COURT

Damages Amounting to $40,000 Sought by Salem Residents.

Eight actions have been filed in common pleas court by Metzgar, McCarty & McCorkhill of Salem against the city of Salem wherein a total of $40,000 damages is sought by different interests. The suits against the municipality are additions to the already long list of actions now pending in court, wherein damage to property is said to have resulted from waters from the municipal disposal plant.

The new plaintiffs are Mary Shaffer Marty and Ruby Shaffer, Inez Stallsmith, Homer F. Gray and Carrie M. Gray, E. Fullum, Chris Siegenthaler and Kathryn Siegenthaler, William R. Jackson and Florence Jackson, John Cuntan and Mary Cuntan, C. F. Detrow.

Each petition, the text of which is identical, with the exception of the description of property alleged to have been damaged asks the court for a judgment of $5,000.

It is understood that a number of additional suits of similar import remain to be filed.

In addition to these numerous "sewer cases" a large number of actions are also pending in common pleas court against the City of Salem as a result of the typhoid epidemic at Salem some years ago., these petitions having been filed by an Alliance law firm. Recently the court was asked by these plaintiffs through their counsel for a change of venue in the "typhoid cases," but this motion was denied by the court.

Divorce Granted.

On the grounds of extreme cruelty and gross neglect of duty, a decree of divorce has been granted by Judge W. H. Spence in the case of Fred E. Dozer against his wife Inella R. Dozer. The case was not contested, and aside from the testimony of the plaintiff only the usual number of character witnesses were examined.

Building for the Future

ELECTRIC service companies find themselves today in the same position that the railroads occupied seventy-five years ago. The railroads extended their lines into new fields years ahead of commercial development there.

We, too, must build for the future!

The demands of the factories, stores, street lighting systems and homes in the communities served by this Company will be doubled and trebled within a very short time. Generating stations, high tension lines and city systems must be built today for the requirements of our consumers ten and fifteen years hence.

The extra capacity of our two large generating stations together with the surplus on neighboring systems that are connected to our lines for emergency service, makes a liberal reserve that assures every user a dependable electric service for many years to come.

"MIDNIGHT SUN" AT AMERICAN

Russian Director's Big Film Spectacle is Booked.

In "The Midnight Sun,' Dimitri Buchowetzki, noted Russian director, has produced one of the biggest screen spectacles of the year. It is a Russian story staged in a lavish setting that rivals even "The Phantom of the Opera" and other great screen successes. It is Universal's Super-Jewel offering for this year and is coming to the American theatre, commencing today, for a four-day run. In addition to its magnificent sets, Universal spared no expense when it came to casting the players, making of "The Midnight Sun" an all-star production.

Several huge stages were constructed for this picture alone, one of which contained a replica of the famous St. Petersburg opera. It is one of the most famous theatres in the world and was built under royal orders in the days of the Czars. In this theatre was staged the colorful scenes showing the Imperial Russan Ballet in action. Over a thousand extras and principals took part in these scenes alone. So large was the production that it required not only a special wardrobe staff but a special building in which to house the costumes, and a special research staff to handle furnishings, architecture and other details.

The story from which the picture was adapted was famous some years ago in Europe as one of the most dramatic narrative of the old days of the monarchy and of the uprisings of student nihilists, forerunners and first warning of Bolshevism. The year in which the action of the picture takes place in 1913.

The story deals with a girl, member of the Imperial Ballet, who is coveted by two men, one of them a Grand Duke, commander of the military power of Russia; the other a banker, the money monarch of the country; and the girl's love for a young officer of the Grand Duke's staff. The young officer's brother is a nihilist and this complication gives rise to many startling dramatic situations.

Laura La Plante is seen as the young premiere ballerina who has charmed her way from the ranks of the ballet to the top.

Home-made Remedy Stops Cough Quickly

Finest cough medicine you ever used. Family supply easily made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup, or clarified honey. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made tough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid, too, for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, famous for healing the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Q. What did Gene Tunney eat while in training? J. B.

A. Gene Tunney has made the statement that in training for boxing bouts he prefers the routine that calls for two meals a day and the substitution of eggs for meat. This is contrary to the diet lists followed by other champions who always include meat during the last week of their training.

Q. Why is the statue of Freedom on the dome of the Capitol called an Indian? M. D.

A. Crawford's Freedom is sometimes mistaken for an Indian because of the arrows which are included in the headdress of the figure.

A. This would vary with the years. The latest available figures are for 1924. In this year the United States published 6,380 new books, while Great Britain published over 12,000. Fewer books have been published in America for the past few years than were 15 years ago, while 1924 was a record year for Great Britain.

Q. In what part of the country do the most people commit suicide? C. M.

The high rate may be attributed to the fact that many of the inhabitants actually belong elsewhere, and have gone west when health or business failed back home.

A. Prior to 1858 in every match there were two umpires, one chosen by each club, and a referee. As the umpires in a majority of cases decided in favor of their own clubs the decision had aultimately to be left to the referee. At a convention of the clubs, held in New York city, in March, 1853, that plan was abolished and in its stead was adopted the system of having only one umpire.

High School Gridders Lose By Single Touchdown At Toronto

High Powered Drive In Opening Quarter Produces Only Score

Effects of Weaknesses Caused by Injuries in Last Two Weeks Apparent in Play of Local Eleven; Ball Twice Within Shadow of Toronto Goal Posts But Punch is Missing.

GOING down to defeat at Toronto Saturday afternoon by a single touchdown margin, Coach George Kidder's Blue and White gridders, lacking the services of several first string performers, showed the effects of weaknesses in the lineup caused by injuries within the past two weeks.

Swept off their feet in the first five minutes of play, missing an opportunity in the same quarter to even the score, the East Liverpool combine went after the Jefferson countians in subsequent stages of the contest and on two occasions shoved the pigskin to within almost arm's length of the Toronto goal.

At these critical junctures, the absence of punch that apparently has gone to the sidelines with the hospital crew, was keenly felt. With touchdowns both times just a short, tantalizing distance away, the locals were unable to provide the power to crumble the defending line.

A mighty, almost irresistible drive directly through the East Liverpool line in the inaugural period of play gave Toronto its first touchdown.

East Liverpool received the kickoff at the outset of the contest and brought up at the Tontonto 40-yard line.

McKee, who was transferred from an end to a backfield berth, hurled a pretty pass to End English, who was wide open. But fate, apparently had ordained an afternoon of defeat, for the ball squirmed out of English's arms and the team's big chance went with it.

McKee flung another one right on the heels of the first play. Luck was worse this time. A Toronto secondary defense man intercepted the heave and ran the ball back to the 50-yard mark before he was stopped.

At that point the Torontoans began a line smashing attack that carried them onward for five consecutive first downs and a touchdown. Like the surge of the tide the Jefferson countians shoved on through the Blue and White defenses and with five minutes of the first quarter gone, led by a touchdown margin.

After that the two teams fought it out on pretty nearly even terms, the edge, if any, going to East Liverpool, the Blue and White losing a touchdown on a hair line decision in the third period.

Twice the Kidder-Cox machine plowed its way to within the Toronto 10-yard line and there the attack was stopped. The punch was missing in the shadow of the goal posts.

Although not making any alibis, there is still a question in the minds of the local coaches and players. On the fourth down in their supreme drive at the Toronto goal line, Halfback Kirkham went to the final chalk mark, his body swayed over the goal line and then the crush of defense players shoved him backward. The referee, on the down, ruled Kirkham had been stopped before his body swung over the line.

It was Kirkham's first game of the season and he played out the whole encounter in faultless style. Dick McKee also made his appearance as a backfield regular and his performance clicked with regularity. On one occasion he got off a 65-yard punt from scrimmage, something that high school punters are not wont to do habitually.

Lisbon, Salem and Chester are next in order for the locals, the card sending the team to Salem November 6 for the only out of town engagement of the trio.

WELLSBURG IS TRAMPLED BY CHESTER, 32-0

Visitors Helpless Before Attack of Wilde Eleven.

PLAYING a brand of football that was away beyond the expectations of their most loyal supporters, Chester high school footballers, before a crowd of over a thousand fans on the Rock Springs park grounds, Saturday, downed the highly touted Wellsburg high team, 32 to 0.

The game was mostly an offensive battle. Of the two teams Chester played the best defensive game by far, for the Wellsburg resistance was like so much sawdust against the onslaughts of the Chester high ball carriers.

The visitors made most of their gains by forward passes and ends runs; while Coach Wilde's boys tore the Wellsburg defense to shreds with plays off tackles, criss crosses and forward passes.

Shaw, Bartley and Kimble gained at will in Saturday's contest, Shaw hitting the line for gains averaging from 15 to 20 yards all through the game.

The visitors showed their best football in the first few minutes of play, carrying the ball from their own 15-yard line to Chester's 25-yard line in six plays, losing the ball on downs when a forward pass failed to work. When Chester got the ball the fire works started. Johnston tore around left end for a gain of 10 yards, Bartley circled right end for nine more yards. Shaw plunged through right guard for another five yards. On a criss cross Johnston was good for two yards. Bartley made another two yards for Chester by the same method.

Shaw plowed the line for another 10 yards, Bartley was stopped for no gain. Shaw found a big hole in Wellsburg's line, going almost to the visitors' goal line before being stopped. With the ball on the one-yard line Shaw went over for a touchdown. De Long failed to make the point.

De Long kicked off for Chester, Davis carrying the ball for twenty yards. On the first play Davis swept around right end for a first down. White gained three yards through the line. Waddell circled left end for eight yards and a first down. Wellsburg did nothing on the next three downs losing the ball on downs. Johnston went around left end for ten yards. Bartley gained about a yard around right end. Shaw found right guard good for two yards and plowed the line for another gain of ten yards. Johnston failed to gain. Bartley hit right tackle for another six yards. Shaw plunged the line for a first down.

Shaw went through right tackle for four yards. Chester failed to gain on the next two plays and De Long, standing on the visitors' thirty-yard line booted the ball over the cross bar for a field goal.

De Long kicked off for Chester, Waddell returning the ball ten yards. A Wellsburg pass was broken up by Kimble. White gained two yards at center. Davis found right tackle good for three yards. Bartley intercepted Davis' long forward pass making a forty yard gain before being downed. Kimble failed to gain. Shaw and Bartley gained little on the next two plays and DeLong came into the line light once more kicking another field goal from Wellsburg's twenty seven yard line. Chester led in the first half, 12 to 0.

Wellsburg kicked off at the start of the second half. Kimble gained two yards around left end and made another six yards on a repeating the play. Shaw hit the line for a first down. Chester made very little on the next thre plays and Bartley punted. Wellsburg did nothing and Davis punted to Kimble who gained five yards on the punt.

Chester carried the ball to the visitors' thirty-yard line, and Kimble on a criss cross circled right end for thirty yards and a touchdown. De Long missed a drop kick for the extra point.

Chester scored two more touchdowns in the last quarter, Bartley making both of them. The first followed a series of line plunges, end runs, and forward passes. Bartley made his second touchdown when Wellsburg blocked his punt. He recovering the ball and ran fifty yards for a touchdown. De Long drop-kicked for the extra point after both touchdowns. With the game already won, Coach Wilde sent his reserves in and the visitors began to play better football taking the ball up to Chester's thirty-five yard line where the game ended.

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

A whole lot of woe can slip into a golfer's game because of simple things that the player knows about but with which he gets careless. One of these is the easy habit of letting the left arm get too far out from the body in the early part of the back swing. With many players, too, this is more a fixed habit than it is an occasional habit of carelessness. A practice of launching the back swing with a twist of the whole body toward the right easily leads to the practice of swinging the left arm out from the body—the two sort of go together. However, the player can start with a body turn and still keep his left arm in. The left arm should pass across almost directly in front of the body as the club is swept back and should very nearly touch the body. The elbow points downward all the way—not out.

KLINCK ELEVEN IS DEFEATED BY SALEM, 29-0

Passes From Spread Formation Brings Three Touchdowns.

WELLSVILLE high school's doughty Orange and Black eleven, coming along at a quickened stride after two seasons of monotonous defeats, outplayed Salem high school Saturday afternoon at Hammond park, Wellsville, during the greater part of a great game, in straight football tactics, smashed through the Quakers' line repeatedly, threw them back when they had the ball, equalled their achievements in the matter of punts and managed to lose by the decisive score of 29 to 0 because they were incapable of developing a defense for one certain formation the visitors used to make all their touchdowns save one.

A spread eagle formation, from which a pass, punt, line plunge or end run could be executed, was directly or indirectly responsible for every occasion that brought a Salem score with the exception of one when an intercepted pass and a short run permitted the visitors to add on six more counters.

The formation itself is old, very old. Two men, on each end of the line, go out 30 or 40 feet, leaving three linemen and three backs. The Wellsville line remained in position and the visitors had their ends to sweep up the field along the sides and their backs to filter through directly ahead of the ball. Line plunges failing, Quarterback Sidinger of Salem, used the aerial route to bring points.

The matter of first downs attests to the fact that Klinck's eleven was not ridden over in a roughshod manner, as the score might indicate. Salem moved the sticks 10 times, Wellsville eight.

It was Sidinger's toe that gave the visitors a margin of only three points at the end of the first half after a hectic battle, featured by the heroic stand of the Orange and Black less than three feet from their own goal line in the first three minutes of play.

Hepp engineered the kickoff at the outset of the game and the visitors uncorked a whirlwind attack that had the Orange and Black reeling, groggy and read to take the count in the first three minutes.

The Salem runner was stopped on the Salem 35. On the first play of the game, Sidinger shot out a forward pass that was good for 40 yards. The suddenness and the success with which the play was engineered so unsettled the Wellsville eleven that three more plays, chiefly through the line, placed the ball within three feet of the Wellsville goal. Snapping out of their daze, the Orange and Black stiffened and repulsed four straight line smashes and subsequently punted out of danger.

From then on, the Klinckmen battled their adversaries to a standstill. As the half was drawing to a chose, the visitors brought out their principal weapon. It was 50 per cent good on the first two tries and with only a few seconds to go, Sidinger, from his 8 yard line, booted the ball for three points.

At the outset of the third quarter, Salem threw its passes and worked its spread. Before the quarter was over three touchdowns had gone over and in the final period another was added.

The work of Quarterback Provost of the Wellsville backfield was nothing short of brilliant. Calhoun contributed another good exhibition and the performance of the entire Wellsville line was outstanding.

Victories of Brown, Harvard, Are Week's Biggest Surprises

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. — Football's weekly flip-flop Saturday left some 16 or 17 teams undefeated for the season and the experts without a leg to stand on, as always. The number of unbeaten teams is a bit unusual for this stage of the proceedings but the fact that expert opinion is again legless seems to be without significance of any kind.

Divided we stand, united we fall, seems to be the watch word of the boys who try to call them as they see them. They said Yale would beat Brown in a gallop. Yale didn't. They rallied around the idea that Dartmouth was due for a come back against a disorganized Harvard team. They were wrong on both counts. Harvard wasn't disorganized and Dartmouth didn't come back.

They were convinced that Alabama would romp over Sewanee, that Kansas Aggies would win handily from Oklahoma and that Princeton was in a mere workout with Lehigh. None of these things happened. Alabama won by the margin of a safety, the Aggies by three points and Princeton by one point.

The Navy was another team that was largely favored by the form players. Yet Colgate was leading in the final minute, was on the one-yard line with another score imminent and everything seemed to be in the bag when a navy substitute picked up a loose ball and ran 99 yards to victory.

Holy Cross' scant victory over Western Maryland, the 2 to 0 victory of Auburn over Tulane, Washington State's decision over Washington, and Kentucky's fine effort in beating Florida were among the milder surprises.

According to Hoyle.

However, this is no indictment of expert opinion. The form players, in fact, scored when Pennsylvania beat Williams by 36 points; when Michigan defeated Illinois, Notre Dame came through against Northwestern, W. & J. beat Fordham, New York University stepped right away from Rutgers and Missouri beat Iowa State.

The Army's easy victory over Boston university was another "natural." So was Standford's 29 to 12 verdict over Oregon and Southern California's victory over California. The defeats of Washington and California on the same day merely served to illustrate how the old order changeth. According to all the available data, Stanford, U. S. C. and St. Mary's are the class of the coast coterie this season.

Ohio State's impressive performance against Iowa likewise surprised no one nor did Nebraska's defeat of Kansas. Some of the boys seemed a bit shocked that Syracuse, minus some of its first line stars, was able to beat Penn but I didn't see it that way. It doesn't appear to be much of a trick to beat Penn State.

TILDEN GOING OUT AFTER TITLE

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. — That William T. Tilden, 2nd, will conduct a determined campaign next season to regain his tennis laurels is indicated by the ex-champion's determination to play abroad in 1927 at Wimbledon at St. Cloud, announcement of which is contained in the current issue of American Lawn Tennis. Tilden, provided his injured knee recovers, will be a contestant in the all-comers' singles at Wimbledon and the French hard court championships at St. Cloud, the article declared.

WAYNE BIG MUNN PLANS COME BACK

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The second of the mammoth Munn brothers will try to show New York what it is all about tonight. Wayne Munn, former heavyweight champion wrestler, will begin an attempted return trip to the title by meeting Howard Cantowine in one of the feature matches at the Seventy-first Regiment Armory. Wayne's brother, Monte, won over Carl Carter in a heavyweight boxing bout last Friday, when Carter was disqualified in the seventh round for holding.

Vanderbilt's 14 to 13 victory over Georgia occasioned little comment because they were a toss up, anyhow, and the same might be said for Georgia Tech's defeat of Washington and Lee. In line with general expectations also was Boston college's unanimous victory over St. Louis University, West Virginia's defeat of West Virginia Wesleyan, and that of Grinnell over Washington U., Wisconsin over Indiana, Minnesota over Wabash and Drake over Mississippi.

Purdue No Surprise.

Purdue's defeat of Chicago was not entirely unexpected, either, nor can one view with alarm the fact that Carnegie Tech beat its old rival, Pittsburgh. These were games that could have been called either way.

The experts, in fact, had their moments. They weren't able to foresee Brown's victory, although the Bear has had a distressing habit of beating Yale—distressing to New Haven, that is. They couldn't imagine Harvard beating Dartmouth; yet it was no secret that the Crimson was coming fast. As for those close-score things, they can be thrown out. If your team wins at all nowadays, it is considered bad taste to ask how it did it.

Some of the undefeated survivors of the day were Michigan, Pennsylvania, Southern California, Stanford, Alabama, Army, Cornell, Navy, Lafayette, Missouri, Notre Dame, New York University, Ohio State, W. & J., West Virginia, Holy Cross and Brown.

Sports Done -Brown-

By Norman E. Brown.

THIS apparently is a hard year on football stars.

With the season just well under way several of the outstanding stars of the game have suffered serious injuries.

Boland, Notre Dame star, was the first. He suffered injuries in the Minnesota game which have kept him out ever since and probably will prevent him from playing the rest of the season.

Syracuse suffered a double blow in its recent game with the Army. In addition to having what it hoped to be a great season marred by a defeat at the hands of the Mule the Syracuse team lost "Whippet" Carr, backfield star and "last resort" man of the team. Carr, Syracuse adherents claim, was "clipped" from behind and the ligaments in his leg torn so seriously that he will not be available for weeks.

Army back not only deny that the injury to Carr was intentional but refer to alleged "unnecessary" roughness by Syracuse players. Be that as it may Syracuse is without the services of Carr—a tough blow.

Yale has lost Caldwell for a time at least. This is a serious setback to the Blue's hopes. Caldwell is probably the most consistent ground gainer the New Haven team boasts.

Other colleges have suffered injuries of more or less seriousness to their best men.

Anent the matter of unnecessary roughness it is reported from several points that an element of rowdyism has crept into several games of more or less importance. The Purdue-Wabash game is one listed among "those things."

And another condition has bobbed up, which if not checked immediately is liable to hurt the game.

U. S. Military Academy athletic officials are said to be somewhat peeved over Notre Dame's announced plan to play the Army and the Navy next fall.

This little peeve, in itself, is not important, but it raises the question as to how much longer the desire for intersectional games among colleges can continue before more strained relations of a similar type develop.

Supposing some other Big Ten team coaxed Tulane into a game? What would be the feeling at Northwestern, which has come to count on the visit of the southerners as one of the high spots of the season?

What if Chicago were to switch its eastern appearance to some other campus after several annual clashes with Pennsylvania?

It can readily be seen that there is a pitfall lurking in the inter-sectional craze that must be watched carefully.

Paul Berlenbach, the man who startled the light heavyweight ranks a couple of years ago with his powerful hitting, is ready to step into the heavyweight class and go after big game there. This is the announcement as Paul the Assassin returns east from California.

Paul decided several months ago that bigger money awaited him in the top class. This before the Tunney-Dempsey fight became a settled affair. He had hopes then of getting a bout with Tunney or even with Dempsey if only as a "set-up" for either one. Then, when Tunney startled most of us (and I can hear some readers chuckle) by licking Dempsey, Berlenbach decided that he might have a chance at the crown itself.

While out on the coast acquiring weight Berlenbach saw Johnny Risko and several other of the much talked of heavies, in action and decided he could take some of them into camp.

Now he's ready. He wants to meet Knute Hansen, Monte Munn, Harry Persson or any of the other young men who have ambitions and a willingness to swap punches. And he'll probably get his wish. He always has been popular in the east. His bouts with Jimmy Delaney and others drew big crowds and sweet purses.

Big 10 Standing

Team.	W.	L.	T.	T.P.	Op.
Michigan	2	0	0	130	6
Ohio State	1	0	0	142	27
Northwestern	1	0	0	87	9
Purdue	1	0	1	40	3
Wisconsin	1	0	1	78	0
Illinois	1	1	0	78	2
Minnesota	0	1	0	125	47
Chicago	0	1	0	33	39
Indiana	0	2	0	45	60
Iowa	0	2	7	76	42

HEAVY TOURNEY TO BE CONTINUED

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Heavyweight elimination contests, extremely popular since the Dempsey-Tunney bout, will enjoy another whirl or two at Madison Square Garden during the next six weeks. In one of these, Harry Persson, of Sweden, will meet Bud Gorman, Wisconsin heavyweight, on November 1. In another, Jimmy Maloney, co-contender from Boston with Jack Sharkey, will face Franz Diener, the German champion, on December 2.

Monte Munn, Nebraska contender, will be on the Maloney-Diener card but his opponent has not been selected yet.

PLAN CAMPAIGN AGAINST A. A. U.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. — Another challenge to the supremacy of the A. A. U. was seen today in the wording of the call for the annual meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic association, in which is pointed out "the aggressive campaign to be started with the avowed purpose of strengthening the A. A. U.'s hold on sports.

The call for the meeting was issued by Brigadier General Palmer E. Pierce, president of the association, who for years has waged a campaign against A. A. U. domination of amateur track sports. The meeting will be held at the Hotel Astor on Dec. 29 and 30.

BLACK WINTER IS FEARED BY GREAT BRITAIN

REVENUES HIT

Prices Everywhere are Boosted; Heavy Taxes Loom.

LONDON.—The prospect of a very black winter for Britain is disturbing all social observers.

No better criterion of the present state of affairs can be found by the official figures of the country's revenue for the financial half year ending September 30. These show that revenue was $108,000,000 less than for the corresponding figures of last year, while expenditure was over $20,000,000 higher. One most important item of revenue—income tax—showed a decrease of $78,000,000.

These figures are the results of catastrophes which even yet have not nearly made their full effect felt. The general strike, followed by the long-drawn out miners' strike, have everywhere brought damage to trade and commerce. Works have been closed, new manufacturers have been postponed, credit has been generally restricted by the banks, luxury trades have been almost suspended, and except in London, theatres, cinemas and amusements generally have been hit almost beyond repair.

Miners' Strike.

The miners' strike by itself has been the result of a number of mines being closed down because it will be economically profitable to re-open them. Others, because of safety men being withdrawn, have been permanently damaged or flooded.

Many more will find their capital insufficient to re-strict working. Apart from this, valuable markets, hitherto the exclusive stronghold of Britain have been captured by the United States, Germany and Poland.

As for the miners themselves, their lot is a pitiable one. Few have had sufficient in the shape of strike allowances to maintain their homes. In most districts, relief for wives and children was cut off immediately by the municipality after the first few weeks. The result has been that in endless cases the miners homes have been sold up or else hopelessly mortgaged.

Indirect Effects.

Indirect effects have been almost equally serious. Trades dependent on coal fuel have been up to a point only slightly less than the mining industry itself. Many works have tried to keep going on German coal but have found it unsatisfactory for their needs. The result has been again the loss of valuable contracts.

As regards the town dwellers who know little of the miner and his conditions, consequences have been almost equally severe. Prices have everywhere risen against him. He is threatened with new heavy taxation, and municipal assessments are increasing rapidly. Added to that it is impossible for the working and lower-middle classes in Britain to pay $18 to $20 per ton for ordinary household coal—almost the only means of interior heating in the country.

Plans Being Worked Out New Subway In British Capital

LONDON.—The $160,000,000 Anglo-American project to construct a vast network of underground railroads for London goods traffic is understood to be making steady progress.

"We are now at work on the plans and details," said C. Carkett-James, chief engineer of the scheme, to International News Service. "The preparation of the scheme is a gigantic task, and we do not yet know when work on the undertaking will start. The plan will undoubtedly mature, however."

It is proposed to build sixty-nine miles of electric railroad track, equipped with gigantic elevators for raising trucks to the surface.

ALWAYS DEAD TIRED?

How sad! Sallow complexion, coated tongue, poor appetite, bad breath, pimply skin and always tired. What's wrong? You are poisoned. The bowels are clogged and liver inactive. Take this famous prescription used constantly in place of calomel by men and women for 20 years—Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They are harmless yet very effective. A compound of vegetable ingredients and olive oil. They act easily upon the bowels, free the system of poison caused by faulty elimination and tone up liver.

Be beautiful. Have rosy cheeks, clear eyes and youthful energy that make a success of life. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, nightly. Know them by their olive color. 15c., 30c. and 60c.

German Republicans Claim Radio is Used For Political Purposes

BERLIN.—Political radio censorship has been introduced by the Minister of the Interior of the Reich, following many complaints by Republicans that the radio was abused for political propaganda against, or, at least, not in favor, of the Republic. A committee of three men has been appointed by the Minister, consisting of two Socialists and one Centrist, whose party is a loyal supporter of the Republican Constitution. This new measure roused considerable comment and resentment among the Nationalists.
